SORROW RIDES WITH PARTY ON FUNERAL TRAIN

GRAY METAL CASKET SEALED LAST TIME

Widow, Two Brothers and Two Friends Are Alone in Private Car.

Aboard Longworth Funeral Train, en route to Cincinnati, April 10 (A. P.).—The monotonous clicking of wheels on steel rails and the roar of the locomotive broke the stillness of night as the body of Nicholas Longworth was being borne tonight back to his Cincinnati home. The 61-year-old Speaker of the House of Representatives died at Aiken, S. C., yesterday of pneumonia.

This train, chartered by the Government, left Aiken at midday, and is due to reach its destination in Ohio at 7 o'clock (Eastern standard time) tomorrow morning.

The train reached Knoxville a few minutes ahead of schedule and a large crowd braved the rain to meet it. It departed at 9:15 p. m.

Upon arrival in Cincinnati, Speaker Longworth's body will be taken immediately to Rockwood, his home. Later it will be removed to Christ Episcopal Church, where at 2 o'clock the Bishop of Cincinnati will conduct the funeral services.

President Will Pay Tribute.

President Hoover and others of the Nation's leaders will be among those to pay a last tribute to the popular Republican representative, who for the last six years presided over the House of Representatives.

As the funeral train passed through small towns in South Carolina, groups of solemn-faced citizens stood in silent respect this afternoon. At Edgefield a wreath was tossed aboard the train by a member of the American Legion post, to be placed with a huge bank of floral tributes that already took up practically all the space available.

At Columbia, the State capital, two huge boxes of flowers were added. One was from the State of South Carolina and the other from Gov. Ibra C. Blackwood. The latter sent a message expressing his sorrow by his secretary, Charles H. Gerald.

Children Send Message to Paulina

A large crowd was gathered at the station in Union, S. C., where the train slowed down almost to a stop. Here more flowers were received, sent by patriotic organizations of the city, and a message was given Mrs. Longworth, to be delivered to her 6-year-old daughter, Paulina. It read:

"Three thousand school children of Union, by rising vote, today expressed their sincere sympathy for you in your sorrow in losing your 'pal.'" T. C. Jolly, jr., superintendent of the city schools, signed it.

Paulina, who was in Cincinnati when her father died, will not see him in death. The gray metal casket was sealed today, not to be opened again.

Calvin Coolidge Says:

On April 13 there will assemble in New York City an international conference for the blind. Over 100 delegates, many of whom are blind, will represent about 35 countries. The conference was called by President Hoover at the instance of the American Foundation for the Blind. There are about 5,000,000 blind in the world, of which about 114,000 are in the United States.

This movement, now so well organized and embracing almost all the world, is partly humanitarian and partly educational. It has transformed the blind person from ignorance, incapacity and misery into a productive unit of society. Those to whom the world would be forever closed are reclaimed. An almost barren existence becomes economically and intellectually fruitful. Closely allied are the highly successful efforts in the prevention of blindness. Scores of special schools now exist for educating these afflicted people and through the system of Braille printing, on which the Federal Government now expends $100,000 annually, more and more literature is available to them. All the problems are not solved, but human brotherhood is making remarkable progress in this field of relief, where concrete results are so certain and immediate.

GUEST IN U. S.

JAPANESE ROYALTY CHEERED AND JEERED

New York, April 10 (A.P.).—Prince and Princess Takamatsu of Japan were welcomed to America today with all the noise that could be mustered in New York Bay; with all the stock ticker tape and confetti available in lower Manhattan's canyons; with one untoward incident—an incipient hostile demonstration by Communists.

Arriving on the Aquitania, several hours delayed, they were transferred at quarantine to the S. S. Macon, the city's greeting tug, then taken to the Battery, transferred to autos and speeded to the Plaza Hotel in midtown through streets lined with crowds.

Whistles in the bay tooted, cannons boomed, fog horns groaned, fireboats spurted, bands played. A group of Communists rushed the royal motorcar. The demonstration was quickly squelched. A policeman struck one of the group on the jaw when one Communist, bolder than the rest, attempted to force his way to the visitors. He was felled by the policeman's fist.

Others pressed on shouting "Down with the Japanese murderers!" and "Down with the Japanese hangman!"

As the Communists pushed and crowded toward the automobile in which the official visitors were riding mounted police and others on foot threw in a solid line to hurl them back.

The disturbers were too weak numerically to get any further with their plans and were dispersed, some of them with bruises.

As the prince and princess stepped into an open area that had been cleared in front of the pier a delegation of 40 Japanese greeted them and Mme. R. Arai handed to the princess a bouquet of lilies of the valley. The delegation was headed by T. Kusanobu, president, and K. Abiko, executive secretary, of the Japanese association.

On the Macom officially to welcome their highnesses were Hawley Hornbeck, of the State Department, representing President Hoover; Col. George M. Burleigh, representing Gov. Roosevelt; Henry W. Taft and Commissioner Phil D. Hoyt, representing Mayor Walker.

Also aboard were the Japanese Ambassador to the United States, K. Debuchi, and Mme. Debuchi; Maj. Gen. Hanson E. Ely, Rear Admiral W. W. Phelps and the Japanese Consul General in New York, K. Norinouchi.

The Macom tied up to the Aquitania and the prince retired to the smoking room to grant the first newspaper interview of his life. He said he had enjoyed the ocean trip.

The princess wore a printed silk dress of very pale blue, a Peter Pan collar, and hat of crocheted straw. She wore a necklace of Japanese pearls and carried a snakeskin bag. Comment on her beauty swept over the crowded tug with spontaneous unanimity.

Commander Takeo Yomagati, master of ceremonies in his highness' household, said the royal visitors expect just to "see Americans." They do not dance. They will "never" visit night clubs.

The princess—no one thought to announce her own name—plays the piano. She looks forward to seeing

CAPITAL POLICE DROP HUNT FOR 2 BANK BANDITS

FIND NO CONNECTION WITH HOLDUPS HERE

Widow Breaks Down as She Views Slain Gunman; Woman Is Sought.

The search for the two remaining bandits who attempted to hold up the First National Bank of Southern Maryland at Upper Marlboro Thursday and left their leader dead after a stiff gun battle rested solely last night with Prince Georges County authorities after a two-hour conference between Inspector William S. Shelby, Acting Capt. Edward Kelly and Sheriff W. C. Hopkins and Chief Deputy Sheriff Tom Garrison, of Prince Georges County.

Both District and Prince Georges County authorities admitted that this action was taken after it was more or less definitely established that the three men who attempted to hold up the bank could have had no connection with any of the recent hold-ups in Washington, including the Garden T Shoppe robbery or the Peoples Drug Store hold-up, in which $6,500 was taken.

Responsibility Is Maryland's,

Inspector Shelby said last night that the case was purely Maryland's and that outside of running down clews which may have a Washington angle the District police would take no further part in the case. He said that all of the information they had worked up was turned over to Sheriff Hopkins and Mr. Garrison and that any further information would have to come from them.

Both District and Maryland authorities, however, admitted that some information which would aid in the search for the two bandits had been worked up yesterday.

Mrs. Mary Ann Hayes, 30 years old, widow of Joseph Hayes, alias Tracy H. Cartwright, the gunman who was slain by Assistant Cashier Claude H. Owens, in the gun fight at the bank, was allowed to view the body of her husband at Ritchie, Md., yesterday.

Widow Breaks Down,

She broke down and sobbed when she realized that the man was really dead. She had doubted the word previously given her by detectives that her husband had been killed.

Mrs. Hayes had been taken to Ritchie by Acting Capt. Kelly yesterday afternoon from the Detention Home, where she is being held with her 21-month-old baby. Under questioning she had denied knowledge of her husband's gang connections.

"Joe, why did you lie to me! Why have you fooled me!" she sobbed as she threw her arms about the dead man's form.

Acting Capt. Kelly said that the woman had been unable to name the companions of her husband Thursday afternoon. The woman will be held for a day or two, however, he said. Maryland authorities have not yet indicated whether or not they will want her held longer in the case.

Stolen Tags Explained.

Tal H. Clark, of Toledo, owner of the Ohio tags found on the bandits' abandoned car, explained to police yesterday how the markers left his possession. He said they were stolen from his automobile between last Sunday and last Tuesday. He was in Marlboro on Sunday, he said, being there long enough to have dinner. They may have been taken at that time, he thinks.

Clark, whose Washington address is given as 2101 New Hampshire avenue northwest, is in Washington for a month as manager of the radio station WJSV.

A coroner's jury meeting in Marlboro yesterday called the shooting of the bank bandit "justifiable homicide" and absolved Claude H. Owens, assistant cashier, from any blame in connection with the man's death.

KIDNAPED BREWER'S WIFE SPURNS POLICE

Mrs. Blumer and Daughter Sure That Gangsters Hold Near-Beer Man.

Monroe, Wis., April 10 (U.P.).—The wife and daughter of a wealthy brewer, who has been kidnaped and held for $150,000 ransom, spurned police aid tonight in the belief that he was the captive of Chicago underworld extortionists. While the hunt for Fred J. Blumer spread over two States, Mrs. Blumer begged police to cease their search.

"There is no use fighting them," she sobbed. "I am ready to deal with them, but I don't see how I can ever raise $150,000."

"We don't want the police in on this," said Blumer's pretty 19-year-old daughter, Marian, "because they will not do us any good."

Two decoy telephone calls from purported executives of a drug store chain interested in purchasing near beer from Blumer caused him to leave his home yesterday.

Another phone call last night to A. E. Wells, secretary-treasurer of the brewing company, demanded 150 "grand."

"We won't hurt Blumer," said the voice, "but you won't see him for a day or two. Send us 150 grand and you can have him back. You'll find Blumer's automobile in Freeport. The key's on the floor."

The automobile was found in Freeport, Ill., as promised, but it afforded no clews.

Sheriff Myron West, of Rockford, Ill., where the telephone calls originated, said he believed the kidnaping was the work of amateurs, operators of wild-cat breweries in northern Illinois.

Mrs. Blumer and Wells insisted, however, that Blumer was abducted

The time is 9 o'clock this morning. The place is the Franklin School Building, Thirteenth and K streets northwest.

Representatives of all the senior and junior high schools of Washington, one boy and one girl for each school, will meet at Franklin School Building this morning for the preliminary test for the selection of "Envoys of Friendship" on the goodwill trip to Europe contest being sponsored by the United States Flag Association with the cooperation of The Washington Post. Between 60 and 70 girls and boys had been registered for the test at noon yesterday and this number may be increased by time for the opening of the test this morning.

The boys and girls who will take the preliminary test today are the preliminary winners in a contest that has engrossed the attention of thousands of high school students for the last three weeks, since the contest was first announced in The Washington Post. They were selected, one boy and one girl for each

AZORES CLOSED BY LISBON; ALL ON SHIP SEIZED

GOVERNMENT ADMITS SPREAD OF UPRISING

Two Island Groups Are Laid Under Firm Blockade; Attack Pends.

Lisbon, Portugal, April 10 (A.P.).—A story of having been held prisoner by rebels at Funchal, Madeira, for three days was brought here tonight by the 177 passengers on the steamer Carvalho Araujo, which arrived from the Azores and Madeira.

Capt. Pinto told the Associated Press one of the passengers was an American. He and two Frenchmen and several Englishmen filed protests with their consulates against what they considered illegal detention.

The "imprisonment" was a "formality," Capt. Pinto said, and involved only delay to those who wanted to continue their voyage.

The rebel officers boarded the steamer as soon as she reached Funchal, he said, and told him he and his passengers must consider themselves prisoners.

Vessel's Cargo Seized.

They searched the vessel thoroughly and seized the cargo, consisting of 80 bullocks and several hundred bags of foodstuffs. Later they gave him a receipt and said, "Go get your money from the Lisbon treasury."

Thirty lieutenants and sergeants returning as passengers to Lisbon from the Azores after being pardoned by President Carmona for complicity in the last conspiracy joined the rebels. Col. Noronha, commanding officer of the Fayal garrison, hid in the ship's hold for three days undetected.

On landing here Col. Noronha reported to the minister of war he saw trenches being dug around the island. A number of small guns and several 8.50-centimeter guns placed on the hillside, in addition to existing land batteries, make the island almost impregnable, he said. The situation was quiet.

Ships Soon to Attack.

Advices from Porto, one of the Madeira group, said the transport Pedro Gomez arrived today carrying troops to combat the rebels. She will be joined by other transports and warships and the expedition will then sail for Madeira, 40 miles away.

A shipping company here wirelessed to the steamer Lima, bound for the Azores, to return to Lisbon, saying it had information both Sao Miguel and Ponta Delgada were in the hands of rebel forces.

The first official admission that the revolt had spread to the Azores, as reported yesterday, was contained in a government decree today establishing blockades of the Island of San Miguel, of which the chief town is Punta Delgada, and the Island of Terceira, the capital of which is Angra do Heroismo. No details were given of events which have taken place in these localities.

Nine Officers Dismissed.

Another decree, signed by President Carmona and the ministers of war and of marine, dismissed nine officers from service on the ground that they were members of the rebel committee at Funchal, Madeira. The officers were Gen. Sousa Dias, Lieut. Col. Augusto Pereira, Capt. Carlos Jesus Viena, Lieut. Manuel Camoens, Naval Lieut. Sebastiao da Costa, Maj. Antonio Fernandez Barrao, Naval Capt. Joao Manuel Cavalho, Capt. Lobo Sarazao Sardinha and Lieut. Lobo Pimentel.

In Lisbon, which last night resembled an armored camp with guns mounted at strategic points and troops stationed throughout the city, public excitement has subsided somewhat and the city was resuming a normal aspect.

Gen. Garinha Beirao, commander of the national guard, has assumed full responsibility for maintaining order and President Carmona has left his temporary headquarters in the Third Artillery regiment barracks, returning to his official residence.

FACES REVOLT

PRESIDENT CARMONA.

SUPPORTERS RALLY TO JOHNSON'S AID

Mass Meeting Lauds Service of Howard's President; Will Fight Ouster.

That any attempt to oust Dr. Mordecai W. Johnson from the presidency of Howard University, whether by the self-perpetuating board of trustees of that institution at its meeting next Tuesday, or by other agencies, will be strenuously contested was indicated last night by developments of political and religious nature which foreshadowed a far-reaching and bitter conflict.

The sympathy of 3,000,000 colored Baptists is claimed for Dr. Johnson, formerly a Baptist preacher in West Virginia. This was indicated by a mass meeting held last night at the Florida Avenue Baptist Church, where ministers and public-spirited citizens declared that the attack upon Dr. Johnson by Representative Will R. Wood was an attempt to throttle free speech.

It was further declared at this meeting that "Representative Wood comes from Indiana, a reputed Ku Klux State, and the attack smacks of Ku Kluxism." Bishop E. D. W. Jones, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, who made this statement, also said that "the attempt to oust Dr. Johnson is an insult and a challenge to the 12,000,000 Negroes of the country."

A committee on resolutions was appointed and also a committee on publicity named to arrange a mass meeting for Monday night at 8 o'clock at the Metropolitan Baptist Church, where "the Howard University situation will be aired." It was learned also that Representative Oscar DePriest, who has staged a $15,000 drive for the National Training School for Women and Girls at Lincoln Heights, the leading Negro Baptist school in this country, will hold a mass meeting Sunday afternoon at the Washington Auditorium, where a further airing will be given to the Howard situation not unfavorable to the present administration.

Representative DePriest, who left Chicago by automobile yesterday, will arrive here today to complete arrangements for the meeting. Judge William C. Hueston, assistant solicitor of the Postoffice Department, and his close political associate, who hails at present from Representative

Thugs Saw Floor And Take $14,800

New Orleans, April 10 (A.P.).—Robbers stole $14,800 from the safe of the Arabi Club tonight while 1,000 persons were trying their luck in the gaming roms at roulette and dice and the guards armed with machine guns stood at peepholes to thwart hold-up men.

The thieves sawed a hole in the floor of the club beneath a locker opening into the office. The cashier said he left the office for a few minutes and the thieves entered through the hole, took the money from a safe and escaped the way they came.

A dozen guards were diligently watching all entrances and the crowd in the gaming rooms when the thieves stole off with their loot.

GUN IDENTIFIED IN THORNE CASE PROVIDES CLEW

WEAPON IS TRACED TO POLICE OFFICES

A .32-caliber gun, which has been in the property room at police headquarters for two months, has been identified as the weapon which killed Private Emanuel Thorne, of the Marine Corps, whose beaten and bullet-rent body was found Saturday in a shallow grave in Greater Capitol Heights, Md.

The alleged owner of the pistol is a prisoner at Lorton Reformatory, and will be brought to the District Jail today to face questioning in connection with the slaying.

The convict, who is serving a five-year sentence for robbery and assault on a Capital visitor, was arrested soon after Thorne failed to return from a twelve-hour leave from the Marine Barracks, on January 17. A .32-caliber Harrington & Richardson revolver was traced to his possession early in February.

Prisoner Serving Five-Year Term.

On March 19, the prisoner, who is a former Marine, was tried and convicted on a robbery charge and was sentenced in February to serve five years in the Lorton Reformatory.

The bullets taken from Thorne's body were examined by Lieut. John J. Fowler, ballistics expert of the Police Department, and he concluded that they had been fired from a Harrington & Richardson revolver.

It was recalled by members of the homicide squad that a prisoner arrested soon after Thorne's disappearance had owned such a gun. The gun was taken from the property room and sent to Fowler, who reported to Inspector Shelby that he believed the gun fired the fatal bullets.

Prisoner to Be Questioned.

District authorities yesterday requested Capt. M. M. Barnard, head of the Lorton Reformatory, to bring the prisoner to the District Jail today for interrogation, during which they hope to confirm their belief that Thorne and the prisoner were acquainted.

Inspector Shelby last night turned over all the information they had developed in the case to Sheriff W. C. Hopkins and Deputy Sheriff Thomas Garrison, of Prince Georges County.

After questioning the man today the Maryland authorities will seek to have the convict come to Prince Georges County, and if he refuses, extradition proceedings will be instituted to compel his return.

2 Former Marines Called.

Clarence P. Hulse, 24 years old, of Baltimore, Md., and Samuel A. Johnson, 23 years old, of G street near Sixth street southeast, both former marines, who were known by Throne, and are now serving ten-year terms at Lorton Reformatory, were brought to the District Jail early this week.

They gave some of the information which helped to throw suspicion on the third convict, according to police. Hulse and Johnson are serving time for holding up Lord Baltimore gas stations last summer.

Early this week Detective Sergt. James Collins, of the homicide squad, investigated a lead which indicated that Thorne had been in fear of bodily harm because of the information he possessed against a holdup man. This, police believe, may be the motive for the slaying.

The inquest into the murder of the Marine will be held Monday night in the firehouse at Greater Capitol Heights.

The body of the Marine was found in the fields near the Marlboro pike

Opera Is Interrupted By Trumpeter's Illness

New York, April 10 (A.P.).—The performance of "Siegfried" at the Metropolitan Opera House was briefly interrupted tonight when Max Voight, 54 years old, a trumpeter in the orchestra, was stricken with a cerebral hemorrhage and fell from his chair.

The score was halted as fellow musicians carried him backstage. He was taken to Bellevue Hospital, where his condition was described as critical.

Women Fail to Draw Hoover Out on Liquor

Only a "fool" would run for the presidency as a wet, Mrs. Henry W. Peabody, chairman of the Women's National Committee for Law Enforcement, declared in an interview at the White House yesterday.

Mrs. Peabody, who moved from Massachusetts to Florida because the former State was too wet for her, was one of a score of women who called on President Hoover yesterday to thank him for his "loyal stand for the eighteenth amendment."

Mrs. Peabody explained that the Women's National Committee for Law Enforcement was an affiliation of national organizations, the membership of which aggregates 12,000,000 women.

"If President Hoover runs again for the presidency," Mrs. Peabody said, "he must do so as a dry. Any man would be a fool to run for that office except as a dry, considering the fact that the women of the country, who compose one-half of the electorate, are dry."

Concerning President Hoover, Mrs. Peabody said that the women were "for him down to the last mother."

Her statement that the women of the country are dry recalled the speech that Representative Mary Norton (Democrat), of New Jersey, delivered here at the recent meeting of the Democratic national committee.

tor Joseph T. Robinson, of Arkansas, Mrs. Norton said that it would be the women of the country who in the end would bring about the repeal of prohibition. More even than the men, she said, the women realized the evils that had grown out of the law.

Among the women who called on President Hoover yesterday, in addition to Mrs. Peabody, were Mrs. John F. Sippel, of the General Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. Howard Wayne Smith, president of the Federation of Women's Foreign Mission Boards; Mrs. Ella Boole, president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union; Mrs. Morris Leibert, president of the Order of King's Daughters.

Amos 'n' Andy Club Backs Post's Bridge Tournament

Double Foursome, Members Playing Under Names of Famous Radio Team's Characters, to Enter Contest Set for May 14 to 16.

"Here they are!"

That's the Amos and Andy Club entering the first annual bridge tournament of Washington players. The club is a double foursome, with each of its eight players named in their little community circle after the leading characters of the famous radio team.

"It was just because the names seem to be appropriate and befitting to all of us," laughingly explained Mrs. Daniel Carpenter, of 6313 Eastern avenue, Takoma Park, Md., yesterday in commenting upon their entry to win one of the trophies offered by The Washington Post in the popular event. The club is composed of residents of Takoma Park and meets on stated evenings at the homes of its members in that picturesque Washington suburb.

Mr. Carpenter is known as "Amos Jones" and, as is natural to assume, is a careful and conservative player. Mrs. Carpenter, of course, is "Ruby Taylor." Walter M. Weston is "Andy Brown," and they do say that his game is more boastful and lacks the element of caution that characterizes the play of his famous teammate. Mrs Weston is "Mme. Queen." Stanley Hart is known as "King Fish," while Mrs. Hart plays under the name of "Battle Axe," an appellation that belies her, although she accepts it cheerfully. Mrs. B. W. Martin is

Washington Leads Cities In Native-Born Citizens

Capital Tops List of 17 Largest Centers in Nation With Lead of 54 Per Cent of Pure Home People; Local Business Emphasized.

The popular and commonly entertained supposition that Washington is a city of few native-born inhabitants has been thoroughly discredited, according to statistical data compiled by the Bureau of the Census recently.

Not only has this been proved, but it can additionally be stated that Washington has the highest percentage of native-born residents of any of the seventeen largest cities in this country, leading with list of cities with a 54 per cent of the total population pure Washingtonians.

It was also shown, in this comparison with other cities, that Washington's main income is not from the Federal employes. It was found that 70 per cent of the city's employment opportunities lie in the local business institutions, with only 30 per cent of the working population being employed by the Government.

The actual figures compiled by the Census Bureau from the 1920 census, because the 1930 census for the cities used in the comparison is not yet available, shows that New York is lowest, with 20 per cent native born, and that of the 17 cities used, Washington's percentage of 54 is far ahead of many others. The average of native born in each city was 33 per cent.

The figures for Washington in the 1930 survey show only a fraction of a point decrease, while the probabilities are that the decrease in the other cities will be still larger.

Radio Today to Carry Lloyd George's Speech

New York, April 10 (A.P.).—David Lloyd George is to be heard in America via radio from London tomorrow. Together with other speakers, the words of the former prime minister of Great Britain will be picked up by a microphone at a dinner in his honor by the British section of the Jewish Agency for Palestine and brought to the United States for rebroadcasting over an extensive network of WEAF-N. B. C. stations.

The program will last from 4:30 to 8:20 p. m. Other speakers are expected to be Sir Herbert Samuel and Dr. Chaim Weissmann.

U. S. Demands Proof Of Warsaw Weddings

Warsaw, Poland, April 10 (A.P.).—Men who were married by Jewish rabbis after July 1, 1930, will hereafter not be granted permission to enter the United States as husbands of American wives, except when the marriages were contracted in the presence of a member of the Polish administration.

This decision was made because the American Consulate of Warsaw suspects that a number of men were smuggled to the United States on the basis of fake marriages.

King George, Improved, Takes Up Routine Work

Windsor, England, April 10 (A.P.).—Further improvement in the condition of King George, who has been suffering from bronchitis at Windsor Castle for several days, was reported today. However, the royal physicians emphasized the necessity of the monarch's remaining indoors for a while as a precautionary measure.

While the queen and Princess Mary went shopping today, King George attended to state affairs, despite his illness. He signed several loyal appointments and handled routine business. Among the appointments announced today was that of Col. Sir Clive Wigram as the king's private secretary. He succeeds the late Lord Stamfordham.

Farmhand Found Guilty of Murder

Convicted Man Accuses Widow of Offering $25 for Slaying.

Amelia, Va., April 10 (A.P.).—Richard Lee, Negro farm hand, was convicted of first-degree murder late today in Amelia Circuit Court for the slaying of J. Will Jones, prominent dairyman. Lee was sentenced to twenty years in the State Penitentiary.

Shortly afterward Judge Edwin P. Cox, at the request of Commonwealth's Attorney George K. Taylor, ordered a special grand jury to be convened tomorrow "for further investigation of the Jones case."

Mr. Jones was killed with a shotgun last January 8 as he slept. Three Amelia officers were allowed to testify Lee told them he killed Jones after Mrs. Jones and Oscar Jones, wife and son of the man killed, had offered him $25 for the crime. Lee took the stand in his own defense late today and repudiated the truth of the confession, although admitting it was made, and reiterated the statement that Mrs. Jones offered him $25 to kill her husband.

Pan-American Meeting To Weigh Patent Laws

International protection of trademarks and patent rights, assuring adequate safeguards for holders of such marks and patents within the several nations parties to inter-American agreements on the subject, will be among questions discussed at the fourth Pan-American Commercial Conference, according to an announcement made yesterday at the Pan-American Union.

The conference, bringing to Washington October 5 to 12 under the auspices of the union commercial representatives of the American republics, will study the action that has been taken in past years on the question of patent rights.

Guatemala's Resigned President Dies in U. S.

New Orleans, April 10 (A.P.).—Gen. Lazaro Chacon, 46, former President of Guatemala and for many years a distinguished military figure in Central American affairs, died at his home here early today. His wife and nine children were at his bedside.

He succumbed to a second stroke of paralysis, suffered last Tuesday. The first stroke, in December, 1930, forced him to resign the presidency of his native country after he had served more than four years of a six-year term. Shortly after his resignation, he came to New Orleans with his family for medical attention and appeared to be steadily improving until the second stroke.

Only Dry Nominee Can Win, Is Claim

Brooklyn, N. Y., April 10 (U.P.).—A prediction that there will be no "wet" presidential candidate in 1932 was made here tonight by Dr. Clarence True Wilson, general secretary of the Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Morals of the Methodist Episcopal Church, in addressing the 83d New York East conference of the M. E. Church.

"One man's guess is as good as another's as to the future," the speaker said. "I will risk mine that no party will go before the people with a presidential candidate of the United States, or a proposal that would nullify the oath of office that the candidate would have to take if elected."

The speaker referred to the recent assembling of the Democratic national committee in Washington as the "Raskob fiasco" and censured the antiprohibition activities of John J. Raskob, chairman of the committee.

Corpus Christi, Tex., April 10 (A.P.).—Frederick H. Payne, Assistant Secretary of War, accompanied by his wife and aids on an airplane trip to Panama, landed here today from San Antonio because of cloudy weather.

NEW MAYOR SLICES CHICAGO'S PAY ROLL

Chicago, April 10 (A.P.).—Chicago's new Democratic mayor, Anton J. Cermak, spent his first full day in office lopping off appointees of his predecessor, William Hale Thompson (Republican), from the municipal pay roll, and promising to go outside the Democratic party if necessary to pick the "best possible cabinet."

Wholesale dismissal of temporary employes begun yesterday as Cermak took over the reins of the city government, continued today. Nearly 3,000 temporary appointees were discharged outright during the two days and the pay rolls of 3,000 more ordered held up until the work of each employe could be investigated.

Another crop of department heads received enforced vacations, were asked to resign or discharged outright today. They included the superintendent of the water department, the head of the department of streets, the harbor master, the city engineer and the consulting engineer to the commissioner of local improvements. Their places were filled temporarily in most cases by the highest ranking civil service employe.

Mayor Cermak, remaining away from the city hall most of the day to escape the hordes of office seekers, issued a statement in which he said, "I told the ward committeemen that they must offer outstanding and efficient men for cabinet positions and if they do not, I will go outside of the party to pick men in whom the public have confidence. I received the support of the independent voters, and they must be satisfied with the appointments I make."

The mayor has made only one permanent cabinet appointment, Col. A. A. Sprague as commissioner of public works. He also named Francis X. Busch corporation counsel, but for a term of only 60 days at the latter's request. Cermak said he would not announce the rest of his cabinet until his formal inauguration April 22.

"I am going to ask the best-informed people on police matters for advice on the police appointment," said the mayor, "and it is possible I will appoint a citizens commission of members of the Association of Commerce and other anticrime groups to help me.

"If I show the police that promotions are made for efficiency and bravery it will put them on their toes. If they find that promotion can not be obtained through politics they will get busy in the department." Mayor Cermak planned to leave Monday for a short vacation. He said he had not decided where he would go.

Relief Suggested On Earned Income

(Associated Press.)

Increased exemptions to Federal income tax payers on earned income were recommended yesterday to the joint congressional committee on internal revenue taxation by its investigators.

"The present earned income relief can properly be increased somewhat on net incomes up to about $28,000; no additional relief should be given on net incomes between $28,000 and $30,000; on net incomes above $30,000 considerably more relief should be given," the report recommended.

It was submitted to Chairman Hawley, of the House ways and means committee, chairman of the joint tax committee, by L. H. Parker, chief of the investigating staff. Mr. Parker said the report was not prepared with reference to the present economic situation and therefore its publication should not be construed as indicating the practicability of adopting any of the suggestions contained therein in the immediate future.

WOMEN FAIL TO GET HOOVER'S RUM VIEW

In addressing President Hoover, Mrs. Peabody said:

"This group represents both political parties and various sections of the country. They desire to express to you their gratitude of your consistent and loyal stand for the eighteenth amendment to the Constitution and to assure you of their sympathy and support in your endeavor to enforce the great protective law.

"Children are women's chief industry. They demand protection through the eighteenth amendment enforced and they know they can count on you, Mr. President, to preserve, support and defend this part of the supreme law of the land."

"What did the President say?" Mrs. Peabody was asked.

"Well," she replied, "he just smiled."

"The main conclusions of that commission," the document said, "were exceedingly gratifying to us who stand for this amendment, which protects our interests and industries.

"Some who signed the Wickersham statement evidently did so with mental reservations, which they are now expressing freely. Mr. Wickersham's own statement, as opposed to any change without further trial, appeals to the commonsense of mothers and teachers, the experts in law enforcement in the Nation. Fathers, as a rule, are as ready as Congress to make laws and as slow in enforcing them."

Today at noon the women dry leaders will give a luncheon in the Washington Hotel. Among the speakers will be Col. Amos W. W. Woodcock, chief of the Prohibition Bureau, and Dr. James M. Doran, in charge of alcohol permits in the Treasury Department.

The $25,000 bail under which he had been held since his arrest June 5, 1929, in the Savoy Plaza, was discharged in an order signed by Federal Judge Alfred Coxe.

DISTRICT RECEIVERS ASKED FOR COMPANY

Suit Seeks to Conserve All Assets of Wardman Group in Capital.

An action that will, if the District Supreme Court affirms, take over the assets, credits and property of the Wardman Mortgage & Discount Corporation in the District, was begun yesterday by the same group of stockholders that brought proceedings against the Wardman company in the Corporation Court at Alexandria, where the corporation has its principal office.

Robert B. Smythe, of 1438 Belmont street northwest, brought the suit here. He was represented by Attorney Harry F. Kennedy. The suit is entitled a "Bill for the appoint of ancillary receivers."

The suit directs the attention of the court to the appointment of receivers for the Wardman corporation in Alexandria and asks that the same receivers be appointed ancillary receivers here. The receivers are Harry A. L. Barker and Gardner L. Boothe, and they are to be represented in the proceedings by Mr. Kennedy and Norman Fischer.

The purpose of the suit is to "reduce to the possession of the receivers all assets of every kind and character" and the right to seek injunctions and other remedies are asked for the receivers.

Smith Removal Trial Starts Early in Week

(Associated Press.)

Plans were completed yesterday for beginning court action early next week on behalf of the Senate to oust Chairman Smith of the power commission. Final arrangements were completed at a conference between a Senate judiciary subcommittee and special Senate counsel.

Those attending the conference included Chairman Norris of the subcommittee appointed to arrange for the suit; Senator Walsh (Democrat), Montana, leader of the movement to remove Smith; John W. Davis, Democratic candidate for President in 1924, and Alexander J. Groesbeck, former Governor of Michigan. Davis and Groesbeck have been employed as counsel to represent the Senate.

Nurse Fights War In Citizenship Case

(Associated Press.)

Marie Averill Bland, a Canadian World War nurse, now residing in New York City, vigorously protested to the Supreme Court yesterday against the refusal of the Government to admit her to citizenship, unless she agreed to take up arms in its defense.

The appeal of the Government to set aside an order of the Second Circuit Court of Appeals, declaring her qualified for naturalization, will shortly be reached in the Supreme Court for oral argument.

For nine months Miss Bland nursed shell-shocked United States soldiers at Brest, France, immediately following the World War. In her brief she declared she was willing to nurse wounded in the event of war, going to the front line, if necessary, to give medical aid and attention, and insisted that her religious beliefs and convictions which forbade her to bear arms or kill any human being, even in war, did not disqualify her from becoming a good American citizen.

Navy Reduces Cost Of Sailor's Clothing

(United Press.)

Many a man, wondering whether he "can afford that new suit," will envy the gobs of the United States Navy, who on June 30, will be able to purchase their year's stock of clothing for $89.47.

The Navy Department yesterday announced that, effective June 30 a further reduction in the price of uniforms and all clothing was being made because of "the present low price of textiles." The cost of the sailor's "full bag" includes an overcoat, several pairs of shoes, several uniforms and all other necessary clothing.

CURTAILMENT IN BUS SERVICE IS ALLOWED

Utilities Body Declines Plea to Abandon Foxhall and Potomac Line.

S. Russell Bowen, general counsel of the Washington Railway & Electric Co., was instructed yesterday by Maj. Gen. Mason M. Patrick, chairman of the Public Utilities Commission, to have his company propose a schedule whereby the bus service to Foxhall Village and Potomac Heights might be continued on a small scale.

The commission decided to deny the petition of the street railway to abandon the bus line, Gen. Patrick said, but it will not insist that such a broad schedule as now in operation be maintained.

A schedule which would provide bus service every hour, save during the morning and evening rush periods and in the afternoon when the schools adjourned, would be agreeable to the commission, it was indicated. During the rush hours, however, sufficient buses to accommodate the patronage would be required.

The commission held a hearing last Monday and Tuesday on the abandonment proposal and heard numerous objections from residents of the areas involved. Richmond B. Keech, the people's counsel, suggested at the time that a rush period schedule be tried and William Ham, president of the railway, stated that his company would be willing to try the experiment.

Farm Board Fight By Democrats Hit

(Associated Press.)

Representative Purnell, of Indiana, said last night the Democratic national committee "appears to have joined hands with the grand speculators of the country in the common cause of warring on the Federal Farm Board."

In a statement through the Republican national committee, Mr. Purnell said: "In the same newspapers we find similar statements by Mr. Jouett Shouse, Democratic national executive chairman, and James C. Murray, president of the Chicago Board of Trade, assailing the board and all its works."

"Can it be," the Indiana Republican asked, "that the Democratic party is to be swung into line with the grain gamblers of the country? What is the community of interest between the president of the Chicago Grain Exchange and the party organization bought and paid for by Mr. John J. Raskob? They sing in chorus if not in complete harmony."

Senator King Joins Raskob Opposition

Western Democrat Attacks Plan to Liberalize Trust Laws.

(Associated Press.)

A western Democratic senator—King of Utah—yesterday joined with Southern Democrats in opposing the platform proposals made by Chairman Raskob of the national committee. King directed his attack at Raskob's economic program, particularly opposing the national chairman's plan to liberalize the antitrust laws.

The Utah senator announced he was drafting legislation to strengthen the antitrust law. "The Sherman law ought to be strengthened rather than weakened," King said. "If it is weakened the small business man will be destroyed and industry will be controlled by a few gigantic monopolies. Either we have got to prevent trusts and monopolies or regulate them."

"I admire Mr. Raskob, but I am not in agreement with all his views on economic and industrial problems, nor do I think they will be adopted by the party convention. I do not question his right to give his views to the party or to seek the views of the national committee, but it is obvious neither Raskob nor the national committee can or will frame a Democratic platform.

"In my opinion the industrial and economic questions are paramount and upon those issues the Democrats can win the next national election."

HOOVERS AND AIDS LEAVE FOR FUNERAL

(United Press.)

President Hoover and many high officials of the Government boarded special trains here last night to pay a state tribute at the burial today of their comrade, Nicholas Longworth, in Cincinnati.

Leaders of both the administrative and legislative branches joined in this unique funeral procession to the Ohio home of the former Speaker of the House of Representatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoover were accompanied by their aids and secretaries, as if on a mission of state. Representing the Army and Navy were Col. Campbell Hodges and Capt. Russell Train in the uniforms of presidential aids. The two White House secretaries accompanying the presidential party were Walter Newton and Theodore Joslin. Col. Hodges will join the party in Cincinnati. On their train also were Postmaster General Walter Brown, representing the Cabinet, and a delegation of a dozen newspapermen and photographers.

Train to Arrive at Noon.

The presidential special left at 9:15 p. m. on a direct trip to Oakley, Ohio, a suburb of Cincinnati, 2 miles from the Longworth home. Mr. and Mrs. Hoover will leave the train there, about noon today, to visit the widow, Alice Roosevelt Longworth, with whom they both have been intimately acquainted during Mr. Hoover's ten years in Washington.

Boarding the train again for lunch they will ride into the center of the city to attend services at Christ Episcopal Church. After the journey to the grave, the party will go to the train at a siding near the cemetery to return to Washington, where they will arrive early tomorrow morning.

Aids Only Usually Attend.

Usually the President dispatches his aids to attend funeral services as his representatives. Not since President Harding died and the then new President (Coolidge) went to Marion, Ohio, for the burial, has a President left Washington on a similar official mission.

It is customary also for a committee of 12 or 24 Congress members to represent the legislative branch of the Government. They are appointed officially and their expenses are paid by the Government. However, nearly every representative in Washington who could arrange to get away, expressed a desire to go—each at his own expense—to Mr. Longworth's funeral.

The judicial branch of the Government was not represented. Members of the Supreme Court are busy upon official business, it was said, and none could arrange to leave. They were not closely associated with the former Speaker.

Alfalfa Club Sends 4 to Longworth Rites

Col. Henry Hall, president of the Alfalfa Club of Washington, of which Mr. Longworth was a prominent member, yesterday appointed a delegation of four members of the club to attend the funeral.

They were Charles Porterfield Light, Levi Cook, former Senator Richard P. Ernst, of Kentucky, and George White, of Ohio. Mr. Light has been appointed an honorary pallbearer.

Rhode Island Expresses Sympathy.

Providence, R. I., April 10 (A.P.).—The Rhode Island Senate today adopted a resolution paying tribute to Speaker Nicholas Longworth and expressing sympathy for his widow and daughter.

SORROW RIDES TRAIN WITH FUNERAL PARTY

stricken, and Mrs. William Harrison, of Cincinnati, have places in the private car in which Mr. Longworth's body rests.

In a special Pullman, traveling with a group of press representatives, are Col. Campbell Hodges, military aid to President Hoover, and Charles Eicheoff, who served Mr. Longworth for 31 years as valet.

Mrs. Longworth was heavily veiled when she entered the train at Aiken, and her features were not seen by the several hundred residents of that resort town who came to the station to pay their respects and in the hope of seeing the "Princess Alice" of the Roosevelt administration.

Mrs. Harrison, a lifelong friend of the family, got on the train at Aiken. The private car bearing the family party is owned by Charles Clarke, of Aiken.

Aiken Streets Are Lined.

At Aiken this morning the family made a last-minute change in plans for the movement of the cortege from the Curtis home to the railway station. As a result the hearse left the residence ten minutes in advance of the automobiles in which Mrs. Longworth and other members of the family rode.

The roped-off streets were lined by hundreds of Aiken people who came to pay their silent respects. Some followed the hearse, behind which came the active and honorary local pallbearers, and many were unaware that Mrs. Longworth was not with the body until they arrived at the station. There the throng stood with bared heads until the train pulled out. Business houses of the city were closed for an hour.

Late today the train passed through Spartanburg and across the State line into North Carolina, winding its way through the foothills of the Blue Ridge Mountains.

At Spartanburg, the last stop in South Carolina, another wreath was placed on the train. It was from "friends in Spartanburg."

Copenhagen, April 10 (A.P.).—Premier T. H. Stauning will visit America and Canada on a two months' lecture tour this summer. At St. Paul, Minn., he will visit a cousin, A. K. Stauning, and at Calgary, Alberta, a son, Holger.

During the tour the premier will lecture on various phases of Danish-American relations, and plans to call on President Hoover.

HOME CITY AWAITS LONGWORTH'S BODY

Cincinnati, April 10 (A.P.).—Final rites for Speaker Nicholas Longworth here tomorrow will be an unostentatious ceremony in Christ Episcopal Church at 2 p. m. and burial in the Longworth family lot at Spring Grove Cemetery.

The Rev. Henry Hobson, bishop coadjutor, will read the ritual of the dead, but will make no eulogy. The services will be attended by President and Mrs. Hoover and by several hundred of the country's most distinguished statesmen and citizens.

Speaker Longworth's body, accompanied by Mrs. Longworth and relatives, was being brought here tonight on a special train from Aiken, S. C., where he died of pneumonia yesterday morning.

Most of the final arrangements for the services were completed today with the arrival from Washington of Miss Mildred Reeves, who was Mr. Longworth's secretary, and Col. E. W. Starling, chief of the Secret Service.

Paulina to Learn of Death.

Little Paulina Longworth, 6-year-old daughter and only child of the Speaker, remained uninformed tonight of his death. Her mother, daughter of former President Theodore Roosevelt, was to break the news to Paulina tomorrow.

In addition to the President and Mrs. Hoover, the services will be attended by Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, sr., widow of the former President; Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Roosevelt, Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Roosevelt, Vice President Curtis, delegations from Congress and numerous other organizations.

The seating capacity of the church, located in the down town financial district, is limited to 780, and admission to the funeral will be by ticket.

String Quartet Will Play.

During the ceremony at the church, a string quartet will play "Ave Verum," by Mozart, and "Adeste Fideles," by Haydn. Near the close, the church choir will sing "The Son of God Goes Forth to War," one of the most popular Episcopal hymns.

At the conclusion of the rites at the church, the solemn procession to the cemetery will be started. The order of the cortege will be decided tomorrow, shortly before the services.

There will be prayers and another simple ceremony at the grave as the body is lowered to its last resting place, and then the rites will be over.

Honorary Pallbearers Listed.

Democratic Chairman Is Introduced as Citizen of Maryland.

Baltimore, Md., April 10 (A.P.).—John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic national committee; Gov. Albert C. Ritchie, Senator Millard A. Tydings, and a score of Maryland party leaders were guests at a dinner tonight, but none would discuss the political significance of the occasion.

The dinner, given by Howard Bruce, a member of the Democratic committee at his home, Belmont, in Howard County, was designed "to introduce a distinguished Marylander to some of his fellow residents of the State," Mr. Bruce said. It was informal, and no speeches were planned, he said.

Mr. Raskob was met on his arrival here early in the evening and taken to the Bruce home, a Baltimore suburban show place. The Democratic chairman became a legal resident of Maryland only a few months ago, changing his voting place from Delaware. His home now is near Centerville, on the Eastern Shore.

American Discovered Dead Near Saltillo

(Associated Press.)

American Consul Sokobin, at Saltillo, Mexico, reported to the State Department yesterday that the body of a man believed to be that of Ben Franklin, of Chicago, had been found near Saltillo April 7.

The man, about 55 years old, was believed to have met with foul play. Identification was uncertain, but a man, presumably an American, disappeared from a Saltillo hotel March 25.

WIFE ADMITS WITCH KILLING, POLICE SAY

Mrs. Thomsen Charges Slain Recluse, 79, Attacked Her After Quarrel.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., April 10 (U.P.).—Mrs. Frances Thomsen, a Wellesley graduate, confessed today, according to police, that she killed Minnie E. Dilley, a 79-year-old recluse, with a ginger ale bottle because she suspected the elder woman of being a "witch" and of exerting a weird influence over her husband.

Mrs. Thomsen, who hitch-hiked from Pittsburgh to Forty Fort, Pa., a distance of 200 miles, to patch up a two-year-old quarrel with Miss Dilley, was taken today to the Dilley home where the aged woman was beaten to death, April 3. There, police said, Mrs. Thomsen confessed the murder, but insisted Miss Dilley attacked her, and that she acted only in self-defense.

"It was her life or mine," Mrs. Thomsen was quoted as saying. She then told how she had hidden a bread knife in her umbrella when she went to Miss Dilley's house, to which her husband had been a frequent visitor.

Police declared Mrs. Thomsen sat down next to Miss Dilley on April 3. They talked for some time, but instead of adjusting their differences they began to quarrel again. Mrs. Thomsen claims Miss Dilley attacked her, and that only then did she begin to beat the aged woman with the ginger ale bottle, after which she slashed her hostess' throat with the bread knife.

Mrs. Thomsen then was said to have washed the blood from her hands in the Dilley kitchen, and then hitchhiked back to Pittsburgh.

Seven Sugar Countries Limit Exports 5 Years

Paris, April 10 (A.P.).—Seven of the world's largest sugar-exporting countries, including Cuba, reached a definite agreement tonight on the limitation of sugar exports over a period of five years.

They also decided to appoint an international sugar council of 21 members, 3 from each of the seven countries. On the council Cuba will have 35 votes, Java 30 and the five European beet-sugar-producing nations will have a total aggregate of 25 votes, making 90 votes in all.

Son-in-Law Drops Suits for $75,000

Two suits, aggregating $75,000, brought by Adrian H. Lamp against Clarence A. O'Brien, his father-in-law, were dropped from the dockets of the District Supreme Court yesterday, upon request of the plaintiff.

Mr. Lamp filed a suit asking for $50,000 for the alleged alienation of the affections of his wife by her father. He also filed a $25,000 suit, charging Mr. O'Brien, who is a patent attorney, with having him arrested falsely.

Mr. Lamp eloped to Rockville, Md., with Mrs. Ruth Cady, daughter of Mr. O'Brien, and married her November 12, 1929. The couple met on board a ship while returning from a trip to Europe. Mr. Lamp is a native of Holland.

M'LEAN AND BUGHER TO GET $41,000 FUND

Court Approves Petition of Bank to Return Trust for Mrs. Dewey.

Justice Frederick L. Siddons yesterday signed a petition sent to him by the American Security & Trust Co., which sought to distribute to Frederick McLean Bugher and Edward Beale McLean a fund of nearly $41,000 that had been held in trust for the late Mildred McLean Dewey.

The fund had been set aside in the will of the late Mary L. McLean, with the instruction that the income from it should be paid for life to Mrs. Dewey, who was the wife of the late Admiral George Dewey. Upon her death the fund reverted back to the closest heirs, who are, according to the petition, Mr. McLean and Mr. Bugher.

A sum, estimated at $743.30, which had accrued from the fund and was to have been paid to Mrs. Dewey, but was not so paid because of her death, will be given into the custody of the National Savings & Trust Co. and Attorney Frederick Stohlman, who were recently appointed collectors for the estate of Mrs. Dewey, pending the outcome of a contest over her will.

A stepson, George Goodwin Dewey, of Chicago, is contesting Mrs. Dewey's will, and the court appointed the collectors to conserve the assets until the case can be decided. In the last will of Mrs. Dewey, George Goodwin Dewey is not mentioned.

Nonunion Employes On U. S. Job Protested

Belleville, Ill., April 10 (A.P.).—Representative Charles Karch, of East St. Louis, last night sent a telegram to Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley, protesting against the employment of nonunion labor by the Morley Construction Co., of Kansas City, in construction work under the $4,000,000 improvement program at Scott Field, the Army's lighter-than-air post here.

Representative Karch wants the War Department to employ local men and pay the local wage scale. Al Towers, secretary of the Belleville Trades and Labor Assembly, said the Morley Co. has signified its intention to make the Scott field improvements on an "open-shop" labor basis.

CITY POLICE DROP BANK-BANDIT HUNT

The jury was empaneled by Judge Thomas D. Griffith.

Two tips yesterday sent police out attempting to pick up the cold trail of the gunmen. One was that a large black automobile, bearing Illinois license plates, with an attractive woman and two men as passengers was sighted on the Riggs road. The proprietor of a lunch stand near the District line said that the car stopped at his place and one of the men asked the way to Baltimore.

When the lunch room man attempted to examine the license plates on the car, he said, one of the men opened a smoke screen and the car sped away.

Police were also seeking a red-haired girl, who is believed to have aided the gunmen in making a getaway. The girl is said to have been seen sitting in the robbers' automobile parked across the street from the bank shortly before the attempted hold-up.

Fingerprints Reveal Record.

He escaped from the penitentiary at Walla Walla, Wash., on November 29, 1918, after serving four years of five to twenty-year sentence for robbery.

He was returned to the institution the following month, however, and was paroled less than a year later. He violated his parole on October 21, 1930, by leaving the State and was wanted by prison officials at the time of his death.

Some of the other aliases, according to the Department of Justice, where his finger prints were found, were Thomas Slattery and John H. Thompson.

Leader Shot by Official.

Hayes was killed as he rushed into the cashier's cage of the bank with one of his companions. Although he shouted to Claude H. Owens, assistant cashier, to "stick 'em up," Owens drew a gun from under the counter and shot the bandit twice through the body. The other hold-up man then retreated.

In the meantime, a customer in the bank had grappled with the bandit guard who had been left at the door armed with a machine gun. This desperado eluded the grasp of the townsman, however, and fled in the car with a parting fusillade of bullets.

Although they had a start of about two minutes, the holdup men lengthened this by taking a side road a short distance out of Marlboro. The pursuers, thinking them on the Washington road, were thrown off the scent for about ten minutes, which gave the bandits time to escape after their car was abandoned.

There was about $5,000 in the bank, but the outlaws were not able to get any of this before their leader was killed, and they fled.

JOHNSON'S BACKERS RALLY TO HIS CAUSE

Wood's district in Indiana, where he is known as one of the "Big Five" in State politics, did not hesitate to express himself concerning the university situation.

Regards Charge as Joke.

With reference to certain alleged utterances of Dr. Johnson which have caused him to be charged with advocating communism, Judge Hueston said:

"While I have not had the opportunity to examine any so-called communistic utterances of the president of Howard University, I regard it as a joke to accuse any American Negro of communistic ideas. The Negro is more thoroughly a political partisan than any other group in America. In religion the Negro is either a Baptist or a Methodist, and in politics he is overwhelmingly a Republican. There are some Negroes who have been trying to find a place in the Democratic party without humiliation, but the Socialist party and the Communist party have no part in the Negro's political life.

"As Commissioner of Education of colored Elks, through competition in study and interpretation of the Constitution of the United States, I have placed with $1,000 scholarships 118 Negro students in the leading colleges and universities of America. Seven of these students are now at Howard University, as well as two of my own children, so that I feel qualified to speak as a party at interest in this situation. I have been compelled by my office and my interest to study Howard University carefully for several years.

No Interest Over Nation.

"The university is not a local institution to be controlled by local members of the trustee board. It is the capstone of Negro education in America. Throughout the country there is no popular interest in a faculty fight. The Negro president at Howard is an inspiring influence, and Dr. Johnson has filled the presidency with courage in this day of free speech.

"On political questions he would not be expected to restrict his remarks any more than Nicholas Murray Butler would be expected to advocate prohibition. Since my arrival here a year ago I have been acquainted with the rumblings of a Negro cabal attempting to displace Dr. Johnson, but am of the opinion that the presidency of the university should not be disturbed except on the basis of facts as to his efficiency as an administrative officer, and as to his moral character.

"Dr. Johnson is today the outstanding American Negro. The fact that he is the first Negro president of the university will make his removal, if undertaken, the despair of Negroes throughout the country. He is regarded by them as the symbol of their recognition in upper circles of the educational world."

Outlines Political Fight.

Judge Hueston further indicated his belief that a removal of Dr. Johnson from the university presidency would "start a fight worse than the Parker fight" and drag the university into politics from which Congressional legislation had sought to lift it. He outlined the political effect of the removal of a Negro president both in States of the Middle West, where the Negro vote at present is a political balance of power, and in the Congress, where the margin of Republican strength is small.

Other speakers at the mass meeting last night were the Rev. Hampton T. Gaskins, the Rev. E. C. Smith, the Rev. George A. Parker, the Rev. W. D. Battle, the Rev. W. A. Taylor, the Rev. George W. Brent, the Rev. William A. Gray and the Rev. R. A. Fairley, representing Baptist, Methodist and Presbyterian denominations, who lauded Dr. Johnson for "his courageous, honest and progressive leadership," deplored dragging the university into politics, and declared themselves in accord with the university administration.

It was understood at the meeting that Miss Nannie H. Burroughs, head of the training school for which Representative DePriest is conducting the financial drive, and the outstanding colored woman of the Baptist denomination in America, will speak on the university situation Sunday at the Washington Auditorium.

CALHOUNS ANSWER SUIT OF SCULPTOR

Capt. and Mrs. C. C. Calhoun, prominent socially here, yesterday filed an anwer to the suit of W. Clark Noble, sculptor, denying that they had contracted with him for the designing and construction of a memorial to "Womanhood."

The suit filed by the sculptor asked for $250,000 damages from the Calhouns on the basis of a contract which had been negotiated between the Calhouns and himself.

In their anawer, filed by Attorney W. Gwynn Gardiner, the Calhouns denied that Mr. Noble had conceived the idea of the memorial. On the contrary, they say, the idea was two years old when Sculptor Noble was brought in.

Mrs. Calhoun denied also that she had received large contributions to the proposed memorial, but that, instead, she had personally financed the proposition. It was also stated that the design submitted by the sculptor had never been officially adopted by the Woman's Universal Alliance, which was the organization fostering the memoral to "Womanhood."

An agreement to use the design submitted by Mr Noble for illustrative purposes only was admitted in the answer, which was filed in the District Supreme Court.

Judge Soper Urged For Waddill's Post

Representative Lankford Is Suggested for Fourth District Bench.

Baltimore, April 10 (A.P.).—A movement to obtain the appointment of Federal District Judge Morris A. Soper to succeed Judge Edmund Waddill, jr., of the Circuit Court of Appeals, Fourth District, was launched by friends today.

Judge Waddill died yesterday at Richmond. Judge Soper was mentioned for advancement in 1927, when he was put forward as the successor of the late Judge John C. Rose, and again last year, when Judge John J. Parker was nominated to the Supreme Court.

Norfolk, Va., April 10 (Special).—W. B. Shafer, jr., of Norfolk, the originator of the soldiers' bonus, wired Gov. Pollard the following today:

"Representative Lankford deserves the judgeship made vacant by Judge Waddill's death. It is assumed that President Hoover would appoint this great Virginian if Virginia requested. You might help secure this judgeship for Virginia should you wire the President you will appoint another Republican to fill Representative Lankford's unexpired term if he were appointed judge. This would show the President you place the State's welfare ahead of politics and would not cause the Democratic party any loss."

Spanish Election Nears With Street Clashes

Madrid, April 10 (A.P.).—As political parties entered the final stage of their intensive campaigns for Sunday's nation-wide municipal elections, Madrid today witnessed several street clashes in which two persons were injured and a few arrests made.

As a precautionary measure police and civil guards were in readiness to suppress any further disorders. Last minute campaign speeches will be made throughout the country tomorrow before Spaniards on Sunday cast their first ballots in eight years.

Man Robbed of $92.

Walter Jackson, colored, of the Whitelaw Hotel, was held up yesterday at the Temple golf course, Tenth and U streets northwest, by an armed colored bandit. Bills totaling $92 were taken.

HUGHES, 69 TODAY, STICKS TO WORK

(United Press.)

Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes will celebrate his sixty-ninth birthday today by carrying on the strenuous career which has made him one of America's outstanding statesmen and jurists.

He will spend this afternoon, when Government clerks and visiting tourists are strolling under the swaying pink branches of the cherry trees along the Tidal Basin, whipping into shape important Supreme Court decisions.

If he stops at all to consider the day and to look back on the vista of his 69 years, he will have a varied and interesting view. It is a career that has earned him one of the longest biographical sketches in "Who's Who."

There 73 cramped lines are needed to give a scant record of the high official positions he has filled, the colleges that have honored him, the books he has written, the clubs to which he belongs.

There is a mention of his race for the Presidency in 1916, when he resigned as an Associate Supreme Court Justice to run against President Wilson. There is no mention of the few days after election when he was all but conceded the victory or of the narrow count in California which snatched the high honor out of his grasp.

There is no mention of the luxuriant whiskers, once the delight of paragraphers and the caricaturists. They are white whiskers now, but they help to identify the Chief Justice wherever he goes.

Capitalist and Wife Robbed at Guns' Point

Chicago, April 10 (A.P.).—Four gunmen invaded the automobile of Edward R. Litsinger, Chicago capitalist and politician, last night, and robbed him, his wife and two friends of cash and valuables, it became known today. Litsinger said the loss was not large.

A few months ago, Litsinger's name emblazoned front pages in connection with a "big money" faro game at Springfield, Ill., in which Mrs. Myrtle Tanner Blackidge, then collector of internal revenue, figured. He charged she had connived to fleece him of $50,000, which he described as originally intended for a loan.

Liquor-Running Auto Is Seized After Chase

After a chase of about two miles over dirt roads, Montgomery County Policeman George Windham, of the Silver Spring substation, last night captured an automobile and 96 quarts of liquor on Viers Mill road near Wheaton, Md.

The policeman gave chase when he observed the car traveling with only one headlight. The driver stepped on the gas. The chase continued through a dust screen until the driver abandoned the automobile in a thick copse and escaped. The car, which bore District tags, was taken to the Silver Spring substation.

Comedian Rogers Quits Nicaragua by Airplane

Managua, Nicaragua, April 10 (A.P.).—Bidden farewell by the U. S. Marine Band, which played the "Marine Hymn," Will Rogers, American cowboy humorist, left here on a Pan-American Airways plane at 1:39 p. m. today for San Jose, Costa Rica.

Before his departure Rogers called on President Moncado and told him he was much saddened by the damage down in Managua by the earthquake. However, he told several jokes, which caused the president to laugh heartily for the first time since the city was laid in ruins.

Harvard Student, 20, Is Killed in Air Crash

Bingham, Mass., April 10 (A.P.).—James N. Burns, 20, of Evanston, Ill., a Harvard student, was killed in an airplane accident near here today. A monoplane owned by the Harvard Flying Club in which he was making a practice flight from the East Boston Airport, crashed on the estate of Mrs. Thomas F. Sweeney.

Burns was alone in the plane, which plunged from a height of about 600 feet.

Chicago, April 10 (A.P.).—Louis Jurs' dream brought him $3,700 today.

It was Louis who told the court during an alienation of affections suit that he fancied, in slumber, that he saw his wife and James E. O'Brien in affectionate embrace. The next day, he said, he went home just to see how true his dream was and found it highly veracious.

He had asked $50,000, but the judge cut this to $3,700.

AD, HELD IN FATAL AUTO CRASH, FREED

Montgomery Police Say That Stories of Survivors Do Not Conflict.

Walter L. Hatton, 19 years old, of N street near Thirty-third street northwest, was released from custody yesterday by police of the Bethesda substation, Montgomery County Police. He had been held while police investigated an accident Thursday morning in which James Panos, 32 years old, of Tenth street near M street northwest, was fatally injured.

Police Held Hatton until a thorough investigation could be made. Hatton told them that he did not know the other two men in the car. He had picked them up, he said, at a poolroom on Ninth street near H northwest, and that Panos was driving the car, which was owned by Hatton's brother. Hatton's driver's permit had been revoked in the District, police said.

After questioning Michael Hendricks, 38 years old, Thirteenth street and Massachusetts avenue northwest, injured in the crash, police announced that his story of the accident tallied with that told by Hatton, and the latter's release was ordered by Sergt. Leroy Rodgers after a conference with State's Attorney Stedman Prescott. Hendricks is in the Naval Hospital with a fractured skull and internal injuries. Hatton pulled both of the others from the car after it caught fire following the accident.

State Senator Robert G. Hilton was elected permanent president of the Rockville precinct organization of the Montgomery Government Club at a meeting held Thursday night in the courthouse at Rockville.

Vice presidents elected were Preston B. Ray, first; Frank Ricketts, second; Dr. George L. Edmonds, third; Donald A. DeLashmutt, fourth; Berry E. Clark, fifth. Mrs. Francis Lyddane was elected secretary and J. Fletcher Schott, treasurer.

It was decided to organize the two Rockville precincts as one organization. Mr. Ray was temporary chairman and Mr. DeLashmutt temporary secretary. Those present were Berry E. Clark, Murray A. Hamilton, Dr. George L. Edmonds, George Fry, James W. McLaughlin, John Ertter, Walter Funderburk, Trugean Aud, Robert Peter, jr., J. Fletcher Schott, Darby Bowman, Ernest Offutt, Mrs. Ernest Offutt, William Frank Ricketts, Roger Shaw, Morris Stern, Almus R. Spear, Clifford Howard, Earl Dupee, W. L. King, D. A. DeLashmutt, Elbert T. Clagett, Charles W. Bell, Gordon Beam, Mrs. George L. Edmonds, Mrs. Martha Ricketts, E. Stedman Prescott, Mrs. Francis Lyddane and Mrs. Preston B. Ray.

Funeral services for Otho H. W. Talbott, 56 years old, prominent Rockville attorney, who died Thursday night at his home in Rockville, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the residence. The Rev. Millard F. Minnick, rector of Christ Episcopal Church, Rockville, of which Mr. Talbott was a vestryman and register, will officiate. Burial will be in Rockville Union Cemetery.

Mr. Talbott was stricken with a heart attack Thursday night and died about 10 o'clock. He was a native of Rockville and had practiced law there for 30 years. He succeeded his father, the late State Senator H. W. Talbott, in the law firm of Talbott & Pettyman. He received his early education at the Rockville Academy, later attending St. John's College, Annapolis, and National Law School. He served as a lieutenant in the First Maryland Regiment in the Spanish-American War, was for nine years chief deputy clerk of the Circuit Court and later attorney to the county commissioners.

He was a director and vice president of the Montgomery County National Bank, a member of the Masonic fraternity and a director of the Rockville Academy. He is survived by the widow, Mrs. Katherine Choate Talbott, a daughter, Mrs. A. H. Chapin, of Jackson Heights, N. Y., and a brother, H. Worthington Talbott, of Rockville.

The Montgomery County Bar Association met yesterday at the Circuit Courthouse in Rockville to arrange for official recognition of Mr. Talbott's death. A committee composed of Capt. Joseph C. Cissel, chairman, Robert B. Peter, jr., and Judge Charles W. Woodward was selected to present a resolution at the next term of court to report the death of Mr. Talbott, in accordance with custom. The association also decided to meet at the courthouse tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock to attend the funeral.

COLUMBIA

"CITY LIGHTS." A comedy-drama, written, directed and produced by Charles Spencer Chaplin, with himself as star, supported by Virginia Cherrill, Harry Myers, Florence Lee, Allan Garcia and Hank Mann. Music by Chaplin arranged by Arthur Johnson. A United Artists release.

It was, of course, inevitable that the first picture Charlie Chaplin has released in three years should be continued a second week at the Columbia. It would not be surprising if the procedure should be repeated through a third and even a fourth week. Such popularity would be no more than "City Lights" deserves as hilarious entertainment, even if it does, now and again, seriously overstep the bounds of strict propriety.

In this subject, the author-director-producer-star, who also composed much of the music embraced in the synchronized accompaniment — the picture's only concession to sound — again becomes the tattered figure of almost tragic frustration. His pity aroused by the plight of a beautiful, blind flower-girl, he permits himself to fall desperately in love with her and by devious methods is instrumental in restoring her sight. It is a simple story, perhaps a little more sentimental than is Chaplin's wont, but tremendously, and often rowdily, funny, despite the touching nature of its final scene.

Virginia Cherrill, as the blind girl, and Harry Myers, as a parched millionaire who denies his tramp friend no indulgence when drunk but refuses to recognize him as any one he has ever seen before when sober, render yeoman's service in the star's support. The settings and photography are well above the artistic level of earlier Chaplin's productions.

The action divides itself naturally into some three dozen comic episodes, none of which is stupid and many of which are overwhelmingly ridiculous. For sheer amusement value, this film should top your list of those that must not be missed.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

GOADED, no doubt, by the inquisitive Mr. Shakespeare's indecision as to the importance of nomenclature, as revealed in "Romeo and Juliet"—or is my guesser on crooked?—Hubbard Keavy, this department's indefatigable chief of West Coast snoopers, has gone into the matter of first names in a big and constructive way and has reached the conclusion that movie actors and actresses are not so hot in the selection of monikers that burn their way into the memory and stick there.

He finds that few of the approximately 2,000 "name players" actively engaged in Hollywood have given names that are sufficiently distinctive to stand by themselves and thus serve as a positive means of identification.

Here, he says, are the unusual ones that the average movie-goer should be able to identify:

Some others are Gwen, Ona, Julanne, Jocelyn, Jacqueline, Hedda, Ina, Nance, Vilma, Lina, Lya, Leatrice, Loretta, Rosemary, Myrtle, Myrna, Merna, Mitzi, Molly, Lena, Trixie and Zelma. And for good measure, Winnie, Lila, Leila, Allene, Marlene and Lupe.

The number of men with individual first names is even smaller: Eric, Buzz, Brooks, Bela, Bull, Nils, Ricardo, Philo, Regis, Hobart, Heine, Hallam, Hoot, Gary, Gavin, Guinn, Snitz, Stepin, Shayle, Slim, Tully, Tim, Wheeler, De Witt, Creighton, Lupino, Lumsden, Lane, Crauford and Ronald.

Among the 1,000 or more men whose names get on the screen, there are 78 with the simplest of all given names—John. And 20 women, larger than any other name group, answer to Mary.

An interesting and instructive pastime would be to arrange these names alphabetically and then append to each the last name of the player to which you think it rightfully belongs.

When this has been done and the correct full names carefully and neatly typed, chuck the whole business in the furnace!

With Charlie Chaplin's "City Lights" entering its second week at the Columbia today, attention is directed to the fact that the extended daily schedules of performances in force the first week have been abandoned and the theater restored to normal running hours. The specific hours upon which the film will be shown may be found in the "Film Time Tables" in today's issue of The Post.

Spurred into a highly articulate state by Mr. Meakin's recent announcement of the what-ho features on their way to RKO-Keith's, Mr. Michael J. Cullen, panjandrum of the Loew interests in the Capital, makes known that he, too, has some "sweethearts" in sight.

For instance, following "Honor Among Lovers," at the Palace, will come Paramount's picturization of the life and adventures of "Skippy," with Jackie Cooper, Robert Coogan and Mitzi Green, declared sure-fire by all who have been privileged to preview it, which will be succeeded, in turn, by William Haines in "A Tailor Made Man," Grant Mitchell's former stage success, once successfully picturized, it seems to me, as a silent vehicle for Charles Ray.

At the Columbia, once Mr. Chaplin puts out his "City Lights," will come Ruth Chatterton in "Unfaithful," which will be followed by Harry Carey, Edwina Booth and Duncan Renaldo in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Trader Horn," recently presented at the National as a road show attraction. After the "Trader," Norma Shearer in "Strangers May Kiss" and then "The Front Page"—minus some of the words!

It is pleasant to confide that those who attend the Rialto today, to greet John Boles upon his return to the Capital in the flesh, will find this engaging young Texan in magnificent voice.

I say this only after having heard him sing three or four numbers yesterday afternoon in his suite at the Shoreham, following a perfectly appointed luncheon spread in his honor by the theater officials whose guest he is to be throughout the week beginning today—the Messrs. Flader, Collier, Wallach and Sladden. Without frills or preparation, and with no scores at hand, Harold Solomon, accompanist, seated himself at the baby grand and Mr. Boles began to sing some of the favorite numbers with which he has scored hits in operetta and on the screen. The ladies and gentlemen of the press the while sat on the edges of their heavily brocaded chairs with eyes popping out like organ stops and ears drinking in the golden tones.

This, I believe, is the first time Mr. Boles has sung in public in Washington otherwise than from the screen. You will be interested to know, then, that the screen with its recorded voice has never done this artist justice. In the classic words of Mr. Jolson, "you ain't heard nothing yet!"

In case Mr. Boles should be late for any performance during the week, I suggest to the management of the Rialto that they send a searching party out to explore the labyrinth of hallways and corridors honeycombing his six-room apartment in the Shoreham, where Mr. Boles probably will be lost!

RKO-KEITH'S

By NELSON B. BELL.

Were the quality of this debonair drama of gentlemanly blackmail commensurate with the ability of the players who enact it, the result would be considerably more distinguished than it is. Which is to say that William Powell, Carole Lombard, Wynne Gibson and their associates are at times rendered practically null and void by situations that are flagrantly false and dialogue that gives the impression of having been written to some purely mechanical literary formula rather than to character and the creation of a realistic effect. Many of the speeches are superficially smart, but not at all what the characters would have said in the given circumstances.

The significance of the title, the action and the climax of the play is wholly embodied in the character of Michael Trevor, an American writing man living in Paris by his wits. Apparently a successful novelist occupying a place of social prominence and some importance in Paris, this ex-reporter primarily is a young man of predatory instincts who preys upon his fellow countrymen by maintaining an obscure print shop where galley proofs of incriminating stories involving indiscreet visitors are struck off and their suppression arranged for at exorbitant prices. His associates in this profitable racket are a blonde lure by the name of Irene and an ostensible guide, Fred, both of whom fit nicely into his scheme of plunder.

A particularly susceptible subject for the clever machinations of the trio is one Taylor, uncle of a gorgeous niece. Nothing more seems to need saying with regard to the plot, beyond the fact that Irene's jealousy takes a peculiar turn, everything considered, and precipitates a crisis that may be guessed, but can not be definitely foreseen until it happens.

The role of Trevor, the sophisticated and charming scalawag, is nicely tailored to Mr. Powell's graceful measure. With half a chance, it would be precisely the sort of thing he does best. That it marks the attainment of no new heights for the familiar Powell histrionics is due less to any shortcoming of his own than to the dramaturgic defects already pointed out.

Of the two leading women by whom Mr. Powell is beset, Carole Lombard is pictorially preeminent; Wynne Gibson, dramatically. Miss Lombard in this picture effectively combines the beauty of feature of Constance Bennett and Josephine Dunn with Kay Francis' voice. Miss Gibson, on the other hand, brings a strong individuality to the role of Irene and in her first picture—so far as I am aware—gives tangible promise of noteworthy future accomplishment.

Lawrence Grey, as Mary Kendall's fiance—until Mr. Trevor tipped over his apple stand—and Guy Kibbee, as the thirsty playboy, Taylor, lead the support in roles that carry as little conviction as possible. George Chandler is Fred, the guide to Paris and destruction, and plays the part effectively enough out of the corner of his mouth. An authentic Parisian atmosphere is skillfully maintained.

The major auxiliary attraction is another of Johnny Farrell's Golf Reels, "Under Par," in which proper stance, grip and stroke are successively taken up with a view to really improving the duffer's game. It was filmed on picturesque links in St. Augustine, Fla.

FOX

"MEN ON CALL." A Fox picturization of a story by James K. McGuiness, with dialogue by the author, starring Edmund Lowe, supported by Mae Clark, Sharon Lynn and Warren Hymer. Directed by John Blystone. Reviewed Friday night by W. A. Whitney.

Ever since the unforgettable team of Victor McLaglen and Edmund Lowe was dissolved, Mr. Lowe has continually increased his prestige as an actor of parts. "Men on Call," while not possessing the dramatic content of some of his previous offerings, does serve to help Mr. Lowe in his steady climb to higher and greater stellar honors.

Love and masculine obstinacy are the dominant factors in this entertaining drama, opening in a locomotive cab and continuing in the Coast Guard. Against a background of waves breaking high on a rock-bound coast, whose scenic effects are by no means soon to be forgotten, Mr. Lowe and Mae Clark are finally reconciled after their romance has been broken up by the intrusion of the pernicious tabloids.

Supporting the leads in an admirable manner are Warren Hymer, William Harrigon, Sharon Lynn and George Cochran.

Easily the high light on a brilliantly studded program is the George Washington University Glee Club, as fine a group of male singers as has graced a Washington stage. The program, accompanied by the Fox Orchestra, under the direction of Maestro Leon Brusiloff, opens with the immortal "Pilgrims' Chorus" from Wagner's "Tannhauser," followed by Brahms' ever-delightful "Lullaby." But, until the third number you really "ain't heard nothing yet!" And the way the club hits "Ol' Man River"—well, it has yet to be sung better! For a justly deserved encore, the club renders their alma mater's spirited "Hail to the Buff and Blue."

What could be more appropriate, with the cherry blossoms bursting into their full glory and the forthcoming visit of their imperial highnesses, Prince and Princess Takamatsu, than Fanchon and Marco's "Enchantment" idea? So against a picturesque proscenium, the grace, charm and agility of the Orient passes in review. To list the artists without regard to merit, Jue Fong sings "M'Appari," from Flotow's "Martha," and the lilting "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling;" the Three Meyakos are a clever singing and dancing team; Togo, who slides on the tight rope from the balcony to the stage, has the audience gasping; Jack Lester is a de luxe tapper, and Sanami and company, present an exotic four-armed Buddha number, which still retains its weird fascination.

The Sunkist Beauties have several delightful routines, of which two deserve especial mention. The mirror number is unusually well executed and the illusion of the looking-glass is beautifully built up and maintained. The merit of the other outstanding contribution lies in the optical illusion created through the clever use of colored flood lights.

Completing the bill that will run through Monday only, are Bob Hamilton's organlogue of "Songs Optimistic," the current release of John Hix's Washington Post feature, "Strange As It Seems," done in color, and an issue of the Fox Movietone News.

ARLINGTON WOMAN WINS HIGHWAY SUIT

Mrs. VanEvery's Land Must Be Paid For if Used for Lee Boulevard.

After hearing arguments of counsel in the Virginia M. VanEvery injunction suit against the State Highway Commission at the Arlington County Courthouse, lasting for more than four hours yesterday, Judge Walter T. McCarthy decided in favor of Mrs. VanEvery by dismissing the crossbill filed by the State Highway Commission.

Mrs. VanEvery was represented by Attorneys Emery N. Hosmer, of Arlington County, and Thomas H. Patterson, of Washington.

Held Contract Valid.

Attorneys Charles Pickett and F. Shields McCandlish, of Fairfax County, for the State Highway Commission, contended that an alleged option granted by the late E. B. VanEvery and Virginia VanEvery to the Lee Highway Association, Inc., on December 30, 1925, and subsequently assigned to the State of Virginia, was a valid and binding contract which should be enforced. The effect of sustaining this contention would have been to take approximately four and one-half acres of Mrs. VanEvery's land without compensation for the purpose of a right of way for the Lee boulevard.

The defense presented by counsel on behalf of Mrs. VanEvery, attacked the option contract on the grounds of lack of consideration, unfairness, failure to perform conditions of the option and the fact that the option provided no time within which the same might possibly be exercised, which violated the rule against perpetuities.

Effect of Decision.

The effect of this decision is to require condemnation proceedings by the State of Virginia of the land involved and the ultimate payment and compensation for the land taken.

It is understood that a stipulation will be entered into between counsel for Mrs. VanEvery and F. Shields McCandlish and Charles Pickett, representing the State Highway Commission, to the effect that a condemnation suit will be immediately filed, the payment of any sum determined to be the value of the land taken to be held up subject to the filing of an appeal within 90 days and the ultimate determination of the appeal. This stipulation will be made so that work on the Lee boulevard may progress without unnecessary delay.

The case having attracted the interest of a large number of members of the Arlington County Bar Association, the courtroom was well filled with attorneys, who listened with much interest to the arguments presented by counsel for both the plaintiff and the defendant.

The Clarendon Lodge, No. 1315, Loyal Order of Moose, have elected the following officers for the year: Past dictator, Myer Black; dictator, Ralph F. Beatty; prelate, Elmer W. Booth; secretary, L. S. Whitehouse; treasurer, Joseph D. McDonnell; trustees, Frank Fearson, Peter H. Strake and Philip F. Marstellar; representative to the supreme lodge, L. S. Whitehouse; alternate, Philip F. Marstellar.

The records in the office of County Clerk William H. Duncan show that the State Corporation Commission has granted a charter to the Manor Realty Corporation, with principal offices at Clarendon.

The maximum capital stock is placed at $50,000, with the minimum at $10,000.

The officers are Frank G. Campbell, president; W. Elmer Van Duesen, vice president, and Harry B. Ellis, secretary-treasurer.

More than 200 persons last night attended the benefit supper given under the auspices of the Parent-Teacher Association of the Cherrydale School, in the auditorium of the Firemen's Hall.

The proceeds will be applied to the school library fund.

Farmer's Body Found; Note Indicates Suicide

Hillsboro, Va., April 10.—Carroll H. Goode, 33, tenant farmer living with his mother and three brothers on the farm of Dr. W. H. Grubb, near Hillsboro, was found in the barn on the Grubb farm this morning dead with a gunshot wound in his forehead.

A brother discovered the body with a shotgun by the side of it when he went to milk. Goode's health had been bad and he left a note attributing his act to this cause.

FALLS CHURCH VOTE FAVORS BOND ISSUE

Proposal to Get Water System Is Approved by 247 to 11.

The qualified voters of the town of Falls Church, at a special election held yesterday, voted almost unanimously for a $125,000 bond issue for the installation of a municipal water system. The vote was 247 in favor of the issue, and 11 against, with 1 ballot marked void. The judges were Councilman Charles E. Gage and J. B. Turner, and Town Clerk J. C. Parrott.

The bond issue will be excluded from the 18 per cent limit of the town's real property valuation, which is fixed by the State law.

This is the third election held on this question this year. The first was declared invalid because 50 per cent of the total number of resident property freeholders did not participate. The next, in which the resident freehold property owners participated, was held February 26, when 359 votes were cast in favor of the issue and only 10 against.

It was stated last night that inasmuch as the regular meeting of the town council will be held Monday evening, it is expected that the council will authorize the work of making permanent plans and the installation of the system immediately. It is understood that the McCrary Construction Co., of Atlanta, Ga., has been the successful bidder for the installation of the system within the corporate limits of the town.

The Fairfax County electoral board has organized with Benjamin B. Iden, of Andrew Chapel, chairman, and Benjamin F. Nevitt, of Newington, clerk. George B. Bready, of Herndon, is the other member.

Mrs. W. H. McGuffey will be the soloist this afternoon on the radio program over station WJSV at Mount Vernon Hills, sponsored by the Parent Teachers Association, of Falls Church. Mrs. James W. Brown will act as accompanist.

Woman Hurls Self In Front of Engine

Mother Is Severely Hurt as Son Tries to Dissuade Her From Purpose.

Danville, Va., April 10.—Mrs. Nathan Land, aged 54, is in Memorial Hospital this evening suffering from severe injuries, suffered, according to members of her family, when she threw herself in front of a Southern Railway switch engine in the local yards.

She had an injury of the head and cuts and contusions all over her body, Dr. E. Howe Miller said.

According to her son, James Land, aged 17, his mother expressed a determination to throw herself in the river, and he sought to dissuade her, but was warned away with a razor. Land then ran to Wade Dove, a switchman, to ask his aid, when his mother crossed the tracks. As the engine approached she threw herself in its path.

Engineer Brown, of Spencer, N. C., succeeded in stopping the engine, but not before it had struck the woman and dragged her a short distance. The wheels did not reach her and she was taken in an ambulance to a hospital. Relatives said that Mrs. Land's health had been bad recently.

Court Denies Retrial In Jones' Conviction

Richmond, Va., April 10 (A.P.).—The Supreme Court of Appeals today refused a petition for a rehearing of its denial of a writ of error in the case of James J. Jones, member of the State House of Delegates, convicted of embezzling funds of the Virginia Methodist Orphanage while serving as treasurer. Jones is sentenced to serve five years in the penitentiary.

By its action in refusing a rehearing today, the Supreme Court ends the Jones case in so far as State courts are concerned.

Post-Zain Amateur Contest Also Has $9,000 More for Its Winners.

What could you do with $1,000, unexpectedly placed in your lap?

Or rather, what couldn't you do? There's the old car that might be turned in for a new one; that last payment you might make on your home; or the sea trip you've been planning to take if you ever saved up enough money.

A thousand dollars is a lot of money, when you stop to think about it, and we can think of a thousand ways we might use it, but we are not eligible to receive prizes in the Post-Zain Ad-Writing Contest. You are.

And even if you don't win the $1,000 grand award for the best amateur ad sent in during the seven weeks of the contest, there is $9,000 more in cash and merchandise to be distributed in weekly prizes. And you don't have to write the best ad to share in these.

Easy to Enter Contest.

So get into the contest now. It is early yet, and not even the first week's winners have been passed on. They won't be until next Thursday, when expert advertising men meet to judge the early entries. Wednesday midnight is the deadline for the first week's ad copy.

It is not difficult to write an ad. The sooner you find out how simple it is, and how much fun, the sooner you are going to become a Post-Zain fan.

In writing your ads, consider first the outstanding facts about the concerns you have chosen to advertise. How long, for example, has the firm been in business? What are their policies? What is the quality of their merchandise, and what is their price range? What is their attitude on service and courtesy? What medium of advertising would suit their purposes best?

How to Compete.

Think of these things, then try a sample ad. You will be surprised how easy they come. Write the name of the company you are advertising in the upper left hand corner of a piece of paper about twice the size of a post card. Write your ads, one on each sheet of paper, lower down on the sheet. On the reverse side, and on the envelope, write your name and address.

You should thoroughly familiarize yourself with the rules of the contest, and the names of the 35 advertisers cooperating with us. Both lists daily appear elsewhere in The Post.

You are not limited in the number of ads you may submit, or the number of prizes you can win. Nor is the contest exclusively for Washingtonians. Anybody anywhere can compete.

Five More Suggestions Made.

We are making five more advertising suggestions today, names chosen at random from the list of 35 Washington firms collaborating with The Post in its contest.

If you have a taste for pastries, done up in the best French style, you know of Avignone Freres and you know of their shops at 1777 Columbia road and 5612 Connecticut avenue. There you will also find ice cream of an unusual richness, the finest of candies, and the makings of a mighty good Post-Zain amateur ad.

There is a time when all have need for the last offices of the mortician, whether it be some one in our immediate family or a very dear friend, who is taken away. When that time comes, the Deal Funeral Home, Inc., 816 H street northwest, will answer all your needs. A dignified amateur ad might be written about Deal's "complete funeral service."

Furniture Offers Good Chance.

If you are planning to set up in housekeeping for the first time, or need to replace some of those fine old pieces in your home, there is P. J. Nee Co., furniture dealers, at Seventh and H streets northwest, to consult. You might write an ad about the tasteful and harmonious showing of furniture featured by the Nee Co. Members of their sales staff will gladly take you through their store and show you all the latest designs in home furnishings.

Edgar Morris is featuring a sale of Westinghouse refrigerators at his store at 736 Thirteenth street northwest. He is one of our 35 cooperating advertisers. If you are planning to write an ad on electric refrigeration, it would not be a bad idea to talk with members of his staff about the advantages of the Westinghouse.

Have you tried an ad yet on United Food Stores? There is one of these retail grocers in your neighborhood. Call at one and you will find that they live up to the standard set in their slogan—"Washington's Finest Food Stores."

RULES FOR CONTEST

1—$10,000 in prizes to be distributed over seven weeks of amateur ad writing.

2—$1,000 in cash will be given for the best ad written by an amateur during the entire Post-Zain ad-writing campaign. To compete for this prize it will be necessary for contestants to write at least one ad about each of the 35 firms participating in the ad contest.

3—Grand weekly award of $100 will be given each week for the best ads during six periods of the ad-writing contest.

4—Five merchandise prizes for each of the 35 concerns will be given weekly during six weeks of the campaign.

5—Ads for the first week of the Post-Zain ad-writing campaign must be received prior to noon, Wednesday, April 15.

6—Ads submitted in competition for the grand award of $1,000 must be received prior to midnight, May 27.

7—Any one anywhere may compete for the prizes with the exception of newspaper employes and members of the advertising profession.

8—There are no obligations. No coupons to clip, no entrance fees to pay, no subscriptions to buy. One person may submit as many ads as he chooses. The more ads you write, the more prizes you may receive. The Post-Zain ad-writing contest may be entered at any time. Ads may be written about one or all concerns.

9—Write your ideas on one side only of a sheet of paper at least twice the size of a postcard. Place the name of the concern about which you are writing in the upper left-hand corner of the page. Place your own name and address, also telephone number, on the reverse of the advertisement and the envelope. Your contribution may be a slogan, a poem, a regular advertisement, a letter of testimonial, or an essay.

10—Winning advertisements will be selected by a committee of advertising experts. In the event of a tie, awards will be made to both.

11—All advertisements received become the property of the concerns about which they are written.

Ad-Writing Suggestions.

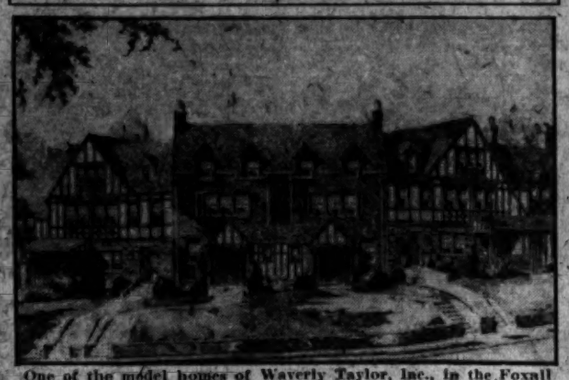

Prizes are given for ideas, not for grammar, spelling, punctuation, art work or layout.

Your ideas are likely to be new and original; your idea may win one or more prizes.

If you are not familiar with the advertisers about whom you are asked to write ads, study their service and merchandise; visit their stores, ask questions, and then jot down your ideas simply. Be brief and to the point.

If you can write a letter, you can write an ad. Get members of your family and your friends interested. Encourage them to write winning ads.

MATERIAL FOR AD CONTEST HERE

One of the model houses of Waverly Taylor, Inc., in the Foxall development, at 4400 Volta place northwest, where you might get material for a Post-Zain Ad on this well-known real estate firm. Representatives of Waverly Taylor, Inc., will be at the house every day to explain to you details of our amateur ad writing contest.

MORE NURSES URGED BY HEALTH REPORT

Survey Suggests Increasing Service in Various Disease Treatments.

The report of the Health and Hospital Survey of Washington, made public last night, declares that Washington does not have a sufficient number of public health nurses, and that their number should be increased in the fields of communicable diseases, tuberculosis service and venereal disease service.

This finding was included in the second report of the public health nursing investigation, and will be completed for publication Monday by the committee on interpretation of the health committee of the Council of Social Agencies.

Recommendations carried in the report were that the number of nurses be increased, that increased emphasis be laid on health education, particularly regarding measles and whooping cough; that greater use be made of the public nurses for actual care, and definite methods of referring and reporting be worked out and that the nursing service be more closely correlated with that of the venereal disease and tuberculosis service under a director of nurses.

Several other recommendations covering child health and health education in the schools were also included in the report, which will be given to District civic and school authorities and others interested for a thorough study of existing conditions.

Churchill Scores Moves to Disarm

Son of British Statesman Attacks Kellogg Pact and League.

A scathing attack on the Kellogg pact, the League of Nations, and all international disarmament policies, yesterday was delivered by Randolph Churchill, youthful son of Winston Churchill, British statesman, at a luncheon of the Barristers Club at the Cosmos Club.

Young Churchill, in a versatile address that intermixed humor and logic, denounced the peace pact promulgated by former Secretary of State Kellogg as a mere gesture. The youthful orator advocated larger navies as the most effective means of preserving peace.

He pointed out that both Great Britain and the United States have always used their navies for this purpose rather than for aggrandizement. Churchill, generally regarded as the spokesman for the younger British element, was introduced to the club by Robert F. Cogswell, chairman of the Barristers luncheon committee, who presided.

New York, April 10 (A.P.).—The butterfly life of Vivian Gordon, slain Broadway playgirl, netted her just a pitiful $200, it was revealed today when application was made to Surrogate James A. Foley for letters of administration in her estate.

Instead of $100,000, which the "white light" district had taken for granted as the minimum of her profits, Public Administrator James F. Egan, in asking the letters, revealed she had no real estate whatever, and that the personal property she was known to have left would not exceed $200 in value.

What happened to the many thousands of dollars the strangled beauty was believed to have extracted from the willing or unwilling wallets of her wealthy admirers became, with the filing of Egan's affidavit, almost as much of a mystery as her tragic death 43 days ago.

Paris, April 10 (A.P.).—The Portuguese legation here announced tonight that because of the rebellion in Madeira the Portuguese official journal has published a decree declaring the ports of the Madeira Archipelago would be closed to all navigation and commerce. Communications between the inhabitants and exterior points also are prohibited.

Exceptions will be made, the statement said, in cases considered necessary by the Government, such as entry of ships in distress or departure of ships evacuating foreign subjects.

The decree prescribes summary judgment, by tribunals aboard Portuguese ships engaged in military operations, of all violations of the order. It also provides special penalties for those engaged in traffic of arms and ammunitions.

ATTORNEY TAXIES TO COURT IN PLANE

Grove Line Company Loses Montgomery County Damage Suit.

Trial of the suit of Ralph Beasley, colored, against the M. J. Grove Lime Co. for damages resulting from an accident last summer, started off as a prosaic affair, but before it was finished it became almost unique in the annals of Montgomery County.

In the first place, Secretary of State David C. Winebrenner 3d, of Maryland, probably became the first lawyer in Maryland to journey to and from his trial court via airplane, and in the second place, the trial nearly brought a petit juror to grief and resulted in the dismissal of the jury which was trying it. The trial was continued before the court, however.

Mr. Winebrenner flew to Congressional Airport, just outside of Rockville, from Annapolis, on both days of the trial in an airplane. He made the trip in nineteen minutes.

In the course of the trial Wednesday, according to information given Judge Robert B. Peter yesterday, a petit juror not on the panel hearing the case, overheard Mr. Winebrenner offer to compromise the case for the lime company for a sum which he believed fair. This juror remarked on the matter to a member of the panel trying the case yesterday and was overheard by Stedman Prescott, associated with Mr. Winebrenner as counsel for defense.

He informed Judge Peter who called the offending juror, William H. Thompson, of Silver Spring, who was a candidate for county commissioner in the last election, before him. Mr. Thompson admitted having told the juror trying the case of the attempted compromise, but declared that he had done so innocently. He was severely censured by Judge Peter who ordered the jury dismissed. The trial would have been held over until next term had not counsel for both sides agreed on trial by the court.

Judge Peter yesterday found for Beasley, who was represented by Attorney Albert M. Bouic, of Rockville, in the sum of $250. Beasley had held that the construction company was negligent in failing to provide a lantern for a cable stretched across the Olney-Laytonsville road while it was being repaired last summer.

GOLD-RUSH PIONEER DIES AT HOME HERE

One of the last pioneers of the gold rush to the Black Hills, George M. Rose, died yesterday morning at the home of his son-in-law, the Rev. Dr. John C. Palmer, 1748 Euclid street northwest. Mr. Rose was 83 years of age and for a year or more had been in delicate health, following a severe operation.

The funeral service will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the residence of Dr. Palmer. Next week the family will take the remains to California for interment by the side of Mrs. Rose, who died there four years ago and is buried in Long Beach.

Mr. Rose was a native of Providence, R. I. When gold was discovered in the Black Hills he was among the first of those who went there and was an original settler in Deadwood. For twenty years he lived there, engaging in gold and tin mining, after which he transferred his operations to California, operating in the gold fields at Rand.

With four other miners he entered the Nevada desert and established the town of Searchlight, which soon became one of the most populous mining towns in the West.

In comfortable circumstances, he retired in 1908, buying an orange orchard at Highland and living there a delightful life until 1927, when Mrs. Rose died. Since then he has resided with his only child, Mrs. Palmer, in this city.

Besides Mrs. Palmer, two grandchildren, Miss Louise Rose Palmer and John Palmer, survive him.

WINNERS OF ESSAY CONTEST FACE TEST

Examination Set for Today; Finals Next Week Will Select Envoys.

school, as the representatives of their school and schoolmates through the judging of an essay, "The Typical American Girl," by the girls, and "The Typical American Boy," by the boys.

The teachers who graded the papers also rated the students on school citizenship, manifest intelligence, apparent physical condition, personality and qualities of leadership. Each of these winners, regardless of the outcome of today's test, will receive the "Old Glory" medal of the United States Flag Association, carrying with it life membership in the Order of the Flag.

The test today consists of a written examination this morning on the history of the United States, its ideals and institutions, and on the United States Flag, and an oral quiz this afternoon on questions designed to show the general knowledge and intelligence of the contestant. Through today's test will be selected six boys and six girls who will compete in the final test next Saturday, at which two "Envoys of Friendship" to represent the schools of Washington on the good will trip to London and Paris, will be selected.

Two alternates will also be selected and will receive the Patriotic Service Medal, the second highest honor of the United States Flag Association, while the winners will receive the Cross of Honor, the same decoration bestowed on Col. Charles A. Lindbergh on the occasion of his return from his historic flight to Paris.

The two final winners will be members of a party of 63 boys and girls, forming a "living flag," who will go to London and Paris as "Envoys of Friendship" to the children of these two countries, holding good will mass meetings with the children in both cities and building up friendships with the future rulers of those lands to the end that rational patriotism may prevail in the future, sending causes of dispute to the conference table rather than to the battlefield for adjustment. The European trip will be preceded by a patriotic pilgrimage to historic American spots.

Award of the "Old Glory" medals to the students who take part in the preliminary test today will be deferred until the final test next Saturday, so that they may have a part in the finals, receiving their medals at the same time the others are awarded.

SECRETARY DOAK'S BIG JOB.

Secretary Doak is to be commended for his strenuous efforts to rid the country of undesirable aliens. His recent survey brought forth an estimate that 400,000 aliens are unlawfully in the United States, many of them depriving American citizens of work and others living by crime. One group is doing everything in its power to stir up agitation and violence during this period of unrest. If Secretary Doak can rid the country of these parasites he will perform a national service.

It is distressing to realize that even with concentrated efforts it will take years to clear out the aliens who have been smuggled into the United States. Secretary Doak hopes to deport 20,000 this year, but more than that number will be smuggled in as seamen. The work of deportation costs enormous sums. While aliens are being rounded up by immigration officers, convicted in court and returned to their native lands hundreds of others are sneaking across the border, deserting ships or flying by airplane into the interior. Unless they happen to be caught in five years they may remain in the United States as residents. Several hundred thousand aliens who have smuggled their way in are now immune to the deportation law because they have evaded immigration officers for the requisite number of years.

Secretary Doak's present campaign will be a test of the deportation law. It remains to be seen whether the Government can ship undesirables out faster than they make their way in. If the deportation law is not drastic enough to protect the interests of American workingmen a change will be demanded. The depression has made the public aware of the necessity for strict supervision. It is useless to put harsh restrictions upon immigration if undesirable aliens may obtain the right to live here by evading the law.

It may be necessary to back up Secretary Doak's campaign with a law requiring the registration of all aliens. If such a law had been in existence much of the confusion and expense and considerable unemployment might have been avoided. Alien registration will be demanded unless the current program of deportation brings about more satisfactory conditions.

INDIVIDUAL CRIME.

Investigators of crime are in the habit of blaming the growth of lawlessness in this country to organized racketeers. Gangsters have made crime spectacular. Their exploits are widely advertised. Lawlessness, linked with political corruption, creates scandals which are heard throughout the country. The public comes to believe that the whole problem of fighting crime is to rid the country of racketeers.

Statistics from many sources indicate that this opinion is erroneous. Figures compiled for the Spectator by Frederick L. Hoffman are enlightening in this respect. Not one of the great racket-infested centers is among the list of cities with the highest homicide rates. Memphis, Tenn., leads the list, with Atlanta, Ga., a close second. These cities had about four times as many murders per 100,000 population in 1930 as did Chicago. The rate is particularly high in Southern cities. Augusta, Ga., Birmingham, Ala., Jacksonville, Fla., Lexington, Ky., Macon, Ga., Miami, Fla., Mobile, Ala., Nashville, Tenn., Savannah, Ga., and Shreveport, La., all had homicide rates of more than 30 per 100,000. The rate for 31 leading American cities during the same year was only 10.9. It is a very serious error, says Mr. Hoffman, to assume that these crimes of violence against the person are chiefly of gangster origin.

With the exception of Chicago and Detroit, the homicide rate in the larger cities is considerably below the average. What is still more surprising is that murder seems to be increasing in smaller cities faster than it is in big cities. Apparently criminologists will have to probe a little deeper than the organized rackets to get to the bottom of American lawlessness. The homicide rate is higher than that of any other civilized country. Murder is still on the increase, while the number of convictions steadily diminishes.

The menace of organized crime should not, of course, be treated lightly. But it seems evident that gang organization is only an outgrowth of modern tendencies to consolidate, and that the roots of crime extend down below the group to the individual. There is much evidence that in fighting criminal "machines" individual offenders are neglected. The result is ineffective law enforcement. Organized lawlessness ought not to divert attention from the fundamental causes which give rise to murder and rapine. The startling prevalence of crime beyond the pale of organized gangs should inspire criminologists to probe deeper into the deficiencies of the modern social structure.

DEBT PROPAGANDA.

Internationalists in both this country and Great Britain have seized upon the visit to Washington of Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England, as an occasion for renewing their propaganda for cancellation of Europe's war debts. Mr. Norman is represented as having made an urgent plea to President Hoover for modification of the American attitude, which doubtless is mere fiction. The British government is well informed as to the attitude of the United States on this question.

Only one argument is heard in favor of cancelling these debts. Europe is said to be paying so much to this country that it can not carry on normal trade relations. If the war debts were canceled, the international bankers say, trade would increase and the economic recovery of both Europe and America would be hastened. This one thought is so pleasing that they do not bother about facts to support it.

If those who are afflicted with cancellitis would only take a glimpse at international trade statistics, they would see that American foreign commerce is about two and a half times as great as it was before these debts were created. Not all of this increase comes from Europe, but figures show that exports and imports from Europe increased about 75 per cent during the fifteen years from the beginning of the war to 1929. There has been a temporary slackening because of the depression, but that can not be truthfully attributed to war debts.

It is especially annoying to Americans to be subjected to propaganda for debt cancellation when the Government is facing a huge deficit and an increase in the public debt is in prospect. Europe is paying this country only a pittance in comparison with what American taxpayers furnish every year for payment on the war debt. It would be madness to ask them to shoulder an additional burden at a time when higher taxes are impending.

WOMEN DISAGREE, TOO.

The entry of women into politics and public life has demonstrated conclusively that one of the prerogatives they propose to exercise as fully as their brothers is the right to disagree, not only with them, but among themselves. Their differences of opinion are based on the same principles and issues as those which divide the male population. The moral influence of women's votes undoubtedly is very great today, and is growing stronger with educational work and organization.

The Capital is to have a demonstration of divided feminine opinion. This week there is in session here the Women's National Committee for Law Enforcement. The members will present to the President and other Federal officials a report characterized as a supplement to the Wickersham findings on prohibition. This report will consist of 22 separate studies on various phases of the question, all pointing out the advantages that have been derived and that may be secured from the eighteenth amendment. At a luncheon to be held today 21 members of the committee will each give a brief radio talk.

Next week the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform will hold its sessions here to present the other side of the picture. Equally prominent and earnest women will point out the evils which they believe have resulted from present laws. Doubtless this group will make use of the argument presented by the action of a large body of the women of Finland, who have just presented to the authorities of that country a petition signed by 100,000 women asking for the repeal of the Finnish prohibition laws. The signers of the petition declare themselves to be the "advocates of true temperance." These women express alarm for the fate of succeeding generations because of what they claim to be a general spread of drunkenness in Finland under the present dry laws. "We feel ourselves powerless," these women say in their petition, "while prohibition, with its destructive moral consequences exists, instead of a sensible law for controlling consumption of alcohol under which it would be possible to begin truly effective temperance work."

NEW YORK'S POWER SCHEME.

New York's Legislature has enacted a bill providing for the development of water power on the St. Lawrence River by a State agency. The measure is attracting widespread interest because it is closely connected with the proposed St. Lawrence Seaway which is under discussion by the Federal Government and Canada, and because it puts into effect Gov. Roosevelt's views on power. The governor's position on this issue may figure prominently in the next presidential campaign.

Like his predecessor, Gov. Smith, Mr. Roosevelt has stood firmly for State development of power resources. He went a step farther than Gov. Smith, however, by advocating the distribution of power by the State as well as its generation. In other words, he wants to put the State of New York into the power business on much the same basis that Senator Norris would have the Federal Government compete with private enterprise at Muscle Shoals.

The bill passed by the Legislature would create a power authority for the purpose of constructing and operating a dam and power plants. This body would also be authorized to negotiate with the Federal Government to coordinate this development with the proposed St. Lawrence Canal, and to make contracts for the transmission of power to the consuming public. If the power authority is unable to secure suitable contracts for the distribution of power it must report to the Legislature a plan for construction of State transmission lines.

The Legislature defeated a Republican amendment to the bill which would have named the members of the St. Lawrence investigating commission as trustees of the power authority. Gov. Roosevelt opposed the amendment because it was an encroachment upon his appointive power and because the investigation commission had found it inadvisable for the State to go into the business of distributing power in competition with private enterprise. Gov. Roosevelt has never been in sympathy with that decision of his own commission. Republican members of the Legislature fear that he will appoint trustees who will be certain to disagree on the awarding of power contracts, so that distribution of electrical energy by the State will appear to be necessary. The governor was also given veto power over any contract which the power authority may decide upon. He holds the trump card and may be expected to play it. The developments in this project during the next year will be replete with political interest.

ANOTHER RED DISCOVERY.

A Communist sleuth employed in this country by the official organ of the Communist party in Russia has unearthed an invidious plot to make war on the Soviet Union. President Hoover and Alexander Legge, former chairman of the Federal Farm Board, are accused of conspiring with the French general staff to invade Russia and overthrow the Soviet.

This entire country, it seems, has been deceived. Gullible Americans supposed that the Farm Board was set up to stabilize agriculture. But no! The Farm Board has bought wheat and cotton by the millions of tons, Moscow's brilliant correspondent has discovered, to feed and clothe an army of invasion. An ideal commissariat supply has been assembled on the Atlantic Coast, ready for shipment to an anti-Soviet army being assembled in Europe.

Fortunately for the peace of the world, Soviet patriots exposed the French plot during the recent trial of counter-revolutionary engineers in Moscow. Humbly the engineers revealed their conspiracy to have the French army march against the red dictatorship. But the devilish plot on the part of the United States to support that army with food and raiment had not been exposed until Pravda's own Sherlock Holmes uncovered it for his paper.

This piece of propaganda is on the same plane as the farcicial trials of counter-revolutionists in Moscow, and for the same purpose. The red dictators must imbue the ignorant peasants with hatred for the rest of the world. Stalin's henchmen stoop to lying as well as duplicity to hold the Russian masses under the heel of communism. The absurdity of this propaganda may pass over the heads of Russia's ignorant millions, but it certainly exposes the reds for what they are to the rest of the world.

Mayor Cermak's first action was to fire 2,200 city employes who are not needed. Well now, if he is going to take his job that seriously, a few other American cities may be after Tony's services.

Radio music, says Mayor Bacharach of Atlantic City, has charms to soothe the savage breast. That's one of the most truthful things that's ever been said about it.

First thing we know the Moscovites will be trying President Hoover for sabotage.

THE LION TAMER

From the New York Times.

This business of lion taming has its ups and downs, just like the more insurable occupations, Clyde Beatty said yesterday. Sometimes, when animals are springing on their trainers from all sides, it has its obvious drawbacks. Then, when the cats are softly purring and everything is running along smoothly, it is rather entertaining. It is always good for excitement, however, for you never know.

Mr. Beatty, who performs with 28 lions and tigers in one of the stronger cages of the circus, got his start at the Cincinnati Zoo. He just liked animals, so he spent weeks watching them. Actively, he began as a boy with horses and when those grew tame he took up bears. When they palled a little he tried lions. Finally, when just going around with some half a dozen lions began to bore him, he mixed them with tigers. He has no complaints now.

He trains them one by one. First a lion is put alone into the cage. Mr. Beatty comes along every now and then for a little chat just to familiarize his pet with its new surroundings. When it seems accustomed to this he goes into the cage and with a whip, which makes a noise but does not hurt, begins putting them through their paces. Gradually the novice fits in with the other members of the troupe. It can be done in a month, although a little longer is better.

Once in the cage with his charges the afternoon's entertainment is up to him. He carries two pistols, but the cartridges are blanks. If he shot a bullet he might miss and hit a spectator. He would have to be a crack shot, anyhow, and, without any time to aim, such a conclusion would be practically impossible. A four-legged chair, bolted together, is his best weapon, as the prongs jab into the attacking animal. The whip, with its sharp reports, is just to keep his friends' attention on him.

Mr. Beatty denied that he never was frightened. He agreed that you can not trust a "cat;" it might seem all right for years and then one day suddenly jump. He does not feed them himself, considering that a waste of time, and he does not talk to them. He whistles sometimes, but that does not mean much, either. He thinks lions and tigers are about equally hard, or easy, to train, and that the latter stay trained longer and better.

He does not let many of them get behind him at any time, and he watches them as much as he can from the corner of his eye. The most dangerous moment in the act is when the big tiger is slowly walking toward him, crouched. It would be so easy to spring then, a thing that has happened occasionally. Sometimes the animals have their bad days, and the routine is difficult then. They become stubborn, and sometimes just refuse to go on. He coaxes them into it.

He has had his adventures. Last summer the big tiger jumped on him and had him down. Suddenly Nero, the lion, leaped from his perch onto the tiger. While the two animals were battling Mr. Beatty escaped from the cage. He said Nero was not actuated by love of him, or even by admiration.

"The lion just didn't like the tiger," he explained.

"Prices, however, were not mentioned."—Associated Press report of oil restriction meeting. Leave that to old man Supply and Demand.

"And I supported you at the New York convention in '24!" says Mr. Shouse's scathing answer to Mr. McAdoo's refusal to serve on the California reception committee.

Now, if this "seasonal improvement" can just be seasoned so it will last through the summer a permanent merger with fall rise can be arranged.

If the orators will quit protesting that there is "nothing fundamentally wrong" with this country the people will know that the worst is over.

Tomorrow King Alfonso will get word from the polls as to whether or not he will have to become a barracks resident like his Lisbon neighbor.

As it now appears, however, Congress may be organized, three parties and one President can each block anything that the others want to do.

An oil conference under Government sponsorship that considers only the producers and ignores the interests of the consumers is unique in American business parleys.

Bad news from the West—the favorable winter will result in more wheat this year than last. Can't you eat more bread?

Cheerful information yesterday was the report of a bank bandit killed and not even one innocent bystander shot.

A gentleman, a scholar, a fair fighter, a generous friend, a good fellow—it is not often that so many spontaneous tributes are ascribed to one man as to the truly lamented "Nick" Longworth.

Radio now calls for some aspiring Marconi to perfect an S O S call that will automatically take precedence without interference.

"I shall not be drawn into altercations with Democrats anywhere," says Mr. Shouse. There was method in his departure for the West instead of going South.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

THE STRUGGLE.

Not in the goal attained or task complete
Or in the glittering prize
Contentment lies,
But in the struggle and the battle heat,
The pressing onward against sure defeat,
The matching wit with wit,
Hitting and being hit.

Men long to rest, but resting long to fight.
Men stand to pain
An end to gain,
But only the very old can take delight
From comfort, never broken day or night.
Victors are fain
To risk defeat again.

Contentment's in the doubting and the deed,
Not in the triumph won
But in the keeping on,
'Tis in the hurt of open wounds which bleed,
The turmoil and the planning to succeed.
Once rested, man would go
New pains to know.

The long pursuit, the scheming and the fears,
The need for skill
And strength of will
And all the hardships of the building years,
Take on true glory, when their end appears.
Men at their tranquil time

Another Letter From a Bald-Headed Dad to His Flapper Daughter.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

MY dear Louise: If you wish to join basket ball and tennis teams and win laurels as an athlete I won't interfere. Such sports probably won't do you any harm, but I assure you they won't do you any good.

If you were dangerously fat or soft as a result of too little activity a little more exercise might improve your figure and prolong your days, but you are slender and sound and bubbling over with vitality and I see no reason to change the system that made you that way.

The activities that are natural to a girl of your age give you all the exercise you need. You walk a great deal without realizing it; you climb stairs; you dance at times; you play a little tennis and swim during the summer. That's enough. If you were older it would be too much.

I want you to learn, while you still have your health, that the violent activity called exercise does more harm than good. If you will believe me you can lengthen your life by a decade or two.

Do you know that 18 per cent of the deaths in this country are caused by heart trouble? That wasn't true 50 years ago. Diseases of the heart become more common every year.

There must be a reasonable explanation. How are you going to find it? Well, when you see a new effect look for a new cause.

The doctors say part of it is due to the decrease in the infant mortality rate. More babies live to contract childhood's diseases and infectious maladies that impair the heart. The more freshmen make the grade the more seniors there are to flunk. Something like that.

But the greatest change in our national habits is the development of exercise. It has become a cure-all. Men who need rest take exercise. Tired hearts are whipped uphill in a foolish effort to recapture youth. And the net result is more business for the undertaker.

I believe more people die as a result of exercise than for lack of it. And I believe that every good derived from exercise could be obtained by lying still in the sunshine and fresh air.

The human heart is a tough little motor that will stand a lot of punishment, but it wasn't made to endure hours of strain.

Man is the only animal that exerts himself for the sake of the exertion. The others play while young, as nature requires, and then sensibly save their energy.

You will see drivers change gears to keep from "straining the motor." Surely, it isn't unreasonable to give your more valuable motor equal consideration. Love, DAD.

PRO AND CON

Roosevelt for President.

Detroit News.

A Roosevelt-for-President movement is given definite impetus by the action involving, with Gov. Roosevelt's alleged approval, the organization of a chain of pro-Roosevelt clubs. The New York representative in Democratic politics of the famous family, of course, takes the dignified position, above it all. But with or without his consent it enters him as a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1932.

The condition is a good one that the clubs continue on their professed nonpartisan basis. Thus the movement can represent more than the strategy of Democrats hoping to win national power and its rewards. As the months flow on until the Democratic national convention meets, this condition, if adhered to, can be a test of the Roosevelt strength among the people, regardless of party.

Broadly speaking, that was the way in which the Woodrow Wilson candidacy was given the impetus in 1911, which, in the 46-ballot Baltimore convention, finally nominated him in 1912 as the "progressive Democratic candidate." Why debate the sincerity of the present starting plan? If mere politics, it must be viewed as smart politics.

Hokum in Political Tags.

Detroit News.

No greater service could be performed for the cause of democracy than to give all citizens careful training in "tag" reading. It would enable them to realize that a lot of political capital is made out of cleverly worded labels.

Because a bill offered in Congress is called a "farm relief" measure is no indication that its passage would be of any benefit to the farmers. And because a proposed measure is labeled a "Federal employment service" bill proves nothing as to its possible efficacy in lessening unemployment.

And yet both of these "tags" are slated to play an important part in political affairs during the next campaign.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Birds Driven Away by Destruction of Their Nesting Places in Rock Creek Park.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I agree with the plan suggested by Alfred Sandboy to beautify the city parks so that they will attract the song birds and cause the songsters to nest in the parks.

Ten or fifteen years ago I used to spend a great deal of my time in the woods of Rock Creek, between the William Howard Taft Bridge and Massachusetts Avenue Bridge. In those days this section of Rock Creek was a bird paradise. The underbrush was quite dense, with many different types of climbing vines and brambles. This underbrush contained the nests of catbirds, brown thrashers, song sparrows, chewinks (the chewink builds its nest on the ground, but invariably beneath some underbrush), yellow-breasted chats, and both the yellow-billed and black-billed cuckoos. Some five of six years ago this section of Rock Creek between the two bridges was made into a park. The very first thing that the workmen did when work was started upon the park was to clear up all the thickets of honeysuckle and all the old briar patches.

I still love to roam in the woods, but I seldom visit this old haunt since it has been made to look too civilized and most of the birds have been driven away to look for favorable nesting places. I haven't seen a yellow-breasted chat or a Maryland yellow throat in the woods of Rock Creek for some years now. I think most of the birds that frequented the lower section of the Rock Creek woods drifted farther up the creek within the Zoological Park. This park has not as yet been denuded of its underbrush, and I hope that it never will, as it will mean that most of the song birds will be driven to the woods on the outskirts of the city and maybe even farther away. Most song birds, with the exception of the thrush, mocking bird and robin, do not like open spaces, but prefer thick woods or dense underbrush.

If civilization takes steps to remove what nature placed in the woods, that is, trees, vines, brambles, &c., the law of nature will force her creatures to flee from such denuded places. A. W. K.

Some Degree of Sovereignty Should Be Surrendered for Greater Safety to All, Is Writer's Theory.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: "A Veteran," who writes to The Post in favor of military training for young men, compares soldiers to policemen and firemen (although, it may be observed, our boys are not expected to learn to catch burglars or put out fires).

How can any one liken an army to a police force? Do the police of Washington drill in expectation of having to repel an attack by the police of Baltimore? Have the higher police officials in Baltimore worked out a plan for the capture of Philadelphia, and is the Philadelphia Police Department provided with anti-aircraft guns to bring down the Baltimore bombing planes? How about parity between the fleets of patrol wagons and of police boats possessed, respectively, by New York and by Chicago?

When Cleveland and other lake cities allied themselves in joint action against Chicago for, as they believed, lowering the level of the Great Lakes and damaging their shipping interests by drawing off water through a drainage canal, they did not, so far as I am aware, even consider using their police to enforce their demands by blockading the Chicago water front with police boats or dropping bombs on the canal.

If one tries to imagine fire companies acting like armies, the visions conjured up are too absurd for words.

City governments did once maintain armed forces for use against each other. They have outgrown that medieval custom, surrendering some degree of sovereignty for a great gain in safety. When will national governments modernize themselves?

KATHERINE WARD FISHER.

Parallel Parking Cuts Down Parking Space and Works Hardships Upon Motorists.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The abolition of angle parking in Washington seems to have done more harm than good. It certainly has not relieved the congestion caused by motorists looking for parking places. Those searching for such spaces usually encircle a block two or three times before giving up hope of finding a space. The only beneficial thing about parallel parking is that it increases the width of the streets by some 20-odd feet, but the streets in Washington that permitted angle parking were wide enough as it was without having to adopt such means to increase the width.

New York avenue and Pennsylvania avenue are two of the widest streets in the city, yet the angular parking was cut out on these streets and parallel parking substituted. I am in favor of angular parking on these two avenues, as cars parked angularly increase the parking space by about 60 per cent. It is becoming a nuisance trying to find space to park a car. What the city traffic commission should do is to devise a means whereby motorists can find parking spaces and not methods that deprive the motorists of parking spaces. MOTORIST.

Why Was There Not a Guard at Y. M. C. A. Pool?

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I would like to ask through your paper why there was not a life saver in charge of the Y. M. C. A. swimming pool when Mr. Higgins was drowned yesterday. It seems to me that it should be compulsory to have some one in charge. The boys of Washington go there to swim, thinking it to be a safe place. In my A MOTHER.

73 QUAKE REFUGEES APPROACH NORFOLK

American Women and 43 Children on Transport Need Aid.

Norfolk, Va., April 10 (A.P.).—The Naval Transport Chaumont will arrive in Hampton Roads at 9 a. m. Monday, bringing 30 women and 43 children from earthquake-stricken Managua.

In addition to these there is a passenger list of some 100 others from the West Coast, families of service men, many of them stationed on the U. S. S. Mississippi.

Among those aboard the Chaumont from Managua are Maj. J. D. Murray, U. S. M. C., whose wife was killed when the earthquake shook down the City Market wall on her parked automobile, and Maj. R. F. Kenig, U. S. M. C., victim of a strange accident when his leg was broken as the tremor twisted him on it.

Mrs. Murray's body also is aboard the Chaumont.

The passenger list, received by radio from the Chaumont today, includes the wives and children of Marine officers in the stricken city.

Most of them, it is stated, are without any material baggage, all of which, even if saved from the ruins of their homes, had to be left behind when they were flown by plane from Managua to Corinto, where they boarded the Chaumont.

The Norfolk Chapter of the American Red Cross will be prepared to assist those in need of aid when the refugees arrive here.

Russians and Germans Continue Trade Parley

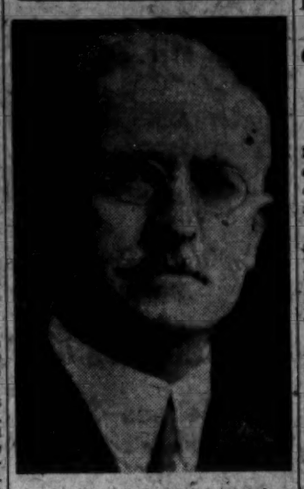

Berlin, April 10 (A.P.).—German and Russian delegates will continue tomorrow negotiations aiming at the placement of a $75,000,000 order for German goods by the Soviet Government.

The Soviet embassy and the German conferees emphatically denied tonight reports that the meetings had been postponed and said they would be resumed in the morning. Indications are that the negotiations will be carried out speedily, since the German government has intimated its willingness to increase its guarantees of credit considerably, although the amount was not specified.

King Calls Leaders In Bucharest Crisis

Carol Wants All Factions to Be Represented in New Cabinet.

Bucharest, Roumania, April 10 (A.P.).—King Carol conferred with leaders of all parties today in an effort to obtain their collaboration on the formation of a concentration cabinet.

He explained that no faction could go unrepresented if the country was to be saved. Assuring them he would hold no one responsible if their good intentions failed, he said he hoped nevertheless to secure the cooperation of all.

They were invited to meet him jointly on Monday, when he will make another attempt to smooth out the difficulties and hear replies to today's proposals.

EVENTS OF INTEREST IN SOCIETY CIRCLES OF CAPITAL

Miss Han Sings Tomorrow at Capital Party

Chinese Girl Well Known in Washington Society Few Years Ago.

SPANNING the far path between ancient Peiping and the Capital of the Western World is the colorful tale of the Chinese maid, Miss Chuan Wha Han, student at the Peabody Musical Institute, who will give a program at the National Women's Party tomorrow afternoon. Widely known to a group of young society members in Washington through distinguished associations on both sides of the Pacific, Miss Han's appearance tomorrow affords an element of distinct significance.

As the guest of former Representative Victor Murdock, of Kansas, and Mrs. Murdock during her first visit to the United States, eight years ago, the pretty daughter of one of Peiping's leading business men created a "stir" in Washington among groups that knew the story of her ambitious rise to the pinnacle of feminine education in China.

Among the first of the Chinese girls to win an American scholarship at the University of Peiping, Chuan Wha, as her young Washington friends called her, received the coveted award when a mere slip of a girl.

The scholarship included courses at the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor and at the Boston School of Fine Arts and it was in the summer previous to her entry in an American college that the daughter of the Far East visited in Washington with the Murdocks, who were acquaintances of her father, as well as with Mr. and Mrs. Murdock's son-in-law and daughter, Capt. and Mrs. Harvey Delano, the circle of friendship formed through Mr. Edwin S. Cunningham, consul general at Shanghai, and Mrs. Cuningham, friends to all the world in the great cities of the Orient.

Confuting the Kipling deduction that "the East is East and the West is West and never the twain shall meet," Chuan Wha set about breaking the greatest barrier to friendship within the circle of young people entertained at the Murdock home—the barrier of language. Although knowing but few phrases of English when she came that summer long ago, within two months she was chattering English with the other girls and when college opened in the autumn knew pretty well her "conversational English."

If the languages and a flair for the piano shared the hours devoted also to cultivation of a fine voice, Miss Han's gift for needlecraft remains even now one of the cherished phases of her friendship with the subdebs around town that summer. Several of them possess still little fragments of embroidered silks and pictures from post cards which the Oriental visitor copied in embroidery silks.

Petite and graceful, Miss Han's beauty was, she declared, more Occidental than Oriental. She will be assisted tomorrow by Miss Yah Wang, of George Washington University, and other members of the Chinese Student Club. All of them are contributing their services in compliment to Miss La Mott, authority on the opium traffic, both in the United States and in China, where she was decorated by the Chinese government with the Lin Medal. Miss La Mott will speak on the coronation of the Emperor of Abyssinia, which she attended.

Mrs. Paul Myron Linebarger, District chairman, will be hostess, assisted by the District board. Pouring tea will be Mrs. Frank Roesch, Mme. Mei, Mrs. Frank Mondell, Mrs. Sally K. Pickett and Miss Lucy Wilder Morris. Other guests of honor will be Mrs. E. Crain Chadbourne, Mrs. Perry Heath, Miss Genevieve Wimsatt, Mrs. Charles Lobinger, Miss Janet Richards, Mrs. Theodore Shuey, Mrs. Thomas Walles, Mrs. Charles Williamson and Miss Clara McQuoen.

Suzanne Park Becomes Bride In New York

A post-Lenten wedding of interest both here and abroad took place in the Chapel of St. Bartholomew in New York yesterday afternoon, when Miss Suzanne Andrews Park, daughter of Vice Consul at Biarritz and Mrs. Sam Park, became the bride of Mr. Henry Philip Ammidown, son of the late Philip Holmes Ammidown, of Seattle, and Mrs. George H. Dyer, of Milwaukee and New York. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Robert Norwood.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, created a stunning picture in a wedding gown of ivory satin. The veil of old point lace, trimmed with orange blossoms, was that which her sister, Mrs. Henry Bascom Funchess, jr., the former Miss Elizabeth Park, the matron of honor, had worn at her own wedding three years ago. The bridal bouquet was of calla lilies.

The matron of honor wore a gown of light blue satin and carried a bouquet of lavender sweet peas, orchids and delphinium, while the bridesmaids, Miss Evelyn Walker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Walker, of St. Michaels, Md., and Miss Anne W. perine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Corbin Perine, of Baltimore, wore orchid chiffon and carried bouquets of two-toned lavender sweet peas and orchids.

The bridegroom was attended by Mr. Trescott Avery Buell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Buell, of Pittsfield, Mass., and the ushers were Mr. John R. Russell, of Milwaukee; Mr. J. Alden R. Dalley, of Haverford, Pa.; Mr. Guy S. Paschall, of Chevy Chase, Md.; Mr. H. Hawley Myers, of New York; Mr. Thomas Fransioli, jr., of Seattle, and Mr. Sam Park, jr., a brother of the bride.

The ceremony was performed in a bower of Easter lilies, cybotium and Australian tree ferns, while the chapel proper was decorated with French garlands of heather, Southern greenery and pink snapdragon.

Following the wedding there was a reception at Sherry's, where the large dining room was decorated with palms, ferns, white lilacs and Southern smilax. The bridal table was adorned with a huge centerpiece of white lilacs, snapdragon, lilies of the valley and white sweet peas. The buffet and guest tables were adorned with roses.

The bride was educated at Lakewood, N. J.; the Holton Arms, Washington, and Princess Metcherskey's school in Paris. Though scheduled for presentation at the Court of St. James this spring, she forspok that honor in order that she might be married on the third anniversary of her sister's wedding.

Major in Army Plans to Hunt Lions, Tigers

McDonnell Will Depart in May for Big Game in Africa.

Lions 'n' tigers 'n' everything make up the objective of Maj. John A. McDonnell, U. S. A., on a trip to the jungles of Africa, upon which he will embark from New York about May 6. Seeking the hunting fields of darkest Africa, Maj. McDonnell will "make his descent" upon Mombosa, in the Kenya colony, by airplane, probably flying there from Cairo or Marseilles, France.

Hunting big game is an old business to Maj. McDonnell, who has pierced little-explored areas in French Indo-China, where elephants and wild boar played hide and seek with his aim. In his attractive house at 2925 Twenty-eighth street the Army officer displays proof of his hunting skill, as one room is devoted to a display of trophies which represent months of vacationing in far parts of the world. As a matter of fact, the house offers varied rooms of interest, several being hung with fine family portraits, old prints of rare value, all to form a background for the collection of antique furniture cherished by the major as examples of years of search for "just the right thing."

On his African journey Maj. McDonnell will be accompanied by his brother and the men will take with them experienced English guides. He will return to London early in the fall and will come to Washington in October to resume his duties here.

Mrs. Harrison Tweed, of New York, is at the Mayflower. Last year, Mrs. Tweed, who writes under the name of Michael Strange, spent several months here at a studio she procured in Georgetown.

BECAUSE the radio memorial services for Speaker Longworth were held so soon after his death, much of their effectiveness was lost.

Not only were many listeners deprived of the opportunity to hear the services because of the lack of advance notice, but many of those who heard felt the memorials came too close upon the heels of the death announcement.

Columbia put its service on the air at 3 p. m. Thursday, only four hours after Representative Longworth's death, while NBC went on at 7:15 p. m.

Keen competition between the chains in broadcasting current news events and eagerness to have their services figure in early newspaper dispatches were blamed by listeners who noted a publicity tinge on the memorials.

Regardless of whether these accusations are true, it seems that hereafter on similar occasions more advance notice should be given the public. In the instance in question it would appear that last night, tonight, or even Sunday would have been more appropriatae for the memorial services.

THE welcome to Prince and Princess Takamatsu of Japan will be broadcast over both national networks of the NBC this noon, including WRC. Later in the afternoon the prince and princess will witness a special broadcast in the NBC studios.

A self-made pianist, Montague Glass, creator of Potash and Perlmutter, will be introduced by Sigmund Spaeth during the "Keys To Happiness" program this morning. (WRC, 11:30 a. m.)

Senators David I. Walsh, of Massachusetts, and Thomas P. Gore, the blind senator of Oklahoma, will be speakers at the annual Jefferson Day dinner of the National Democratic Club in New York. George Gordon Battle will preside. The broadcast will be divided into two periods, from 10 to 10:30 p. m., over the WJZ network, and from 11 to 11:30 p. m., over WRC.

Well known locally, Ada Zeller, a niece of Wendell W. Mischler, for many years secretary to William Howard Taft, will be heard in a piano recital tonight (WJZ, WBAL 8:15 p. m.) A graduate of the College of Music in Cincinnati, Miss Zeller studied also at the music school at Fontainebleau, outside Paris.

Oliver La Farge, author of "Laughing Boy," a Navajo Indian love story, will be the guest of Gilbert E. Gable in the Highroad of Adventure tonight (WRC, 6 p. m.)

WHEN circus people look for fun, it seems they go to a circus of their own. Anyway, the party billed as "A Great Display of Wild Animals and Wilder Men" will be presented by the Circus Saints and Sinners Club of America, tonight (WJZ network, midnight to 1 a. m.)

Noises of the barkers, sideshows, calliopes and peanut salesmen will mix with circus music, songs and stories participated in by famed showmen and performers.

As transient as a shoe shine in a flour mill is Ted Lewis' Saturday Night Club, heard tonight from Baltimore (WRC, 7:30 p. m.). Last week the program was transmitten from the studios of WRC; next week it will come fhom Pittsburgh, and the week after from Columbus.

The sports hour inaugurated last season by Station WOL will be renewed this year, presenting half-inning returns of all Washington baseball games. The schedule opens on Tuesday at 3:30 o'clock.

ONE of the members of the Cumberland Ridge Runners, on the air tonight for their second broadcast (WMAL, 9 p. m.), boasts an unusual middle name. He is Hartford C. Taylor, the guitarist; the "C" standing for Connecticut.

At the time of his birth, his "pappy," the local blacksmith, was struggling with a particularly ornery horse. A neighbor woman arrived at the shop, breathless with the news. Children had ceased to be a novelty in the Taylor family, so "Pap" Taylor went right on with the task at hand.

"You might at least tell us what to name him," the exasperated woman shouted.

"Name him Hartford Connecticut Taylor," he grunted. So "Hartford Connecticut" it was.

Jane Interprets the MODE

Paris, April 10.

NOW every lovely lady knows, especially if she is a good Dah-ray-ite, that the word housedress has gone where all things ugly go. And that what Mrs. Housewife wears so gayly around her little house today is quite another story! Is she any the less efficient or housewifey for it? Perish the thought—in fact, very much the contrary, she's much more efficient because she's happier, and because she instinctively knows that her family and tradespeople are much happier seeing her in a smart housedress that she could just as well wear out on the tennis court or go visiting in.

That's the idea, my deah! Dress for your housework and housekeeping by all means, just as any other man or woman dresses for his or her profession. But get over the idea once and for all that you have to dress like a day laborer in order to look as though you were efficient about the house. You are neither a day laborer nor even the cleaning woman that you hire to come in by the hour, so don't allow yourself to dress as she does in the name of economy or efficiency. That's not the way it's done any more, I assure you!

And while your mind is on the subject, better sit down and make out a stamped, self-addressed envelope to send to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for next week's illustrated leaflet telling you how to make some perfectly darling little house dresses, such as the chic little Frenchwoman wears around her house. These designs are pretty slick for the kiddies, too, made up in much smaller form, of course—also they're splendid for summer resort frocks, tennis, summer golf. So if you aren't yet a cheerful little housewife, send for this leaflet anyway and make some summer frocks for yourself!

* * * *

Here's a surprise—an evening gown at one of the famous couturiers, all symmetrical in cut and with diagonal ruffles, turned out to be made of white nainsook, and it was very chic. The day that I saw it there were two well-known Parisienne elegantes who were very much intrigued by it, although none of us knew whether to take it seriously or not. It had a red belt, and the ruffles were edged with just nothing at all. But remember that I said it was chic, and I can very well imagine myself, for instance, coming forth in something like it when every one else was in chiffon and satin, say at Biarritz or Deauville late this summer.

* * * *

Do your evening jackets hang in the closet waiting for evening affairs to roll around? Well, mine used to, but they don't any more—because I've learned to use them in-between times, and gorgeously so, for pyjama jackets. I have them made in such a way that their accompanying scarf or fur collar is detachable, and only stays on when I'm wearing the jacket for the evening.

* * * *

Have you sent your stamped, self-addressed envelope for the leaflet telling you how to make a lovely summer evening scarf that can be used for a bed scarf as well? There are still some left if you haven't, but you have to send for it today, no later.

* * * *

Au Revoir!

Indoor and Outdoor Gardens

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES.

PLEASE tell me why at this season my seed so frequently fails to germinate. Later in the season I never have trouble of this kind.

HANNAH J.

One of the chief causes of this is the use of cold soil and cold water. Practically all soil stored for winter use lacks warmth and should be heated in some manner before using. Water should have the chill taken from it before being used for watering seed flats.

Please tell me if March is a suitable time to clean gladiolus bulbs. I have a number of old and new bulbs which must be separated.

TESS V. A.

If gladiolus bulbs have not already been cleaned, now is a good time to go over them and remove the old bulbs and roots. Do this with care so that you do not injure the bulbs. It is not always easy to pull the old worn-out bulbs from the bulb of the last season's growth when you are digging the bulbs in the fall, nor is this advisable. After digging gladiolus bulbs they should be stored in a place where the temperature ranges from 45 to 60 degrees Fahrenheit. Later in the winter they should be moved to a place where the temperature is between 35 and 45 degrees. The reason they should be kept cooler during the first half of the winter is to prevent sprouting.

Please tell me the botanical name of mountain laurel. ELSIE F. L.

Kalmia Latifolia.

Do you know of a variety of ornamental grass which, while not hardy will make a splendid showing the first year from seed? I heard of this variety at a recent meeting of our garden club but have forgotten the name. HELEN G. T.

Will an overheated room cause the leaves of a Dracena to turn brown? It is only the bottom leaves which are so affected.

MRS. DANIEL J. C.

Too much heat, too little water and too little fresh air or a combination of these conditions may be responsible for the leaves becoming dry. Some plants have a tendency when they are starting into new to lose a few lower leaves. The rubber plant has this rather distressing habit. I should give your Dracena some bonemeal at this time and see that it does not suffer from lack of moisture about its roots.

Please tell me what is wrong with my spider plant. The leaves are turning yellow and dying. I water it regularly and have it in the sun. It has been two years in the same spot.

E. H. B. M.

I have been told to cut rose bushes to within ten inches of the roots on a mild day in February. Is this correct? W. H.

All rose pruning should be postponed until after February. The pruning of hardy roses should be completed about the middle of March. Tender roses may be pruned in early April. The object is to keep the covering undisturbed as long as possible, but to avoid waiting until the sap is running freely. The degree of pruning you must decide for yourself. If you want large individual flowers you can hardly prune too severely, but for ordinary garden purposes a moderate cutting will be better.

Wives of Tomorrow

FRANCES M'DONALD

Short-Sighted Parents.

DEAR Frances McDonald: I have come to you for encouragement or criticism, whichever I deserve.

Do we really owe a debt to our parents, and is it necessary to blight our own happiness to pay it off, Frances McDonald? My family is trying to uphold a position of prestige in the small town that has known us for a few generations, and, to carry on, sent me to college, although neither of my parents had ever had more than a high school education themselves. I didn't want to go to college in the first place, and I hated it every minute I was there. After three miserable years I gave up. Then came a very expensive and exclusive secretarial school. That was wonderful, and I love the work and glory so in my own little job.

But I'm neither happy nor free. They keep tossing up to me what my education cost and the immense debts I owe them and how I will never be able to pay it back. Sometimes I just think I'll go crazy trying to figure it all out. I'm a healthy, normal girl of 22, gifted with more than an average amount of looks and personality, and fairly talented and capable. I'm not conceited, Frances McDonald, but sometimes it's necessary to look over stock and list one's assets and liabilities. And my big problem is this:

I've met the one man, and am going to marry him if it's the last thing I ever accomplish. We've known each other since childhood, and have been sweethearts for the last five years. My father and his were boys together, but my folks just about hate my boy friend, for no reason at all. He is working his way through college, and will have obtained his degree and be fitted for a profession in another year. He is 24, and a fine young man as far as character and health go, but because he is very quiet and seems to lack personality to them I must have nothing to do with him. I turn in 50 per cent of my salary every week at home, and buy my own clothes and am otherwise self-supporting. He lives miles away and I only see him infrequently, and then it's a fight to be able to spend a few hours in his company once in two months or so.

Now, Miss McDonald, where do I stand? Should I go on being the meek, obedient daughter as I have always been and give my lover the go-by, or will I stick to him and my future happiness? I know that they will never consent to our marriage. I have tried unsuccessfully for five long years to bring them together and he's as discouraged as I am. We argue and talk the situation over to no avail. And sometimes, we'd just like to chuck everything and elope. Of course we're young, but I want to be with him when we are young and happy—there's no fun and beauty in life when you're old and crabby. We could make a go of it. I'm modern but I'm old-fashioned, too, for I'm an excellent cook and make all my own clothes. But I don't want to get married that way now because I want him to finish school; he has such a brilliant record so far.

I love my parents and I love my sweetheart, but sometimes it's so awfully hard. To whom do I owe the bigger debt, my parents or my happiness? MOLLY.

There is no reason why you should pay for preserving the family's imaginary prestige. And less reason why you should argue with any one about seeing the man you love. Your parents are the "rule or ruin" type who wonder why their children "desert" them.

Begin to assert yourself as a human being. Announce your engagement and let the storm blow well over your head. Your parents married, and so will you and your children after you

Do not be unkind. Remember that they at least acted according to their light. But let them understand that you are in possession of all your faculties and will live your life accordingly.

It is a pity that so many defame the bond of parenthood, belittle and degrade rather than encourage and inspire. Most children by instinct love devotedly the two who are their world the first ten years of life. It takes constant nagging to kill a child's faith. And there is no sadder death.

Be captain of your soul and avoid future regret.

YOUR NAME

WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

By HARRY A. DEFERRARI, PH.D.

THE personal and family name "Herbert" is found with great frequency in the earliest English records. It has come down to us from two Germanic sources. In most cases it is derived ultimately from "Hariberaht," an old Teutonic personal name meaning "army bright." The common Anglo Saxon equivalents of "Harkiberaht" are "Herebeorht," "Hereberht," 'Herebryht", and 'Hereberct." In a few cases "Herbert" is derived from "Hardberht." "Hardberht" is also of Teutonic origin, and means "firm-bright." St. Haribert was Archbishop of Cologne about the year 1000. It was about that time that this personal name became very popular in France, from which country it was taken to England by Norman settlers. It was a popular and fashionable personal name throughout England in the 12th and 13th centuries. Since it was precisely during those centuries that personal names were becoming hereditary as family names, it is not surprising that "Herbert" and its many variations are now found as common English family names. Some of its commonest variations are "Harbert," "Harberd," "Harbord," "Harbison," "Herbertson" and "Herbison." A few of the many instances of this name in the Hundred Rolls are Gilbert Herebert, Richard Herebert, Henry Herberd and Walter Herberd. This family name has been borne by many distinguished persons. George Herbert (1593-1633) was a famous poet. Sir Thomas Herbert (1606-1682) acquired fame as a traveler and author. Some of the common modern German equivalents of this name are "Herbart," "Herbrecht," "Herberich" and "Herbrig."

WORK ON BRIDGE

(This article is intended for the Auction and Contract Bridge beginner.)

At Contract Bridge the bidding, although anything but difficult, was not quite so simple. South with three tricks in Spades and three in Hearts, bid two Spades; and North, with 3½ raisers—1 in Spades and 2½ in Diamonds (½ because the Diamond suit is a doubleton), ½ more than necessary—bid four Spades.

West's opening lead was the King of Clubs which won. East played the Eight as an "encouragement" card, and West won trick 2 with the Queen of Clubs, following with a third round of Clubs which East's Ace won. If East had held only Ace and one small Club he would have covered West's King with the Ace and led back the small one so as to insure a ruff on the third round.

A Diamond seemed to be the safest lead for East and, dummy winning that trick, Declarer was assured of all the tricks except one trump. He tried to capture the King of trumps and make his game by leading the Queen from dummy, but East covered with the King and West's Ten won the third round of the suit and saved game.

THE CORRECT PLAY.

This Declarer made one of the commonest, costliest and most inexcusable errors that the Bridge table witnesses. Leading the Queen toward Ace-Jack without the Ten in either hand, or any possibility of finessing to capture the Ten, is a fatal play when holding no more than eight cards in the suit. If second hand has the King, he covers with it and the Ten takes the third round; if fourth hand has the King, of course the finesse loses. Declarer's only chance to take every trick is that the King and one other are in the second hand and three cards of the suit in the fourth. A small card should be led from the Queen and the Jack finessed. This should be followed by leading the Ace which, if the King is only singly guarded, will capture it and enable the Queen to take the third trick.

"ARIES."

IF April 11 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10 a. m. to 11:30 a. m., from 3 p. m. to 6 p. m., and from 10 p. m. to 11:15 p. m. The danger periods are from noon to 2 p. m., and from 7:30 p. m. to 9 p. m.

The planetary aspects of April 11 do not indicate any positive signs. They denote, rather a degree of passivity and indifference. Nothing demanding enterprise or involving drastic change should be attempted. The path of least resistance, wherever practical, should be followed.

Children born on this April 11 always will desire to excel in everything that they undertake. They will never be satisfied with second place. They will be optimistic, wholesouled and spontaneous and never put on airs or assume attitudes. Their futures promise to be crowned with success.

If you were born on April 11 you are extremely conservative in both thought and action. You have no liking for new ideas and new conceptions. You cling to the old with a tenacity of purpose worthy of a better cause. You believe in moving slowly and have little resourcefulness or adaptability. This applies, in your case, equally to religion, politics and social affairs. You have no spirit of adventure, and are only happy when you travel along the well-beaten path.

You are, of course, at all times conventional, and you are very much influenced, not by your own originality of thought, but by what "Mrs. Grundy" expects. Your vision is limited, and being by nature a creature of habit, you are invariably uninteresting. You also believe very strongly in tradition, and have a profound respect for heredity.

You are intelligent in other respects, and a hard worker, and although you will never make a stir in the world, you will possibly earn success where others, more daring, would fail. You are a stanch friend, and never refuse help or counsel to those who seek either the one or the other. Your home life will be very correct, but sadly unemotional.

4—George Canning, English statesman.
5—Paul Dwight Moody, evangelist.

SOUP RANKS HIGH FOR NOURISHMENT

In these days when home makers are searching eagerly for low cost diets adequate for the nutriment needs of their families soup comes into the foreground as an easy and inexpensive source of nourishment.

Soup can even be the main dish at a meal, but when it is used in this way it must be thick with vegetables, whether made from meat stock or not. With the addition of bread and butter such a lunch or supper is satisfying and has the added value of being suitable for both children and adults.

The Bureau of Home Economics of the Department of Agriculture indorses the generous use of soup in a Market Basket release made recently in cooperation with the Woman's Division of the President's emergency committee for employment.

As Done in Europe.

The bureau advocates the following of the practice of European housewives in their manner of making the appetizing soups for which they are famous. They keep a soup pot on the back of the stove almost continuously, but the bureau says the refrigerator is a better place, for then the vitamins will not be destroyed by heat and the valuable materials that give flavor will not be continually evaporating. Into the pot they put all water in which vegetables have been cooked, except the very strong ones, as well as left-over meats and vegetables. With this as a foundation they proceed to develop many different kinds of soups, with the exception of the cream soups and clear ones.

One of the chief advantages of soups in a low cost diet, which the bureau points out, is that inexpensive cuts of meat with bone are used for the foundation of these soups that are made from meat stock. By slow cooking the flavor is extracted from the meat which, together with the mineral salts and soluble vitamins, is retained within the body of the soup. It is all eaten, with the exception of the bones, and even they have given up considerable nutriment from the marrow and cartilagenous portions before being discarded.

Nutritive Value Left.

The extractives derived from soup meat are left in the liquid. They give flavor and are slightly stimulating. This means that most of the flavor has been taken out of the meat, but a great deal of the nutritive value is left. Meat from the bones can be ground and served with the soup or used at later meals in combination with highly flavored foods, such as tomatoes, onions and green peppers.

Of the two types of soups, clear and thick, the former's function in the diet is to stimulate the appetite and to improve digestion. But for the purpose of single dish meals, thick soups are all that need to be taken into consideration. They are the means of introducing into the menu a variety of starchy foods such as rice, noodles, tapioca and barley, the quantity of which increases materially the lower cost of the diet. Surplus bread can be utilized in the form of croutons and dumplings can be added.

Cream soups and chowders instead of being made with meat stock have milk as the basis for the former, and salt pork with or without milk for the chowder. With vegetables of all sorts, dry legumes, salt pork, dried, evaporated, or fresh milk, we have the means of providing soups of high nutritive value. When meat stock is used the bureau advocates the proportion of one pound of meat and bone to one quart of water. The shinbone of beef with meat is one of the best cuts because of the large amount of marrow it contains. A knuckle of veal is necessary for jellied soups.

Some of the requisites for making vegetable soups are outlined by the bureau as follows: Cut meat in small pieces; saw or crack bone; soak meat and bone in cold water for 30 minutes or more before cooking; simmer for three to four hours, don't skim off the protein which coagulates and floats to the top as a brownish scum; add spices, herbs and vegetables toward the end of cooking period, allowing only time enough to cook vegetables until tender; cook stock quickly; keep in cold place and do not skim fat off until ready to use.

The following recipes serve five persons:

Vegetable Soup.

1 green pepper, chopped.
1 cup chopped onion.
1½ cups chopped celery and leaves.
1 cup finely diced carrots.
1 cup finely diced turnips.
3 teaspoons salt, or to taste.

Wash the soup bone and be careful to remove all small loose pieces of bone. Put the bone in a large kettle, cover with the cold water and simmer for two hours. Remove the bone from the broth. Cook all the vegetables, except the tomatoes, in the fat in a skillet for about ten minutes, stirring frequently. Add the vegetables, tomato, salt and pepper to the broth and simmer until the vegetables are tender but not broken. Serve the meat with the soup or save it for hash or croquettes.

This makes a rather large quantity of soup, but it is equally good reheated and served another day.

Corn Chowder.

4 tablespoons diced salt pork.
1 onion, chopped.
2 cups canned corn.
1 pint milk.
Pepper.
2 tablespoons chopped parsley or celery leaves.

Boil the diced potatoes in the pint of boiling water for 10 minutes. Fry the salt pork and onion for about 5 minutes, and add these and the corn to the potatoes. Cook until the potatoes are done. Add the milk and the salt and pepper, bring the mixture to the boiling point, and add the parsley or celery leaves. Serve very hot in soup dishes and place two or three crackers in the dish before pouring in the chowder.

Cream of Spinach Soup.

2 tablespoons melted butter or other fat.
1 teaspoon salt.

If the spinach is ground, place a bowl to catch the liquid which runs from the grinder and add to the spinach. Heat the milk in a double boiler and add to it the flour and fat, which have been well blended, and the ground spinach and salt. Stir until thickened, and cook for about ten minutes.

Onion Soup au Gratin.

2 tablespoons butter or other fat.
1 quart meat broth.
4 tablespoons flour.
4 tablespoons cold water.
Salt to taste.
Pepper.
Toast.
Cheese, finely grated.

Cook the chopped onions in the fat until yellow, add to the hot water and simmer for twenty minutes, or until tender. Add the meat broth. Blend the flour and cold water, add some of the hot liquid, mix well, and stir into the soup. Add the salt and pepper, and cook for a few minutes. Pour the soup into bowls or soup plates, place on top of each a slice of toasted bred, sprinkle the cheese over the bread and soup and serve at once.

METHODIST GUILD PLANS HOME TEA

Fifth Anniversary of Opening Will Be Celebrated on Wednesday.

The Women's Guild of the Southern Methodist Church will give a tea at the Methodist Home for the Aged, at Gaithersburg, on Wednesday to commemorate the fifth anniversary of the opening of the home. Tea will be served in the main, dining room of the home. Those who come are asked to bring donations of foodstuffs or money for the home.

The centerpiece of the tea table will be a large three-tier birthday cake containing five candles. This cake will be served the guests of the home at the conclusion of the tea.

The growth of the Women's Guild has been almost as phenomenal as the growth of the home itself. A band of fourteen women of Washington organized the guild. Today the guild has a membership of 240 women. These women are members of the seven Southern Methodist Churches in Washington and some of the neighboring charges.

The purpose of the guild is to minister to the comfort of the guests residing in the home. Some of their work for the year includes a pantry shower, furnishing of linens, erection of awnings, and weather stripping of parts of the building.

Mrs. E. E. Stacy, of this city, is president of the guild and one of the most enthusiastic workers. Mrs. Ida R. Groover, a member of the board of trustees of the Home for the Aged, is vice president, and Mrs. William Gorham is secretary-treasurer. There is also a "key" woman designated in each church which has membership in the guild.

Mr. Niles Will Observe First Anniversary

One year ago a young returned missionary from China, the Rev. Frank S. Niles, began his work as pastor of the oldest Presbyterian Church in Washington, familiarly known as Georgetown Presbyterian Church. Tomorrow he will celebrate the anniversary with a special sermon which has a challenging ring to it: "Go Forward."

A special musical program has been arranged, new members will be received into the church, and Holy Communion will be observed. The church organ has been regenerated and greatly improved in tone and the congregation has been stepped up to the music of the organ and the preaching of the minister.

Ingathering Held By Federation

The annual ingathering of the Woman's Council of the Federation of Churches on Wednesday of this week was an unusually enjoyable affair. Hundreds of women from scores of Protestant churches in Washington and the vicinity filled the auditorium of Mount Pleasant Congregational Church. The room had been made attractive by cheerful decorations. The chairman was Mrs. Harvey S. Irwin, the president of the council. The address of the afternoon was delivered by Mrs. Jessie Burrall Eubank, for a number of years a teacher of the large Burrall Class of Calvary Baptist Church.

As representative of the various denominations presented their gifts, which had been brought in through a campaign conducted through the previous month, they brought also large bouquets of flowers and many potted plants. These made an exceedingly beautiful display. Afterward all the flowers were taken to the hospitals by Mrs. Murray, the hospital worker for the federation. The total contributions were about $2,100 and other gifts are expected later.

MGR. HENRY TELLS OF CATHOLIC HYMNS

Singing by Congregations in Unliturgical Devotions and Low Masses.

One of the most interesting questions raised recently by the Church Page of The Post dealt with congregational singing in the Catholic Church. It was such a novel thing, and so contrary to the practices of Catholic churches with which the editor of the Church Page was familiar in his life in the deep South, that application was made to the Catholic University of America for authentic information on this question.

Mgr. Hugh T. Henry, professor of homiletics in the Catholic University, has answered the questions that were raised by this matter with a most thorough and illuminating discussion of them. His letter in full follows:

"My Dear Sir: Your letter of 25 March asks certain questions concerning congregational singing in the Catholic church in America. I take them up singly and reply to each one separately.

Exclusively in Latin.

"1. To what extent is congregational singing practiced in the Church in this country?'

"a. In strictly liturgical functions (e. g., high mass, vespers and a certain part of the devotion known as 'Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament'), the language must be exclusively Latin. The laity are encouraged to learn how to pronounce the Latin words in such cases, and to sing the liturgical texts in Latin. So far as I am aware, the laity in this country (unlike those in certain parts of Europe, e. g., Brittany, Spain, Italy, mayhap in some parts of Germany, and elsewhere) rarely do so congregationally. The "choir" of selected laymen, women, or boys ordinarily sing the Latin texts.

"b. In unliturgical devotions (e. g., the Stations of the Cross, certain parts of 'Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament") and in "low masses," congregational singing is often found, especially where the school children are in sufficient numbers to act as 'leaders.' Congregations usually join very heartily in singing the English Te Deum ('Holy God, We Praise Thy Name') at the close of many unliturgical functions.

"2. Has the church a hymnal that it uses?'

"In this country we have very many hymnals. A few years ago I collected 25 American Catholic hymnals which had been issued within the previous decade of years—and my search was not at all exhaustive. We have no official national hymnal.

3. "Does it confine the hymns in use to those written by its own clergy?"

No. Many of the hymns were written by lay people.

Not Officially Prohibited.

4. "If you use any of the great hymns like 'Jesus, Lover of My Soul,' do you follow the original, or adapt it to your own form of worship or practice?"

I do not know of any Catholic hymnal that now uses any other than Catholic hymns. Sometimes a non-Catholic hymn may still be sung, however (e. g., after a requiem mass), but it is not considered seemly to do so, although not (so far as I am aware) officially prohibited on the mere score of non-Catholic authorship. I have a vague recollection of having found in one Catholic hymnal a reconstructed "Nearer, My God, to Thee." We probably would not object, as many of our separated brethren have objected, to the word "Lover" in Wesley's hymn.

With respect to the leaflets distributed to the congregation for easier singing of certain hymns, the practice is, I believe, very common. Hymnals for congregational use are not much in evidence, although I have seen "numbers" (indicating hymns to be sung) displayed for the congregation to select the hymns thus numbered.

I am not surprised that some gentleman should have found a hymnal printed in Washington in 1830 "filled with evangelical Protestant hymns." Before that date, we had (or English Catholic had) what were styled "primers," containing many translations of liturgical Latin hymns. For some reason, I know not, these translations do not seem to have been much in popular use, and seem to have been printed rather for pious reading than for singing. But our American Catholic prayerbooks of olden times had a fairly large section of such English renderings of Latin hymns. I do not think the hymns were sung. Faber, after his conversion to Catholicism, wrote his 150 hymns to supply a vacancy in our hymnal literature in English. His hymns are very popular. We now have a large supply of Catholic hymns, but in 1830 we had comparatively few original hymns in English, so far as I know.

I suggest that you might find useful material in an article in the Catholic Encyclopedia under the heading: "Congregational Singing" (Vol. IV, page 241), especially in the section marked as "d."

Believe me,
Very sincerely yours,
H. T. HENRY.

Philadelphian to Speak.

At Tabor Presbyterian Church, the Rev. J. W. Lee, D. D., field representative of the Board of National Missions, Philadelphia, Pa., will speak at 3:30 p. m. tomorrow.

DR. WOOD TO PREACH IN HIS OLD PULPIT

Dr. Charles Wood, for 20 years pastor of the Church of the Covenant, will fill his old pulpit tomorrow morning. The pastor, Dr. Albert J. McCartney, is taking a short vacation in the Shenandoah Valley.

For many years Dr. Wood has been a distinguished figure in the Presbyterian Church. During the World War the Covenant Church was, under his direction, the center of many religious activities for the soldiers and war workers.

In these latter years Dr. Wood is devoting much of his time to organizing the National Presbyterian Church, which, when built, will be erected around the Covenant-First Presbyterian congregation. Some donor, not revealed, has given Dr. Wood $450,000 toward building this great institutional church, and it will go into the general fund just as soon as the trustees of the National Church, of which Dr. Wood is vice president, have raised a million dollars.

The National Presbyterian Church has long been a dream of Presbyterians. During the time that the late Dr. Wallace Radcliffe, pastor of New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, was at the height of his ministry, he was much interested in that venture, and had about consummated it by a union with the Washington Heights Presbyterian Church and the erection of the National Church on the lot now covered by the Altamont, the Shawmut and several other apartment houses, when the smaller church backed out of the enterprise.

Judge John M. Harlan, of the United States Supreme Court, a member of Dr. Radcliffe's congregation, was so deeply interested in the venture that he contemplated resigning from the court and devoting all his time and strength to consummating it. Its failure was one of the greatest disappointments of his life.

Randolph College Head In National City Pulpit

The pulpit of the National City Christian Church, on Thomas Circle, will be filled tomorrow by Dr. T. T. Roberts, president of Randolph College, Cisco, Tex.

Dr. Thomas is a member of the National Board of Education of the Disciples of Christ, and is widely known throughout the West and Southwest as a speaker of exceptional force and an educator of unusual ability, and his work, both at Randolph College and with the national organization of this denomination has been recognized throughout the church world.

Sentence Sermons

The Power of the Church

WHAT makes Christianity invincible?

It has been scorned, contradicted, evaded, hated. But it has never been stopped! What makes it move "like a mighty army?"

Some say that its power is in its lofty morality, for it is recognized that its moral tone is unsurpassed.

To others its power is in its superb philosophy of life, for the better we know life the truer we see this view to be.

But we are convinced that the supreme dynamic of the Christian religion is the ardent allegiance of the believer to the Person of the Lord Jesus Christ!

We love Him with a compelling love: the wisdom of His teaching; the tenderness of His compassion; His forbearing and forgiving gentleness; the majesty of His personality; His confidence in the nobility of which man is capable; the courage of His vision! He is beyond the compass of all our terms.

Like the man to whom He restored sight, we can not explain Him; but we know what He has done for us.

Like Thomas, the soul cries, "My Lord and my God!"

We who are banded together in the Church which bears His name have a great privilege and a great responsibility to manifest this enthusiastic allegiance to Him through a holy work that will tolerate no selfishness, yield to no smallness, and stop before no task!

Dr. W. L. Darby, executive secretary of the Federation of Churches, will preach tomorrow morning in Cleveland Park Congregational Church.

ST. MARY'S GROTTO NEAR DEDICATION

One of the happiest of the Catholic clergy in this city is the Rev. Charles J. Trinkaus, pastor of St. Mary's Church, who, tomorrow night will see the dedication of a Grotto of Our Lady of Lourdes, which has been erected in his church. Work on this grotto has been going on for some time, the final stones being put in place yesterday.

The services will comprise a procession of the clergy and children to the grotto, the blessing, the sermon and solomn benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. The services will be concluded with the singing of "Holy God, We Praise Thy Name."

A relic of Blessed Bernadette will be presented after benediction for veneration.

Beginning Saturday, April 18, mass will be celebrated at the grotto at 6:30 o'clock every Saturday morning. On Saturday evenings at 7:30 there will be devotions in honor of Our Lady of Lourdes. Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament will be given.

Holy Name Rally.

One of the interesting events in Catholic Church circles tomorrow will be the rally of the Holy Name Society at 7:45 o'clock at Holy Comforter Church. In a solemn service new members will be received, and Very Rev. Ignatius Smith will preach.

The membership committee has set a goal for 1,200 members. The membership at present is 700. During the week this committee has been canvassing for new members, and it is expected that the largest class in the history of the society will be taken in by Father Smith.

The executive committee of the Washington section of the Baltimore Archdiocesan Union of Holy Name Societies will hold a business meeting at the Immaculate Conception Hall, Eighth and N streets northwest, on Tuesday evening, at 8 o'clock.

At this meeting will be present spiritual directors and presidents of parish branches of the local union, as well as a number of prominent Catholic laymen who are interested in Holy Name activities.

The purpose of the meeting is to discuss several matters of importance and to lay plans for the forthcoming Archdiocesan Convention of Holy Name Societies at Saint Mary's Industrial School on Sunday, April 26.

The Holy Name officials, of Baltimore, have extended a cordial invitation to the Catholic men of Washington to come to the Saint Mary's meeting. It is the hope of the local officers that more than 500 men will go from Washington to Baltimore.

Catholic Radio Hour.

The Rev. Raphael M. Burke, prior of St. Dominic's here, and well known Dominican preacher, will deliver the second of his series of four sermons on the Washington Catholic radio hour, broadcast every Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock from the church of the Immaculate Conception of which the Rev. Francis J. Hurney is pastor through station WOL. Father Burke's subject is: "The Resurrection of Man."

Father Hurney will preside at the service and will be celebrant at Benediction.

Beauty Prize Winner Will Conduct Revival

The Full Gospel Tabernacle, North Capitol and K streets, will have a "mobilization day" tomorrow for the assembling of every department of the church for service in the coming "city-wide evangelistic campaign," which is to be conducted by Mrs. Edith Mae Pennington, beginning next Sunday night. The pastor, the Rev. Harry L. Collier, will have a word of greeting to each department.

Interest is manifested in the coming of this woman, who won fame overnight by winning the national beauty prize in 1921 and has since become an evangelist of the Cross. This will be her first appearance in the East and an unprecedented hearing is predicted for her in the National Capital.

Baptist Church Group to Meet

The semiannual meeting of the Columbia Association of Baptist Churches will be held in Calvary Baptist Church April 24. The Rev. Samuel Judson Porter, pastor of the First Baptist Church and moderator of the association, will preside. Sessions will be held at 2 p. m. and 8 p. m. A reception will be held at 5:15 o'clock and a banquet at 5:45 o'clock. This banquet will be served by Calvary Baptist Church. Speakers will be furnished by the Northern and Southern Baptist conventions, representing different phases of missionary work at home and abroad.

The Rev. Joseph Taylor is one of the outstanding missionaries of the Northern convention, and he will represent the West China Mission. The Rev. C. E. Chaney is the executive secretary of Baptist work in Burma. Miss Luella Adams is at the head of the Rankin Christian Center, Pittsburgh, Pa., one of the largest social settlement agencies in the United States. The Rev. S. B. Watson has served for many years in Brazil as a missionary of the Southern Baptist convention. Theodore Sorg, prominent lawyer in Newark, N. J., and one of the leading laymen of the Northern Baptist convention will represent the Men's Movement among Baptists.

In addition to these addresses a pageant will be given entitled "The Crossroads." The pageant is being prepared under the direction of Miss Lena Parks, and will include about fifty persons.

Philadelphian at All Souls'.

Dr. Ulysses G. B. Pierce, minister of All Souls' Unitarian Church, will exchange pulpits Sunday with Dr. Frederick R. Griffin, minister of the First Unitarian Church of Philadelphia.

Army Chaplains Will Meet Here

The sixth annual meeting of the Chaplains Association of the Army of the United States will be held Wednesday and Thursday in this city. At the opening session Chaplain William Hughes, director of the Bureau of Catholic Indian Missions, will preside.

Bishop James E. Freeman will deliver the invocation, and the addresses of welcome will be made by F. Trubee Davison, Assistant Secretary of War, and Chief of Chaplains Col. J. E. Yates.

A complete program has been arranged, the first day concluding with a banquet at the Burlington Hotel, with Mr. Davison as guest of honor. The closing session will be held Thursday morning, and after adjournment President Hoover will give the chaplains a reception and a group photograph will be taken.

Dr. Ball to Receive His 2,300th Member

Dr. John Compton Ball, the pastor of the Metropolitan Baptist Church, Sixth and A streets northeast, will receive into the church tomorrow morning the twenty-three-hundredth member who has joined under his ministry there.

This probably is a record for Washington churches. As a matter of fact, very few ministers in the history of the Christian Church have ever received so large a number of members in one lifetime.

Cleveland Preacher at Howard.

The Rev. Miles H. Krumbine, minister of the Plymouth Lutheran Church, Cleveland, Ohio, will speak at the Howard University religious services in Andrew Rankin Chapel, at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Huguenot Service To Celebrate Edict

The Huguenot Society of Washington will commemorate the proclamation of the Edict of Nantes by a special service which will be held at St. John's Church, Lafayette square, tomorrow at 4 p. m.

By request the Rev. Dr. Vurpillot, chaplain of the society, will preach in English a sermon dealing with that famous edict, which granted to the Protestants of France freedom of worship and legal citizenship. His text will be, "Make the very most of the time." This service will replace the usual French service.

Dr. Zimmerman at St. Paul's.

Dr. Henry W. Snyder, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, is away on a short vacation and his pulpit will be filled tomorrow morning at the Metroplitan Theater, where the congregation is temporarily worshiping, by Dr. L. M. Zimmerman, a retired minister, well beloved by all Luutherans.

U. S. WILL INTER 29 WHO DIED AT CRATER

Special to The Washington Post.

Petersburg, Va., April 10.—Five United States military officers from Fort Eustis arrived here today to make plans for the funeral and burial of the 29 skeletons of Union soldiers who were killed in the battle of the Crater and which were dug up a few days ago.

The bodies will be buried on April 16 at 4 o'clock. The bodies of these men, or rather their bones, are contained in four caskets which are now in the possession of Wilson T. Phillips, manager of the Crater Farm, whose care for them has been such as to win the praise of the officers. The four caskets will be hauled on caissons from the Crater Farm to historic Old Blandford Church, built in 1735.

Here the funeral services will be held, conducted by an Army chaplain. The remains will be escorted from the Crater Farm by United States infantry from Fort Eustis, the Petersburg Grays, the Petersburg Chapter, Daughters of the Confederacy, and several civic organizations.

The services at the church over, the troops and others will take trucks and automobiles for Poplar Grove National Cemetery, in Dinwiddie County, a distance of about six miles, where the burial will be held in four graves. Gen. Carter R. Bishop, grand commander of the Grand Corps of Confederate Veterans, who is in charge of all the Confederate Veterans in the State, has been appointed by Mayor I. Val Parham and City Manager Paul S. Morton executive officer of the parade.

The United States Infantrymen will arrive here on April 15 and will camp that night at Lee Park, near the Country Club. Thursday night the band accompanying the regiment will give a concert.

CARD TEAMS BEGIN WORK

The members have been playing together for several years, and when "Amos 'n' Andy" gained their nationwide reputation, it seemed appropriate that they should adopt "Amos and Andy" as the name of their club, and so it is known throughout the suburb. They are enthusiastic over bridge and also over the tournament which they believe will do much to stimulate interest in the game and bring together players who otherwise would not have opportunity to meet and test their skill.

Each of the "Amos and Andy" players has a reputation for good bridge, but they are modest in their claims, even "Andy," and they have accordingly entered in the auction division of the contest and expressed a preference to play with the intermediate teams.

"You are going to have just a glorious and wonderful time," exclaimed Miss Charlotte Schmidt yesterday in discussing the tournament. "I am advising all of my bridge friends to enter, for regardless of whether or not they succeed in capturing a trophy, or a prize, it will be highly beneficial to them from the standpoint of improving their play, and bringing them into social contact with the devotees of the game.

"I can visualize the brilliant spectacle in the parlors of the beautiful New Shoreham, where the surroundings will be ideal for the event. I hope and believe it will result in the formation of one or more strictly bridge clubs in Washington, where players may be developed to participate as teams, as pairs and as individuals in some of the big national and international events, which all of us older players look forward to with so much pleasure. If my health permits, I shall participate, but anyway, I expect to be there as an onlooker and I know it will give me much joy."

Miss Schmidt is the patron saint of all Washington bridge players. For more than 25 years she held membership in the American Bridge League and matched her skill in all forms of the game with the best men players in the country. She has participated in dozens of the league tournaments and has journeyed far and wide to bring home some of the much cherished prizes of the contests.

Began With Whist.

She began playing old-fashioned whist as a girl and continued her interest in the various stages of the development of the game and was one of the first of the Washington players to take up and advocate the contract form. To have played with her is an epoch in the career of any bridge player. She is not only an authority but is an expert.

Manager L. G. Moore of the New Shoreham is planning to assign a beautiful and spacious new parlor, which has not been used for any purpose, to the tournament players. It is on the ground floor of the hotel, and the view is out upon the Million Dollar Bridge, recently renamed the William Howard Taft Bridge, and across the picturesque nearby stretch of Rock Creek.

It is a most attractive setting for the event and the room will accomodate more than 75 tables, and allow ample space for aisles and the movement of players as they progress from one table to another. The permanent decorations and finishings of the parlor are soon to be installed and there will be added touches to conform to the spirit of the tournament.

Practice Games Begun.

Many of the entrants are now engaging in practice games in the regular card parlors of the hotel, but it has already been demonstrated that these rooms will not be adequate to accomodate all those who will enter the tournament and, accordingly, Mr. Moore, who is a member of the committee on arrangements, is preparing to have the new parlor ready for the event.

Should this prove insufficient, the gorgeous palm room is available. Mr. Moore is determined that the event shall not be lacking in any appointments to make it the brilliant affair that is contemplated.

Arrangements have been made with Station WOL for broadcasting information of the tournament next week. This is to be done in response to requests from those interested, to hear of the tournament as well as to read about it.

Watch The Post for the broadcasting announcement over Station WOL. Clip out the form printed daily in The Post and send in your entry. The dates are May 14, 15 and 16.

U. S. SOLDIER JAILED IN MOUNTAIN KILLING

Harrisonburg, Va., April 10 (A.P.).—Rufus Lam, 24, alleged deserter from the United States Army at Fort Humphreys, Va., was in jail here today charged with the shooting to death of a neighbor, Robert Davis, 55, the father of six children, late last night in a mountain community near here.

Authorities stated that Lam admitted killing Davis. He was quoted as saying he shot Davis because of the latter's associations with Lam's younger sister.

Lam gave himself up immediately after the shooting. Davis was shot five times. Because of high feeling, Lam was brought to jail here by a little-used route. Davis' wife died about two months ago.

Lam charged that Davis once shot at him when Lam approached him about his sister. On each occasion of their meeting, Lam said, Davis would proceed to sharpen his knife.

RAIL STOCKS RALLY AFTER EARLY LOSSES

New York, April 10 (A.P.).—Stocks hovered over an undercurrent of heaviness today. A rally in the last hour helped considerably, but it was temporary and final quotations were highly irregular, with small gains slightly favored.

Rails pulled the market lower during the forenoon. However, the midday resistance of the industrials gave the shorts an excuse to cover and carrier issues not only retrieved their early losses, but developed net gains here and there. A late bear drive against Westinghouse, which had been soggy all day, and Bethlehem Steel, turned the market down again in the last few minutes. One compensating factor was the dullness, for volume contracted to 1,600,000 shares, one of the year's smallest turnovers.

In the bond market, railroad issues were sold rather freely. Weakness may have been partly in sympathy with the breaks in two prominent bonds coincident with the dissolution of syndicate support. But the slow decline in this group during the last fortnight or so doubtless reflects uneasiness over the poor record made by the transportation companies in the depression and the absence of any stimulating hopes for an early improvement.

Although the averages showed a small net gain for the railroad stocks, thanks to the late covering, the market's most pronounced weakness was in those issues and at the day's lowest prices were at new 1931 minimums. Atchison was down 4 and Union Pacific 4½. Both made full recovery, only to sag again at the close. New York Central was up 1¾ net. Norfolk & Western rose 2, Illinois Central 1¾, Southern Pacific 1⅛ and New Haven, Frisco and Pennsylvania fractionally. Katy preferred and New Haven preferred broke 5 and 4, respectively, while Baltimore & Ohio and Louisville & Nashville remained heavy.

Steel Rallies React.

Selling of Westinghouse accompanied publication of an unofficial estimate that first quarter operations had resulted in a deficit. The stock dipped just under 80 to the lowest level since 1927 and closed 3 points down. Bethlehem lost 1¾. Allis Chalmers was weakest in the morning before the dividend cut was announced. U. S. Steel rallied more than a point when the small increase in unfilled tonnage appeared, but gave up most of its gain.

The rise of 30,136 tons in the steel corporations backlog indicated the extent to which operations had been adjusted to demand. However, even so small an increase was regarded as encouraging, since it was said that the company had included little or none of two important contracts received during March, namely, the 125,000-ton order for Radio City and 26,000 tons for Pennsylvania Railroad.

Trade reviews reported irregularity in many directions. Bradstreet's said Easter business had not met expectations and Dun's called attention to the recurring weakness of commodity prices, which showed a preponderance of declines in the past week.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, April 10 (A.P.).—An unexpected collapse of the corn market pulled down the entire grain list today, but last-minute rallies jerked prices up. Extensive stop loss selling of corn caught the pit temporarily bare of buyers, and all deliveries outdid the season's previous bottom-price record. Then speculative sellers executed a sudden reversal of their market position and a general rebound ensued.

Corn closed nervous, ⅛@¾ cents higher; wheat, unchanged to ⅛ up; oats, a shade to ⅛ advanced, and provisions, unchanged to 7 cents off.

Many corn traders appeared to have bearish spectacles and showed themselves inclined to accept opinions that corn prices were too high as compared with wheat and other grains. Another unsettling factor was evidence that field work in preparation for the new corn crop was progressing rapidly and that the market had been honeycombed with stop loss orders. Pessimists, moreover, contended that there would be little good in the corn market until the corn-wheat price relation was adjusted to a more nearly normal basis as judged by experience in former years.

Despite knowledge that corn shippers here were more active than for some time past, general demand for future deliveries faded out almost completely after an early bulge in prices. After all deliveries of corn, though, had registered new bottom quotations relative strength of wheat helped to turn grains upward. Bearish aspects of the Government crop report as to wheat had been largely discounted in advance, and wheat prices at times were more responsive to other factors such as curtailment of shipments from the Southern Hemisphere, indicating a substantial drop in the amount of wheat on ocean passage.

Tending further to strengthen wheat were statements from trade authorities that the Government crop report was based on a movable or flexible par for crop condition figures and that if the official forecast of production had been calculated by the same standard as a year ago the estimate would be only 63,000,000 bushels above last year, instead of 94,000,000 higher. It was asserted that the Government was working on an April 1 par value of 17.2 bushels per seeded acre, against 16.3 a year ago, practically a bushel per acre higher.

MORRIS PLAN BANK LOANS DECREASED

Falling Off Is Small, but Is Held to Reflect Drop in Buying.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Morris Plan Banks and companies operating in 34 States made 833,113 loans, totaling $198,368,930, in the year ended December 31, 1930, as compared with loans of $206,178,930 during the preceding year, which is regarded as a highly reasonable record in view of conditions, it was announced yesterday by the Industrial Finance Corporation, founding company of Morris Plan Banks.

In commenting on the year's operations it was explained by Arthur J. Morris, founder of the Morris Plan and president of the Industrial Finance Corporation, that increases in surplus and undivided profits in these institutions and gains in paid-in capital reflected a commendable conservatism in the disbursement of dividends and a general strengthening of capital structure.

Decreased Buying Reflected.

Surplus and undivided profits in 108 Morris Plan Banks and companies whose branches bring their total number of offices to 185, increased 10 per cent to $12,476,553, while average paid-in capital rose 9 per cent to $15,198,383.

Inasmuch as a large amount of the annual Morris Plan loan volume goes to borrowers who immediately turn the money into commercial channels for the purchase of various manufactured products, the decrease in public buying so apparent in other statistical reports is further emphasized in the Morris Plan figures, it was stated.

The Industrial Finance Corporation, in its annual statement for the fiscal year ended January 31, 1931, reported total earnings after all charge-offs, &c., but before dividends, of $559,248.87, which, after payment of $341,693.38 in preferred dividends was equal to $1.10 a share on the average shares of common outstanding.

Liabilities Are Reduced.

"The corporation's record of earnings is regarded as reflecting a reasonable profit in view of its policy of strengthening and simplifying its present financial structure rather than expansion—a policy that finds the corporation at the termination of its fiscal year with total assets of $15,739,167.63; capital surplus and undivided profits of $3,601,980.80 and a net gain after all write-offs, charges, dividends, &c., in value of net assets of $217,585.49; and with contingent liabilities materially reduced," Mr. Morris said.

William Knowles Cooper, partner in Crane, Parris & Co., made a recent address before the Board of Trade of Lynchburg, Va.

Wall Street Briefs

New York, April 10 (A.P.).—The Kroger Grocery & Baking Co. reported for the four weeks ended March 28 sales of $20,342,167, a decrease of 1.82 per cent from $20,719,495 for the corresponding period of 1930. Sales for the first three periods this year totaled $59,080,265, a decrease of 5.04 per cent from the total for the like period of last year. The average number of stores in operation for the third period this year was 5,094, a decrease of 6.6 per cent from 5,454 in operation in the third period of 1930.

M. F. Tiernan, president of Novadel-Agnee Corporation, said sales for the first three months this year were equal to the corresponding period of 1930 and that profits in the first two months showed a slight increase.

March automobile production in the United States and Canada increased to 286,883 cars and trucks from 229,768 in February, according to an estimate by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce. The March total compared with production of 417,118 in March of 1930. Production for the first quarter this year was 694,998, against 1,046,689 in the corresponding period of 1930.

Directors of General Cable Corporation have omitted the dividend of $1.75 on the preferred stock due at this time. It was said that while there is every indication that the company is securing its normal portion of business, the directors felt it wise to conserve the present working capital position of the company and that they entertain no doubt whatever that, with revival of business, dividends will be resumed and that dividend arrears, in keeping with the cumulative feature of the preferred stock, will be earned and paid.

Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Co. directors today reduced the annual dividend rate on the common stock to $2 from $3 by declaring a quarterly payment of 50 cents.

Homestake Mining Co. directors have declared an extra dividend of $1 in addition to the regular monthly dividend of 50 cents. Similar extras were declared from 1924 to 1930, inclusive.

Johns-Manville Corporation for the first quarter reported net profit of $230,109, equal to 13 cents a share on the common stock, against $741,630, or 81 cents a share, in the first quarter last year.

UNFILLED TONNAGE OF STEEL LARGER

New York, April 10 (A.P.).—Unfilled orders of the United States Steel Corporation increased 30,136 tons in March to a total of 3,995,330 tons March 31. In February a decrease of 167,157 tons was reported.

The backlog as of February 28 was 3,965,194 tons. On January 31 unfilled orders aggregated 4,132,351 tons against 3,943,596 on December 31. On March 31, 1930, unfilled orders amounted to 4,570,653 tons.

Wall street had looked for only a nominal change in the figures for the last month-end. Although steel operations improved during most of March, activity began to taper off late in the month.

Radio City Is Help.

However, the industry was helped by demand for structural materials, and U. S. Steel received the contract for the 125,000 tons required for New York's Radio City. It also shared in Pennsylvania Railroad's 100,000-ton order.

In other directions, however, inquiry has been less active in recent weeks. Automotive requirements, especially, have fallen off presumably because manufacturers ordered a little too freely in anticipation of spring production schedules. Contracting prior to April 1, when price advances on certain basic lines became effective was not particularly vigorous and consumers have bought only for immediate needs.

There is a difference of opinion as to whether the seasonal peak in mill operations has been passed. Reactionary tendencies during the last three weeks have lead some observers to believe that the industry now faces a slow and perhaps irregular decline into the normal summer dullness.

Investors Short Stock.

Others believe the automobile business still has further ground to cover before its seasonal turn is reached, and that this expansion will take up some of the recent slack in steel.

The floating supply of United States Steel Corporation common stock, as indicated by stock held in brokers' names, decreased 43,272 shares in the three months ended March 31, indicating investment absorption. The total held by brokers at the end of March was 1,363,905 shares, or 15.69 per cent of the 8,696,859 shares outstanding.

Government Soon To Draw on Banks

Heavy Drain Is Expected to Be Largely Bookkeeping Shift.

New York, April 10 (A.P.).—Withdrawals from bank balances by the United States Treasury from April 15 to 17, inclusive, will be in very substantial amounts, it was learned in Wall street today.

These operations are not expected to have any marked effect on the money market, as they will be largely of a bookkeeping nature and preparations for them have been made. About $149,000,000 interest on the Government debt will fall due on April 15. A substantial portion of the withdrawals will be caused by payment of checks for veterans loans.

Withdrawals from the Second Federal Reserve District on April 13 and 14 will total $10,158,900 respectively, and throughout the United States $53,240,600. These funds will come from the proceeds of the two issues of certificates of indebtedness dated March 16. Deposits remaining in this account after the latter withdrawals will total $124,800,000 in the second Federal Reserve District, and $327,049,300 throughout the country.

Curb Review

The utilities were slightly firmer, and the oils continued to maintain a steady tone. Industrials and specialties, however, were decidedly mixed. Several infrequently traded issues appeared at lower prices. The day's transfers of 388,000 shares were only 8,800 shares more than yesterday's.

American and Foreign Power warrants and Associated Gas A gained about a point. United Light A moved up fractionally. Electric Bond & Share and American Superpower were about unchanged. Duke Power lost 2 in a few transactions.

A firm spot in the oils was Vacuum, which sold up ¾ of a point. Standard of Indiana moved up a small fraction, while Gulf and Cities Service slipped off a little. The constructive program presented by the Oil States Advisory Board and the fresh sags in oil prices are conflicting influences in this group.

In the industrial and specialty group Aluminum Co. rose 6 points, while Aluminum, Ltd., a lightly traded issue, appeared 12 points lower. Bigelow-Sanford Carpet rose a point, and Pilot Radio rose nearly a point to a new high for the year on publication of its 1930 statement.

Drops of 2 points in American Fork & Hoe and Bohack carried them to new minimum levels. Libbey-McNeil dropped more than a point and Ford of Canada declined nearly a point.

RAIL BONDS DECLINE; FOREIGN ISSUES UP

Brazilian Obligations Lead Rise; Germans Also Go Higher.

New York, April 10 (A.P.).—The bond market was irregularly lower today. The decline was marked in the railroad group, where a number of new low prices for 1931 were reached. Steady selling in the New York Central 4½s of 2013, and Pensylvania 4¼s of 1981 did much to swell the total sales to $12,600,000 par value. Both of these recently floated issues reached new low levels at 97½ and 95¼, respectively. Traders reported that the syndicate agreement of the former had been terminated, and that the support of the latter had been stopped.

Breadth of Decline.

The broad character of the decline may be realized from the fact that Boston & Maine 5s of 1967. Chesapeake & Ohio series A refunding 4½s, Chicago & Northwestern refunding 5s, Rock Island series A 4½s Great Northern series E and D 4½s. Missouri Pacific series I 5s, which were unusually active; Nickel Plate series C 4½s, and New Haven debenture 4s of 1957, reached new low levels for this year. A large number of rails also made net losses of 1 point or more.

All groups were not under such pressure. Further gains in Brazilian obligations featured the foreign group. Both issues of 6½s and 8s of the Federal Government, and State of Sao Paulo 8s of 1950 moved upward on a lively demand. Kreuger & Toll 5s, Prussian 6s, Belgian 6½s, German 5½s and several German Agricultural Bank issues either equaled their former high levels or reached new ones. Many of the minority of losses in the foreign groups were made by issues making one or two small sales.

U. S. Bond Deals Uneven.

Trading in United States Government bonds was uneven. Such sales as took place were concentrated pretty much in the First Liberty 3½s, and the Liberty Fourth and Treasury 4¼s. Most of these issues closed slightly lower.

The market in the rest of the list was characterized by quiet trading in most instances with narrow net changes. Public utility bonds were more active than industrials.

The Chase Securities Corporation and a syndicate are offering $3,667,000 of 5 per cent bonds of Vancouver, British Columbia, maturing in 15 to 40 years to yield from 4½ to 4⅝ per cent.

Sales of State and municipal bonds scheduled for next week aggregate $37,406,743 the bond buyer reports. The largest sale will be $10,084,000 of 4½ per cent bonds on Wednesday by Toronto, Ontario. St. Louis will offer an $8,200,000 4 per cent issue the same day.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, April 10 (A.P.).—A continuation of the selling which developed in cotton here yesterday afternoon sent prices for all positions into new low ground for the movement during today's early trading.

July contracts sold off to 10.22, making a net decline of 24 points and a decline of 168 points from the high price touched on the rally of late last February. This price seemed to attract increased buying and covering, however, and there were rallies later, with July selling up to 10.43 and closing at that figure. The general market closed steady at net declines of 1 to 5 points on all months except next March, which was a point above yesterday's closing quotation.

The opening was steady, 8 to 12 points lower, in response to relatively easy Liverpool cables, while there appeared to be some overnight selling orders here from the South. The initial prices attracted considerable covering, but it was readily supplied, and the market eased off gradually under further liquidations of old long accounts, combined with further local and Southern selling.

May liquidation was again a factor, although it was absorbed by the trade against sales of later months on scale down to 9.99 for the near position. October sold off to 10.55, making net declines of 22 to 24 points during the early afternoon. Prices then steadied on covering and trade buying, while there was some buying on a belief that the improvement in the market's technical position entitled it to week-end rallies. Nearly all the early losses were recovered with May selling up to 10.20 and October to 10.__ in the late trading, and the close was about the best prices of the day.

Private reports pointing to a decrease of 11.8 per cent in the Texas acreage were published before the opening, apparently without effect on prices. The New York Cotton Exchange Service issued a report estimating domestic consumption for March at 494,000 bales, compared with 434,000 in February and 507,000 in March of last year.

Liverpool cables reported local, Manchester and Alexandria liquidation in that market. Exports today, 12,555, making 5,804,343 so far this season. Port receipts, 6,225. U. S. port stocks, 3,631,021.

PARATHYROIDS.

A VERY small but very powerful ductless gland is that one which goes by the name of parathyroid. It is more correct to say parathyroids, since there are at least two of them, and usually there are four, while occasionally there are even more. They lie in the neck close by or even within the thyroid. For a long time they were regarded as parts of the larger gland, for such they are in the body of a child that is in preparation for birth and life.

But when removal of the thyroid for goiter became frequent, it was speedily recognized that though the parathyroid might look like thyroid, be within it or near it, and even may have originated as a part of it, the completed gland is something of another sort. If, in the goiter operation, the parathyroids were removed, the patient went into convulsions and continued until he died. It is now known that the parathyroids maintain the calcium in the blood at just the right level. Acting through this channel these glands prevent convulsions and tend to maintain calm and poise.

Acting still more indirectly, it is possible that these glands have something to do with the normal growth of bone, and, conversely, with bone diseases; with the absorption of lime, and with certain states such as nervousness and certain diseases, such as hay fever and asthma, and atheroma of arteries. At the present time not much of this is provable.

Drs. Quick and Hunsberger report an interesting case of too much parathyroid. A very vigorous, well-grown young man, 6 feet tall, and weighing 200 pounds, began to notice that his thirst was excessive. He had to void urine frequently, day and night. His urine was milky. Then he began having rheumatic pains. Next, he seemed to be shrinking in size and became distorted. Then his bones began breaking without adequate couse.

Examination showed that his blood was very low in lime. That mineral was being thrown off by his kidneys. X-rays showed cysts of his bones, loss of calcium and various deformities. His muscles were good enough, but the bones were causing all sorts of deformities and disabilities. Every now and then a spontaneous fracture would occur. A diagnosis of too much parathyroid was made. An operation was done and parathyroid tumor was removed. The man was given vioserol. He began improving at once. The lime in his blood increased. His thirst and urinary symptoms disappeared. But, unfortunately, he is too far down hill ever to climb back again.

The case has many lessons for those interested in convulsions and spasmodic disorders, and also for those whose concern is with bone deformities.

Rockne's Aid Now Senior Coach

Chevigny Appointed "Junior Coach" of 1931 Squad.

SOUTH BEND, Ill., April 10 (A. P.).—Heartley "Hunk" Anderson will carry on for Knute Rockne. Anderson, who played for Rockne at Notre Dame, closing his intercollegiate career in 1921, and later became assistant to the dead leader, today was named by the Rev. Fr. Charles L. O'Donnell, C. S. C., president of the university, to direct football next year, but without the title of head coach—a title that belongs to Knute Rockne.

Anderson, who will be assisted by Jack Chevigny, a star half back who finished his playing days in 1928, will be known as "senior" coach. Chevigny's title will be "junior" coach.

Anderson and Gipp Teammates

Anderson came to Notre Dame from Calumet, Mich., in 1918 with immortal George Gipp and O. J. Larson. He became a regular guard in 1919 and served three years. While he did not reach sensational heights, he was considered by Rockne as one of the greatest of Notre Dame's line men. His spirit and capacity for work appealed to Rockne, and when Anderson was graduated, Rock made him line coach.

He remained at Notre Dame until the 1928 season, when he became head coach at St. Louis University. He remained at St. Louis two seasons, but returned to Notre Dame last fall when Tom Lieb resigned to go to Loyola of California. The Notre Dame line of 1930 was a huge factor in helping the Irish to their greatest heights. Notre Dame was not too well equipped with first rate line reserves through more than half of the season, but at the finish, when they were most needed, Anderson had them ready for their tasks.

Chevigny was rated as outstanding back in 1928, his only season as a regular, but the team that year was the weakest Rockne turned out, and Chevigny failed to gain as much recognition as he otherwise might have. He was a member of the 1926 and 1927 squads. He became back field coach last fall.

Club Could Use More Hitting; Ranks A's, Nats One-Two.

By DONIE BUSH
(Manager, Chicago White Sox).

AS I see it, the American League pennant race will finish with the teams ranked in this order: Philadelphia, Washington, New York, Cleveland, Chicago, Detroit, St. Louis and Boston.

The White Sox finished seventh last year but look much better this season and I think we should land in fifth place anyway. If Al Thomas' arm is right we may land a notch higher.

We could use more hitting but our infield and outfield looks much better. Lu Blue should be a great help at first base.

By JOHN M'GRAW

We had a very successful conditioning trip as far as work was concerned, yet the work as compared with past seasons was rather light, due to the weather and various circumstances not within our control. The Giants will be getting home well trained but not overtrained. That may mean a lot.

The team as it stands is a better outfit than last year, of that I am convinced. So far the major changes made in the club's array have satisfied my judgment. Vergez seems a most satisfying third baseman and Lindstrom has adapted himself quickly to his outfield assignment. Much, of course—probably the most—depends on the pitching, and if the kid, Schumacher, comes through, the Giants may figure even better than their best supporters hope.

As for myself, I am not in the habit of making predictions. All that I would dare prophesy is that it should be a five club race—with the Giants fighting for one of the top numbers.

Old Line Nine Loses Two Contests

North Carolina Wins by 4-2 and 8-4 in Four Hours.

Edwards, Tar Heels' Ace, Stars in Both League Victories.

By JACK ESPEY.

MARYLAND'S Terrapins made a disappointing home debut yesterday by losing both games of a double-header to North Carolina Tarheels at College Park. After nearly four hours of toil Coach Shipley's players left for the comfort, if any, of the shower room on the short ends of 4-to-2 and 8-to-4 scores.

The Tarheels appeared superior in every department, showing better-than-average pitching, a sound defense and an offense that managed to make an impression on its own power despite the ineffectiveness of the Terrapin hurlers.

Coach Shipley used four of his five flingers and found none who suited him. On the other hand, Jim Ashmore, of North Carolina, picked but two—Cecil Longest and Paul Edwards, who throughout kept ahead of the home batters.

Maryland Threatens In Opener.

The first game was well contested, with Maryland threatening up until the ninth inning, but Edwards was rushed to the relief of Longest, who suddenly lost control in the eighth, and quickly smothered a Terrapin rally that had the bases filled with only one out. Harry Milburn, who started this game, proved best of the Maryland pitching corps.

Edwards returned to the box in the seven-inning second game and won in easy fashion though he yielded eleven hits. Hauver and Batson, the latter a star of last year's Maryland club, gave the Carolina curver little opposition. Maryland took the lead in the nightcap by scoring a run in the third inning but the invaders got to Hauver in the next frame and continued the assault on Batson who pitched until the finish.

Cronin Stars at Bat.

In the opener, Longest gave Maryland only two hits, both of which were made by Paul Cronin, whose double sent in the Terps' pair of runs in the fifth inning. Cronin was the lone member of the Black and Gold who could solve the Tarheel pitching with any appreciable consistency. He collected four hits in eight trips plateward.

Henry House and Paul Dunlop led the visitors at bat, the former hitting five singles and the latter two triples and a couple of one-basers. John Peacock, Carolina center fielder, contributed the prize blow, however, a home run to left field in the first game.

Maryland Lacrossers Play Wash. College

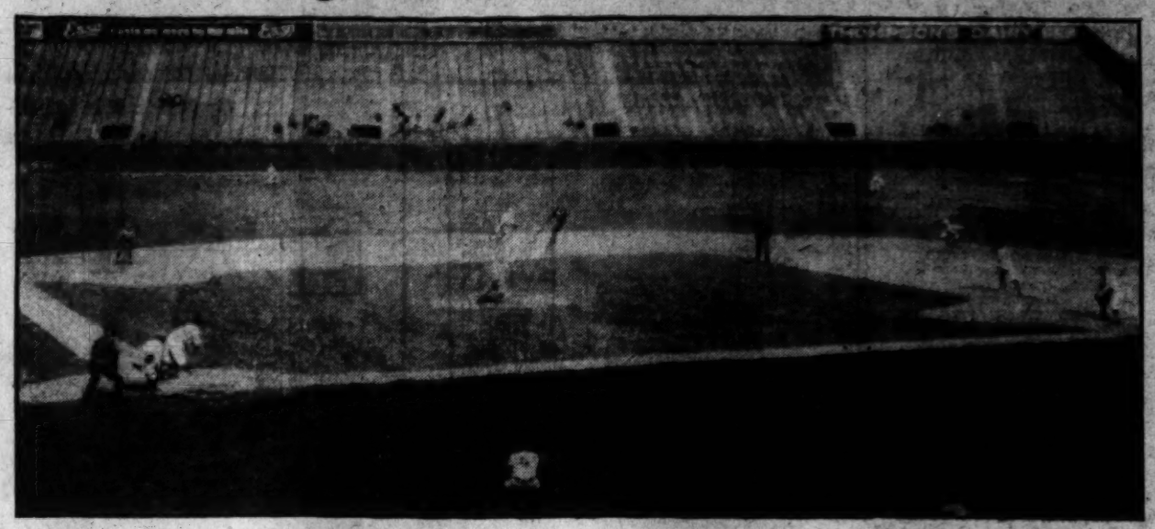

Maryland's Lacrosse Team will play its second game of the season today with Washington College as its opponent at College Park at 3 o'clock.

The Old Liners look for much greater opposition than they encountered last Monday when Georgia was swamped, 20 to 3, in a game played in a downpour of rain. Washington College has given up baseball to stress lacrosse.

Jack Norris, one of the two defense regulars left from last year, but who has scrimmaged only once or twice this spring on account of an injured knee, is no longer with the squad and doubtless will not play this season.

NATS OPPOSE ORIOLES HERE

TWO more games are scheduled for the Nationals before they open the regular season here next Tuesday afternoon. Today they conclude their spring series with the Baltimore Orioles here, while the Rochester Redbirds, winners of the 1930 "Little World's Series," will show tomorrow. Both games are scheduled to get under way at 3 o'clock. . .

Johnson will use this afternoon's game to put the final polish on Pitchers Fred Marberry and Bobby Burke, believing that these shifts will just about top off their training. Fritz Maisel, boss of the Orioles, likely will call on three hurlers—Monte Weaver, Harry (Lefty) Smythe and Bill Clarkson—in three-inning shifts.

For the Sabbath engagement, Carl Fischer will get the call, and this rookie southpaw probably will go the entire route unless he finds the going too rough. He has an idea that he can set back the minor league champions and has asked for a chance to prove whether or not he is right.

Liska Leaves to Visit "Bonesetter."

Pitcher Adolph Liska left yesterday for Youngstown, Ohio, to have his ailing salary wing treated by "Bonesetter" Reese. The subway ball hurler is confident that only one treatment will be necessary, although he has been told to stay as long as he thinks necessary. One treatment—the straightening out of a muscle in his right shoulder—turned the trick when Ad had the same trouble four years ago and he is counting on returning to Washington possibly tomorrow.

Outfielder Alvin (Jake) Powell, former Takoma Bearcat, and Pitcher Carlos (Chief) Moore, both of whom have been on option with the Chattanooga Club, failed to make the grade there and have been returned to the Nationals. Owner Clark Griffith yesterday made arrangements for them to join the Springfield Team of the Eastern League.

The name Ruby, in the Nat box-score of yesterday's game between the Nats and Orioles, no doubt is puzzling Washington fans. It stands for Harry Ruby, a well-known songwriter who is visiting Coach Al Schacht. Ruby has been playing with the Warner Brothers Team at Hollywood and Johnson let him take Jack Hayes' place afield in the ninth inning more or less as a joke.

Nats Picked to Beat Athletics for Pennant With Better Box Staff

By DIXON STEWART.

NEW YORK, April 10 (U.P.). Given two guesses it would be well nigh impossible to miss naming the 1931 American League pennant winner. Philadelphia and Washington outclass the balance of the league to such an extent that victory by any other club would go down in history as an amazing upset.

Washington has the best-rounded pitching staff in the league, plenty of punch at bat, a strong defense and a smart manager. In addition they have the psychological advantage of fighting for a new honor, whereas the Athletics, satiated by two successive pennants, no longer have the fire of a team seeking its first pennant.

Therefore Washington must be accorded top ranking, with the other clubs named to finish in the following order:

2. Philadelphia Athletics.
3. New York Yankees.
4. Cleveland Indians.
5. Detroit Tigers.
6. Chicago White Sox.
7. St. Louis Browns.
8. Boston Red Sox.

FREEMAN AT CLEVELAND.

Cleveland, Ohio, April 10 (A.P.).—Tommy Freeman arrived here tonight to start training tomorrow for the defense of his 147-pound championship in a bout with young Jack Thompson Tuesday night.

SPOT the ball.

That's the challenge to the fans in the above photograph, the first in the series of "Spot the Ball" contests which The Washington Post is reviving this season as a result of the tremendous popularity which marked the contests last year.

Spot the ball and win two box seats to the opening game here Tuesday between the Nats and the Athletics at which President Hoover will head the impressive inaugural ceremonies.

There are no other requirements. Merely mark an X where you believe the ball to be in the picture and mail it to The Post's "Spot the Ball" Editor before 6 p. m. on Monday. The winner will be announced in Tuesday morning's Post. If none is able to mark the exact spot, the closest selection wins the tickets.

Every baseball fan is eligible to submit his or her selection.

Photograph Offers Wide Latitude for Choices

The batter appears to be Joe Cronin and every player in the picture is on his toes, either headed toward the ball or backing up a base. Here's a test for your baseball intelligence. Or maybe you'd rather rely on your unadulterated luck. The little pellet often bobs up in strange places.

Scores of fans saw the Nats play at home as guests of The Post last year by virtue of spotting the ball in the daily contests. Two were sent to the world series. They displayed rare baseball acumen in gauging the course of the ball from the position of the players and their actions when the picture was snapped.

X—In this case—marks the spot of the ball. Submit your selections with name and address attached and mail it to The Post's "Spot the Ball" Editor before 6 p. m. on Monday and the winner will be notified by telegram Monday night. Should more than one contributor spot the ball correctly, priority of receipt will govern. There are no other rules.

Associated Press Consensus Sees A's, Cards Repeating

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor).

NEW YORK, April 10 (A.P.).—On the theory that one good term of office deserves another, the Philadelphia Athletics and St. Louis Cardinals have been picked by the experts to lead the big league baseball parades again this season.

Tabulation today of the fifth annual consensus conducted by the Associated Press revealed the world's champion Athletics were the choice of 41 out of 64 sports writers to lead the American League race for the third successive year.

The Cardinals, with a slightly smaller lead, but nevertheless convincing majority, were selected to win in the National League by 35 of 66 experts.

The ballots represent the opinions of the war correspondents associated with every major league club, as well as the judgment of other close newspaper observers.

As an indication of the belief that the races in both leagues will be close, especially in the National, the favorites in the 1931 consensus received considerably less pronounced support than was the case a year ago.

The Athletics justified the choice of 60 out of 65 critics in 1930, but the Chicago Cubs, picked by 54 out of 66 to win, handed the experts a sever jolt. The winning Cardinals were selected in advance by only two observers.

This season's balloting has indicated Washington as the chief rival of the Athletics, with the Chicago Cubs and Brooklyn Robins picked to have the best chance of upsetting the champion Cardinals. The two New York clubs have been ranked as outside choices in each league.

Washington fooled the experts last year by finishing second after being rated seventh in the preseason consensus. As a result the Nats were a strong second in this year's voting. They were the choice of no less than sixteen experts to win. Six others picked the Yankees. Cleveland's Indians, who seem ready to go on the warpath in earnest, have only one backer enthusiastic enough to rate them at the top.

The Cubs have the support of thirteen critics to win, while Brooklyn has been selected by an even dozen. The Giants topped four lists, Pittsburgh and Philadelphia each one, although the latter vote may have been cast by an expert who was thinking about the Athletics instead of the Phillies.

BILLY PETROLLE WINS.

St. Louis, April 10.—Billy Petrolle, the "Fargo Express," won a newspaper decision from Lope Tenorio, Filipino from New York, in a slashing ten-round bout here tonight. Petrolle weighed 138 pounds and Tenorio 142. A glancing blow to the chin sent Tenorio down in the fifth round, but he was up before the referee could start a count.

Lott and Sutter Bow In Texas Net Upsets

Houston, Tex., April 10 (U.P.).—An intercollegiate champion and a Davis Cup player were defeated today in the semifinal round of the River Oaks Country Club invitation tennis tournament.

Bruce Barnes, Austin, Texas University star, defeated George Lott, of Philadelphia, a Davis Cup player, in five sets. The score: 1—6, 6—1, 3—6, 7—5 and 6—4. Barnes used his spectacular back court attack to good advantage.

Ellsworth Vines, of Pasadena, Calif., furnished the second upset of the day's play, defeating Cliff Sutter, New Orleans intercollegiate champion, in straight sets, 6—3, 6—4, 8—6.

BERG RETAINS TITLE.

After ten rounds of fast milling, mostly by Berg, there was no question of who would receive Referee Elmer (Slim) McClelland's decision.

YANKS STAGE ANOTHER ROUT

CHARLOTTE, N. C., April 10 (A.P.).—Eight solid blows in the last inning, including home runs by Lyn Lary and Tony Lazzeri, provided the Yankees with eight runs and enabled them to come from behind today and defeat Charlotte, of the Piedmont League, 16 to 13.

Lary's circuit smash drove in the tying scores, and Lazzeri's sewed up the decision. Babe Ruth and Dusty Cooke also contributed homers, the Babe's being his fifth of the exhibition season and his third in three days.

Four pitchers toiled for the Yanks and their fielding was wobbly in the early innings, six errors being charged against them.

Norfolk, Va., April 10 (A.P.).—The Giants and White Sox closed their annual spring barnstorming tour in a stalemate today, each with seven victories, when the Sox walloped two New York pitchers for 19 hits and won, 11 to 7. The rivalry will be renewed in games at New York tomorrow and Sunday.

With Lu Blue, new first baseman, taking a prominent part in their attack, the White Sox bombarded Walker and his successor, Lucas, hard from the start. Six runs in the first inning practically sewed it up for Donie Bush's men. Earl Frasier, Texas League recruit, kept the Giants well in hand until the eighth, when he was relieved by Moore. Ott and Leach homered for the losers.

Hurler Ready For Opener Tuesday

By FRANK H. YOUNG

BALTIMORE, April 10.—With his entire regular outfield missing and a rookie playing first base, Manager Walter Johnson's Nationals today clinched the series with the Baltimore Orioles by turning in a 7-to-3 victory. This gave the big leaguers a record of five victories, two defeats and a tie against their little brothers in the minors.

Lloyd Brown, slated to perform for the Nationals in Tuesday's inaugural with the Athletics, was given his final competitive workout before the "game of games" and he acquitted himself well except for a wobbly start. After he once became warmed up, however, he simply breezed through his shift, fanning seven in the five innings he worked.

Wally Tauscher succeeded "Brownie" and he turned in a fair performance, yielding but three hits in the four frames he was on the hill. And while Brown and Tauscher were holding the Orioles in check the Nat hitters were making quite free with the combined deliveries of Luther Roy, Harry Richmond and Joe Cascarella, being credited with a total of sixteen safeties.

Boyle Opens Game With Homer.

Two of these drives were home runs—off the bats of Brown and Joe Crolin—while Boyle opened the game for the home team with a four-base clout, but as the stadium here is one of those bandbox affairs, in which ordinary fly balls in every direction except straight center are likely to clear the barrier, no particular credit is attached to these drives.

Boyle's homer was particularly flukey. Opening for the Orioles, this left-handed hitter reached across the plate for a wide one, tried to check his swing but failed, and the sphere lazily sailed over the left field wall. Later in the inning another run was molded, the ingredients of which were singles by Gill and Stroner, with a base on balls separating the blows.

It was not until the ninth that the Baltimoreans could count again and then they scored once on a base on balls, a theft, and one-basers by Sothern and Gill. More damage would have been done had not Baxter Jordan, subbing for Sam Rice, raced across the field and grabbed a wicked drive off Joe Hauser's bat with his gloved back hand.

"Break" Aids Nats To Score Trio.

A "break" gave the Nationals the chance to score their first three runs as, with two out and Harry Rice and Dave Harris on the bases as a result of hits in the third canto, Sothern and Heffner collided while chasing Cronin's Texas Leaguer. The former apparently had caught the ball to retire the side, but it was knocked out of his hands and one run scored. Then hits by Kuhel and Jordan brought two more home.

Singles by Bluege, Bolton and H. Rice netted another in the fourth. Brown cracked out his homer starting the sixth, Cronin inserted his round-tripper in the seventh, and

MORHEART DEFEATS FILLIES IN BOWIE'S FEATURE

Morvich Filly 3 Lengths In Front

Remillard Suspended for Rough Riding; Lahor Wins.

By J. B. SNODGRASS.

MORHEART carried the colors of J. A. Coburn to easy victory in the Blossom Purse, feature at Bowie yesterday, winning by three lengths. On the Agua Caliente sands last winter the daughter of Morvich displayed sparkling speed, but in the Bowie mud a few days ago she proved a decided failure. But finding the track fast in the Blossom, she galloped to victory, having a margin of three lengths. She met five other 3-year-old fillies, and was made the standout favorite.

Durva, a winner at this track, also was well backed, but was an indifferent second, and just saved that, for Anchor Light, meeting interference in the back stretch, came fast and was only a head behind Durva to get thrd. Durva broke badly and lost ground in the stretch. She moved up later, but the winning circle was safe from the first for Morheart, which ran the 5½ furlongs in 1:07 3-5. The winner paid $4.70.

There was a record crowd out. Bowie can not complain of the attendance since the weather turned warm and the track improved. The meeting closes today with the $5,000 Prince Georges Handicap as the feature.

Lahor Is Easy Winner.

The fifth race hung up the most money and was won by Lahor, a good horse when owned by the Rancocas Stable, but which has become less dependable. F. Madely had the mount on Lahor, which now races for Thomas McVicker, and it seemed he unnecessarily rushed the son of Luculite, for he won by eight lengths. Thistle Fern was the place horse, beating Berber a nose. Berber, which goes in the big closing day stake, was as backward in running as Lahor was forward, and made no move until reaching the stretch. The winner paid $4.70, and ran a mile and one-sixteenth in 1:48.

The Palm Wood Stable's Lampoon led all the way in the first race, for 2-year-olds, easily withstanding the challenge in the stretch from the Glen Riddle Stable's Brushup, and C. V. Whitney's colt Wingover was third and Bill Nora fourth. E. Watters had the mount on Lampoon and was away flying and ran the half mile in 0:48 flat. Brushup showed gameness through the stretch and was the outsider in the field of eleven. The race was the fastest of the meeting for a half mile, and Lampoon won by two lengths, and Brushup was five lengths in front of Wingover.

Negodale won his fourth race of the meeting for Miss Blanche Watson, his owner, when he scored in the third event by a half length, with D. Meade up. This is a record that no other horse racing here can equal, with only one more day of the meeting. Keith was second and Allenah, early pacemaker, third. Cockrell, which got away last, closed fast to finish fourth. Negodale won by a half length and Keith beat Allanah three lengths for place. The winner paid $11.20, while Keith was $21.90 for place and Allanah $12.50 to show.

A. Robertson scored in the seventh race with Sea Scamp, J. Boseley's horse. This placed Robertson one winning race behind Remillard in their race for supremacy—ten to eleven. Robertson may tie or beat Remillard on closing day as Remillard was suspended yesterday for rough riding. Lady Bienville was second in the race and By Product third. The winner paid $12.20.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—LAMPOON, $5.20, $3.60, $2.70; BRUSHUP, $24.70, $11.00; WINGOVER, $4.00.

LAMPOON outbroke his field. He was steadied in front while rounding the turn and opened up a safe lead when straightened out in the stretch to win in hand. BRUSHUP, a forward contender and saving ground the entire trip, held on with good courage in the final drive. WINGOVER broke greenly. He gradually improved his position and was closing fast through stretch when he stumbled. That cost him a few lengths but he continued gamely to outlast BILL NORA in the final drive. BILL NORA, prominent the early stages, saved ground entering the stretch, finished stoutly. CATTY raced greenly. WHITE TOES and ESCOSTAR were crowded back when the break came.

SECOND RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from stalls. Won easily; place driving. Went to post at 3:01½. Off at 3:06. Winner, Loma Stable's ch. c. 4, by Dunboyne—Chloe D. Trained by F. White. Value to winner, $850; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:23 2-5, 0:47 3-5, 1:13 3-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—CHLO BOY, $25.60, $10.90, $7.60; PRINCETON, $4.40, $3.20; SIR BYRON, $6.00.

CHLO BOY, going in improved form, followed the early pace under slight restraint. He bore out on the stretch turn but closed with a rush under a hand ride and wearing PRINCETON down in the final 50 yards, went away rapidly in the closing strides. PRINCETON hustled into the lead and saving ground all the way, weakened under punishment in the stretch run. SIR BYRON slipped through next to the inner rail the entire journey, held on stoutly in the final drive. WICKER broke slowly. She closed a big gap the first half mile but was carried wide entering the stretch and then weakened from her early effort. COGWHEEL finished resolutely. YOUR FLAG was pinched back on the stretch turn. EXTREME and PADDOCK showed a flash of early speed.

THIRD RACE—Seven furlongs. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start poor from stalls. Won driving; place same. Went to post at 3:36. Off at 3:39½. Winner, Miss B. Two-dollar mutuels paid—NEGODALE, $11.20, $6.40, $4.80; KEITH, $21.90, $17.10; ALLANAH, $12.50.

NEGODALE, off forwardly, was taken under restraint the early stages. He disposed of the leaders rapidly when called upon and drew out, but was hard urged to withstand KEITH'S challenge in the stretch run. The latter responded gamely under punishment through the stretch, but then faltered in the final strides. ALLANAH broke cleanly and drew clear in the early stages while saving ground, but then tired suddenly the last furlong, but held COCKRILL safe. The latter, off poorly, closed a big gap the first furlong but was carried extremely wide entering the stretch and was not persevered the last furlong. TEWSENELDA was in close quarters for almost the entire trip. THE DOCTOR, forced to race wide all the way, was eased up in the stretch run. CRASHER and GOLD BET retired the final quarter mile.

FOURTH RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse, $1,200. The Blossom. For 3-year-old fillies. Start good from stalls. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:11½. Off at 4:13. Winner, James Coburn's br. f., by Morvich—Girl O' My Heart. Trained by G. W. Coburn. Value to winner, $850; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:23 2-5, 0:48 1-5, 1:07 3-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—MORHEART, $4.70, $3.00, $2.60; DURVA, $3.00, $2.50; ANCHOR LIGHT, $3.60.

MORHEART, running to her best form, took command at once and opened up a winning lead the first three furlongs. She was steadied in front thereafter and saving ground, was never menaced. DURVA broke alertly but was forced to pull up when PEACE DOVE crossed in front of her leaving the backstretch. She gained steadily when clear and made a game effort but then weakened in the final strides. ANCHOR LIGHT, shuffled back the first furlong and an early trailer, closed a big gap on the outside the last quarter mile and would have been second in another stride. PEACH BASKET saved much ground entering the stretch but could never get up. PEACE DOVE and POLYLITH retired in the stretch run after displaying early speed.

FIFTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,400. The Highway. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good from stalls. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:41. Off at 4:41½. Winner, T. F. Two-dollar mutuels paid—LAHOR, $4.70, $2.70, $2.20; THISTLE FYRN, $3.60, $2.40; BERBER, $2.40.

LAHOR broke slowly and was carried extremely wide rounding the first turn. He was waited with on the outside of the leaders until midway around the last turn, where he assumed command with a rush and opened up a commanding lead and was going easily in the final strides. THISTLE FYRN, used up racing BUD CARLTON into submission, saved ground entering the stretch, tired in the stretch and just lasted long enough to stall off BERBER'S bid. The latter, a distant trailer the early running, closed with a belated rush the last quarter mile and would have been second in another stride. BUD CARLTON, quickest to get going and saving ground, displayed the most speed for six furlongs, but then tired. BLIMP retired after entering the stretch.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 3-year-olds. Start good from stalls. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 5:16½. Off at 5:25. Winner, F. F. Two-dollar mutuels paid—SAN PRESTO, $7.70, $3.50, $2.90; KEN KLING, $4.20, $3.10; TALENTED PRINCE, $3.20.

SAN PRESTO, well handled, followed the pace under restraint until the stretch turn, where he assumed command at his leisure and had something in reserve at the end. KEN KLING broke slowly and was crowded back going to the first pole. He gradually improved his position on the outside rounding the lower turn, but saving ground entering the stretch responded gamely under punishment, wore TALENTED PRINCE down the last stride. TALENTED PRINCE clipped through on the inside the early running and raced in closest pursuit of the leader. He moved up stoutly entering the stretch but then weakened as if short. NOBLE SIR and AIRLINER raced evenly. CUPIDITY stopped badly after going six furlongs. PETABIT had no excuses.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good from stalls. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 5:58½; off at 5:59. Winner, J. SEA SCAMP, away forwardly, was placed under restraint in closest attendance to pace maker. Moved up on outside entering stretch to subdue BY PRODUCT, but was under drive to the end. LADY BIENVILLE, in close quarters after start, improved position steadily and made courageous bid to reach winner in last three sixteenths. BY PRODUCT set all early pace but tired under pressure in last quarter of a mile. THYMON raced evenly and had no excuses. DADDY NELSON broke sluggishly and closed great gap on outside. ISOSTASY turned in a dull effort but had no excuses.

It was a hard game on the Nat catchers, as Cliff Bolton was forced to retire in the fourth because of a minor spike wound on one of his shins, while "Pinky" Hargrave had to finish the game with a badly bruised finger, the result of being hit by a foul off Hauser's bat in the seventh.

PORTAM NOT FOR SALE AT $25,000

BOWIE, Md., April 10.—Charlie Reilly, who trains Portam, 2-year-old chestnut son of The Porter—Amaryllis, winner of the Bowie Kindergarten yesterday, stated today that Owner Charles J. (Buck) Eisenhardt, of Baltimore, had turned down an offer of $25,000 for his undefeated colt.

The offer was made to the Baltimore sportsman by former Jockey Clarence Turner, who operates a breeding farm just outside Baltimore, and who was acting for an Eastern sportsman.

Syriac, 4-year-old bay gelded son of Flying Ebony—Lexicon, who races for Mayor Frank Hayes of Waterbury, Conn., and Mrs. William Shea's Sandy Ford, 5-year-old bay gelded son of Sand Mole—Inquiry, both suffered cuts in their last race here that will keep them from the $5,000 Prince George (Spring) Handicap, tomorrow's mile and one-sixteenth feature.

Sandy Ford's both hind legs were filled this morning, while Syriac was unable to leave his stall. The injuries were received when the horses collided right after they broke from the stall gates.

Sandy Ford will be shipped back to New York tomorrow along with eleven others that Trainer Willie Shea had quartered in this State.

We would like to know why trainers insist on riding apprentices, who are unable to do 2-year-olds justice, when such good 2-year-old rider, as Johnny McTaggart is available. The Baltimore boy always could ride 2-year-olds and he has lost none of his form on the babies, as his races on Portam, winner of the Bowie Kindergarten will attest.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

"FOUR-MINUTE" LAKE was created in June, 1925, when an entire section of Sheep Mountain, above the Gros Ventre Valley, gave way and hurled itself into the valley below, crushing and sweeping along everything in its path. Within four minutes the Gros Ventre River, which flowed through the valley, was blocked by a natural dam of rock and debris 400 feet high. The water rose 3½ feet an hour, but as it spread over the bottom land the rise decreased. Three weeks after the devastating landslide, the lake reached a depth of 220 feet at the dam, a maximum width of a mile, and was approximately 4½ miles long.

Shanganagh, the Irish wolfhound, weighs a little more than 200 pounds, but falls short of a record in this respect as Maurprat, a huge St. Bernard, weighed 255 pounds. However, the Bernard only measured 8 feet in length.

The expensive Fleur de Lys pattern stockings are perfect in every detail, and there are less than a dozen pairs in the world. Before they are put on the market they are handled by scores of skilled craftsmen, and are put to a microscopic examination to be sure they are without a flaw.

Morsel Selected to Win $5,000 Bowie Stake Today

By J. B. SNODGRASS.

BOWIE will lower the curtain today on its spring meeting with a fine card, featuring the Prince Georges Handicap, $5,000 added, which is run in the spring and the fall, a mile and a sixteenth, for 3-year-olds and up. Other features are the Benning, for 2-year-olds, and the Mount Vernon for older horses.

MORSEL, the LeMar Stock Farm's entry for the Prince Georges Handicap, is selected to win with top weight, notwithstanding his two failures at this track in the mud. The track will be fast today, if there is no rain before post time. MORSEL was beaten in the Inaugural by THISTLE ANN, and she is in this race, but she takes on weight and the LeMar candidate takes it off. MORSEL met his second defeat by Pegg's Pride, an upset. This stable is going to Lexington, and this is its last chance at a stake here.

FIRST RACE—This is for maiden 3-year-olds and has an unwieldly field. EGAD was favorite at Saratoga to beat Ormesby and ran second. Hhe should have enough class to win over these. EIGHTY TWENTY is said to be a good one and may be the contender. BEDFORD BOY was third to Royal Guinea the other day and looks like the show horse.

SECOND RACE—DOCTOR HAPPY is the selection in the Bennings, for 2-year-olds. He beat Proteus in the South. JALPUR seems to be strictly the contender and won his last start at Bowie. C. V. Whitney's DUSTEMOFF was off badly in his only start and is tabbed for third.

THIRD RACE—LADY CAPULET should win the Mount Vernon. She was third to Protractor at this meeting, and has beaten Pennant Lass. SUPREME SWEET may give her an argument, and should hold the others safe. The Zeigler Stable's LEVANTE has been working well and may be third.

FIFTH RACE—LITTLE GYP ran well behind Toney Joe and probably is best. SUN PERSIAN likes the distance if Little Gyp should fail. BATTLING ON will not have to improve much to get the third money.

SIXTH RACE—SPECTACULAR, a Florida winner and a speedy mare, is best in the sixth race. She was scratched the other day for this engagement. FOUNDATION STONE should get the place. He is working well. He cost Ralph Pulitzer $25,000, but has long since quit the stake division and is running in cheap claiming affairs.

SEVENTH RACE—SPANFLOW, on New Orleans form, is picked in the curtain event and the last race of the meeting. PETER PETER has not turned in his best race yet, and may be the contender. PANDA has been a big disappointment at this meeting, but is believed best of the others.

PURPLE NINE WINNER AT SWAVELY

MANASSAS, Va., April 10.—Gonzaga High School, of Washington, D. C., brought a team of slugging stickmen and fielding experts to Manassas today and swamped the Swavely Nine, 20 to 6, in a game featured by a Gonzaga rally in the fourth inning which netted the Purple 11 runs.

Cleary, Gonzaga pitcher, stole most of the individual spotlight with his good work on the mound and at the plate. He struck out eight Cadets and held the opposition to five safeties. He connected with three clean hits himself, one of which was a home run, and another a triple.

Another feature of the game was the work of Grace, Gonzaga shortstop, who hit safely in all five times at bat. It was Grace's first high school game.

Rockne's Aid Now Senior Coach

Chevigny Appointed "Junior Coach" of 1931 Squad.

SOUTH BEND, Ill., April 10 (A. P.).—Heartley "Hunk" Anderson will carry on for Knute Rockne. Anderson, who played for Rockne at Notre Dame, closing his intercollegiate career in 1921, and later became assistant to the dead leader, today was named by the Rev. Fr. Charles L. O'Donnell, C. S. C., president of the university, to direct football next year, but without the title of head coach—a title that belongs to Knute Rockne.

Anderson, who will be assisted by Jack Chevigny, a star half back who finished his playing days in 1928, will be known as "senior" coach. Chevigny's title will be "junior" coach.

Anderson and Gipp Teammates

Anderson came to Notre Dame from Calumet, Mich., in 1918 with immortal George Gipp and O. J. Larson. He became a regular guard in 1919 and served three years. While he did not reach sensational heights, he was considered by Rockne as one of the greatest of Notre Dame's line men. His spirit and capacity for work appealed to Rockne, and when Anderson was graduated, Rock made him line coach.

He remained at Notre Dame until the 1928 season, when he became head coach at St. Louis University. He remained at St. Louis two seasons, but returned to Notre Dame last fall when Tom Lieb resigned to go to Loyola of California. The Notre Dame line of 1930 was a huge factor in helping the Irish to their greatest heights. Notre Dame was not too well equipped with first rate line reserves through more than half of the season, but at the finish, when they were most needed, Anderson had them ready for their tasks.

Chevigny was rated as outstanding back in 1928, his only season as a regular, but the team that year was the weakest Rockne turned out, and Chevigny failed to gain as much recognition as he otherwise might have. He was a member of the 1926 and 1927 squads. He became back field coach last fall.

Mass Listed Monday For Knute Rockne

CHISOX SEEN BY BUSH IN 5TH PLACE

Club Could Use More Hitting; Ranks A's, Nats One-Two.

By DONIE BUSH

AS I see it, the American League pennant race will finish with the teams ranked in this order: Philadelphia, Washington, New York, Cleveland, Chicago, Detroit, St. Louis and Boston.

The White Sox finished seventh last year but look much better this season and I think we should land in fifth place anyway. If Al Thomas' arm is right we may land a notch higher.

We could use more hitting but our infield and outfield looks much better. Lu Blue should be a great help at first base.

By JOHN M'GRAW

We had a very successful conditioning trip as far as work was concerned, yet the work as compared with past seasons was rather light, due to the weather and various circumstances not within our control. The Giants will be getting home well trained but not overtrained. That may mean a lot.

The team as it stands is a better outfit than last year, of that I am convinced. So far the major changes made in the club's array have satisfied my judgment. Vergez seems a most satisfying third baseman and Lindstrom has adapted himself quickly to his outfield assignment. Much, of course—probably the most—depends on the pitching, and if the kid, Schumacher, comes through, the Giants may figure even better than their best supporters hope.

As for myself, I am not in the habit of making predictions. All that I would dare prophesy is that it should be a five club race—with the Giants fighting for one of the top numbers.

Old Line Nine Loses Two Contests

North Carolina Wins by 4-2 and 8-4 in Four Hours.

Edwards, Tar Heels' Ace, Stars in Both League Victories.

By JACK ESPEY.

MARYLAND'S Terrapins made a disappointing home debut yesterday by losing both games of a double-header to North Carolina Tarheels at College Park. After nearly four hours of toil Coach Shipley's players left for the comfort, if any, of the shower room on the short ends of 4-to-2 and 8-to-4 scores.

The Tarheels appeared superior in every department, showing better-than-average pitching, a sound defense and an offense that managed to make an impression on its own power despite the ineffectiveness of the Terrapin hurlers.

Coach Shipley used four of his five flingers and found none who suited him. On the other hand, Jim Ashmore, of North Carolina, picked but two—Cecil Longest and Paul Edwards, who throughout kept ahead of the home batters.

Maryland Threatens In Opener.

The first game was well contested, with Maryland threatening up until the ninth inning, but Edwards was rushed to the relief of Longest, who suddenly lost control in the eighth, and quickly smothered a Terrapin rally that had the bases filled with only one out. Harry Milburn, who started this game, proved best of the Maryland pitching corps.

Edwards returned to the box in the seven-inning second game and won in easy fashion though he yielded eleven hits. Hauver and Batson, the latter a star of last year's Maryland club, gave the Carolina curver little opposition. Maryland took the lead in the nightcap by scoring a run in the third inning but the invaders got to Hauver in the next frame and continued the assault on Batson who pitched until the finish.

Cronin Stars at Bat.

In the opener, Longest gave Maryland only two hits, both of which were made by Paul Cronin, whose double sent in the Terps' pair of runs in the fifth inning. Cronin was the lone member of the Black and Gold who could solve the Tarheel pitching with any appreciable consistency. He collected four hits in eight trips plateward.

Henry House and Paul Dunlop led the visitors at bat, the former hitting five singles and the latter two triples and a couple of one-basers. John Peacock, Carolina center fielder, contributed the prize blow, however, a home run to left field in the first game.

Maryland Lacrossers Play Wash. College

Maryland's Lacrosse Team will play its second game of the season today with Washington College as its opponent at College Park at 3 o'clock.

The Old Liners look for much greater opposition than they encountered last Monday when Georgia was swamped, 20 to 3, in a game played in a downpour of rain. Washington College has given up baseball to stress lacrosse.

Jack Norris, one of the two defense regulars left from last year, but who has scrimmaged only once or twice this spring on account of an injured knee, is no longer with the squad and doubtless will not play this season.

NATS OPPOSE ORIOLES HERE

TWO more games are scheduled for the Nationals before they open the regular season here next Tuesday afternoon. Today they conclude their spring series with the Baltimore Orioles here, while the Rochester Redbirds, winners of the 1930 "Little World's Series," will show tomorrow. Both games are scheduled to get under way at 3 o'clock. . .

Johnson will use this afternoon's game to put the final polish on Pitchers Fred Marberry and Bobby Burke, believing that these shifts will just about top off their training. Fritz Maisel, boss of the Orioles, likely will call on three hurlers—Monte Weaver, Harry (Lefty) Smythe and Bill Clarkson—in three-inning shifts.

For the Sabbath engagement, Carl Fischer will get the call, and this rookie southpaw probably will go the entire route unless he finds the going too rough. He has an idea that he can set back the minor league champions and has asked for a chance to prove whether or not he is right.

Pitcher Adolph Liska left yesterday for Youngstown, Ohio, to have his ailing salary wing treated by "Bonesetter" Reese. The subway ball hurler is confident that only one treatment will be necessary, although he has been told to stay as long as he thinks necessary. One treatment—the straightening out of a muscle in his right shoulder—turned the trick when Ad had the same trouble four years ago and he is counting on returning to Washington possibly tomorrow.

Outfielder Alvin (Jake) Powell, former Takoma Bearcat, and Pitcher Carlos (Chief) Moore, both of whom have been on option with the Chattanooga Club, failed to make the grade there and have been returned to the Nationals. Owner Clark Griffith yesterday made arrangements for them to join the Springfield Team of the Eastern League.

The name Ruby, in the Nat box-score of yesterday's game between the Nats and Orioles, no doubt is puzzling Washington fans. It stands for Harry Ruby, a well-known songwriter who is visiting Coach Al Schacht. Ruby has been playing with the Warner Brothers Team at Hollywood and Johnson let him take Jack Hayes' place afield in the ninth inning more or less as a joke.

Nats Picked to Beat Athletics for Pennant With Better Box Staff

By DIXON STEWART.

NEW YORK, April 10 (U.P.).—Given two guesses it would be well nigh impossible to miss naming the 1931 American League pennant winner. Philadelphia and Washington outclass the balance of the league to such an extent that victory by any other club would go down in history as an amazing upset.

Washington has the best-rounded pitching staff in the league, plenty of punch at bat, a strong defense and a smart manager. In addition they have the psychological advantage of fighting for a new honor, whereas the Athletics, satiated by two successive pennants, no longer have the fire of a team seeking its first pennant.

Therefore Washington must be accorded top ranking, with the other clubs named to finish in the following order:

2. Philadelphia Athletics.
3. New York Yankees.
4. Cleveland Indians.
5. Detroit Tigers.
6. Chicago White Sox.
7. St. Louis Browns.
8. Boston Red Sox.

SPOT the ball.

That's the challenge to the fans in the above photograph, the first in the series of "Spot the Ball" contests which The Washington Post is reviving this season as a result of the tremendous popularity which marked the contests last year.

Spot the ball and win two box seats to the opening game here Tuesday between the Nats and the Athletics at which President Hoover will head the impressive inaugural ceremonies.

There are no other requirements. Merely mark an X where you believe the ball to be in the picture and mail it to The Post's "Spot the Ball" Editor before 6 p. m. on Monday. The winner will be announced in Tuesday morning's Post. If none is able to mark the exact spot, the closest selection wins the tickets.

Photograph Offers Wide Latitude for Choices

The batter appears to be Joe Cronin and every player in the picture is on his toes, either headed toward the ball or backing up a base. Here's a test for your baseball intelligence. Or maybe you'd rather rely on your unadulterated luck. The little pellet often bobs up in strange places.

Scores of fans saw the Nats play at home as guests of The Post last year by virtue of spotting the ball in the daily contests. Two were sent to the world series. They displayed rare baseball acumen in gauging the course of the ball from the position of the players and their actions when the picture was snapped.

X—in this case—marks the spot of the ball. Submit your selections with name and address attached and mail it to The Post's "Spot the Ball" Editor before 6 p. m. on Monday and the winner will be notified by telegram Monday night. Should more than one contributor spot the ball correctly, priority of receipt will govern. There are no other rules.

Associated Press Consensus Sees A's, Cards Repeating

NEW YORK, April 10 (A.P.).—On the theory that one good term of office deserves another, the Philadelphia Athletics and St. Louis Cardinals have been picked by the experts to lead the big league baseball parades again this season.

Tabulation today of the fifth annual consensus conducted by the Associated Press revealed the world's champion Athletics were the choice of 41 out of 64 sports writers to lead the American League race for the third successive year.

The Cardinals, with a slightly smaller lead, but nevertheless convincing majority, were selected to win in the National League by 35 of 66 experts.

The ballots represent the opinions of the war correspondents associated with every major league club, as well as the judgment of other close newspaper observers.

As an indication of the belief that the races in both leagues will be close, especially in the National, the favorites in the 1931 consensus received considerably less pronounced support than was the case a year ago.

The Athletics justified the choice of 60 out of 65 critics in 1930, but the Chicago Cubs, picked by 54 out of 66 to win, handed the experts a sever jolt. The winning Cardinals were selected in advance by only two observers.

This season's balloting has indicated Washington as the chief rival of the Athletics, with the Chicago Cubs and Brooklyn Robins picked to have the best chance of upsetting the champion Cardinals. The two New York clubs have been ranked as outside choices in each league.

Washington fooled the experts last year by finishing second after being rated seventh in the preseason consensus. As a result the Nats were a strong second in this year's voting. They were the choice of no less than sixteen experts to win. Six others picked the Yankees. Cleveland's Indians, who seem ready to go on the warpath in earnest, have only one backer enthusiastic enough to rate them at the top.

The Cubs have the support of thirteen critics to win, while Brooklyn has been selected by an even dozen. The Giants topped four lists, Pittsburgh and Philadelphia each one, although the latter vote may have been cast by an expert who was thinking about the Athletics instead of the Phillies.

Lott and Sutter Bow In Texas Net Upsets

Houston, Tex., April 10 (U.P.).—An intercollegiate champion and a Davis Cup player were defeated today in the semifinal round of the River Oaks Country Club invitation tennis tournament.

Bruce Barnes, Austin, Texas University star, defeated George Lott, of Philadelphia, a Davis Cup player, in five sets. The score: 1—6, 6—1, 3—6, 7—5 and 6—4. Barnes used his spectacular back court attack to good advantage.

Ellsworth Vines, of Pasadena, Calif., furnished the second upset of the day's play, defeating Cliff Sutter, New Orleans intercollegiate champion, in straight sets, 6—3, 6—4, 8—6.

BERG RETAINS TITLE.

After ten rounds of fast milling, mostly by Berg, there was no question of who would receive Referee Elmer (Slim) McClelland's decision.

BILLY PETROLLE WINS.

St. Louis, April 10.—Billy Petrolle, the "Fargo Express," won a newspaper decision from Lope Tenorio, Filipino from New York, in a slashing ten-round bout here tonight. Petrolle weighed 138 pounds and Tenorio 142. A glancing blow to the chin sent Tenorio down in the fifth round, but he was up before the referee could start a count.

YANKS STAGE ANOTHER ROUT

CHARLOTTE, N. C., April 10 (A.P.).—Eight solid blows in the last inning, including home runs by Lyn Lary and Tony Lazzeri, provided the Yankees with eight runs and enabled them to come from behind today and defeat Charlotte, of the Piedmont League, 16 to 13.

Lary's circuit smash drove in the tying scores, and Lazzeri's sewed up the decision. Babe Ruth and Dusty Cooke also contributed homers, the Babe's being his fifth of the exhibition season and his third in three days.

Four pitchers toiled for the Yanks and their fielding was wobbly in the early innings, six errors being charged against them.

Norfolk, Va., April 10 (A.P.).—The Giants and White Sox closed their annual spring barnstorming tour in a stalemate today, each with seven victories, when the Sox walloped two New York pitchers for 19 hits and won, 11 to 7. The rivalry will be renewed in games at New York tomorrow and Sunday.

With Lu Blue, new first baseman, taking a prominent part in their attack, the White Sox bombarded Walker and his successor, Lucas, hard from the start. Six runs in the first inning practically sewed it up for Donie Bush's men. Earl Frasier, Texas League recruit, kept the Giants well in hand until the eighth, when he was relieved by Moore. Ott and Leach homered for the losers.

By FRANK H. YOUNG

BALTIMORE, April 10.—With his entire regular outfield missing and a rookie playing first base, Manager Walter Johnson's Nationals today clinched the series with the Baltimore Orioles by turning in a 7-to-3 victory. This gave the big leaguers a record of five victories, two defeats and a tie against their little brothers in the minors.

Lloyd Brown, slated to perform for the Nationals in Tuesday's inaugural with the Athletics, was given his final competitive workout before the "game of games" and he acquitted himself well except for a wobbly start. After he once became warmed up, however, he simply breezed through his shift, fanning seven in the five innings he worked.

Wally Tauscher succeeded "Brownie" and he turned in a fair performance, yielding but three hits in the four frames he was on the hill. And while Brown and Tauscher were holding the Orioles in check the Nat hitters were making quite free with the combined deliveries of Luther Roy, Harry Richmond and Joe Cascarella, being credited with a total of sixteen safeties.

Boyle Opens Game With Homer.

Two of these drives were home runs—off the bats of Brown and Joe Cronin—while Boyle opened the game for the home team with a four-base clout, but as the stadium here is one of those bandbox affairs, in which ordinary fly balls in every direction except straight center are likely to clear the barrier, no particular credit is attached to these drives.

Boyle's homer was particularly flukey. Opening for the Orioles, this left-handed hitter reached across the plate for a wide one, tried to check his swing but failed, and the sphere lazily sailed over the left field wall. Later in the inning another run was molded, the ingredients of which were singles by Gill and Stroner, with a base on balls separating the blows.

It was not until the ninth that the Baltimoreans could count again and then they scored once on a base on balls, a theft, and one-basers by Sotherh and Gill. More damage would have been done had not Baxter Jordan, subbing for Sam Rice, raced across the field and grabbed a wicked drive off Joe Hauser's bat with his gloved back hand.

"Break" Aids Nats To Score Trio.

A "break" gave the Nationals the chance to score their first three runs as, with two out and Harry Rice and Dave Harris on the bases as a result of hits in the third canto, Sothern and Heffner collided while chasing Cronin's Texas Leaguer. The former apparently had caught the ball to retire the side, but it was knocked out of his hands and one run scored. Then hits by Kuhel and Jordan brought two more home.

Singles by Bluege, Bolton and H. Rice netted another in the fourth. Brown cracked out his homer starting the sixth, Cronin inserted his round-tripper in the seventh, and

MORHEART DEFEATS FILLIES IN BOWIE'S FEATURE

Morvich Filly 3 Lengths In Front

By J. B. SNODGRASS.

MORHEART carried the colors of J. A. Coburn to easy victory in the Blossom Purse, feature at Bowie yesterday, winning by three lengths. On the Agua Caliente sands last winter the daughter of Morvich displayed sparkling speed, but in the Bowie mud a few days ago she proved a decided failure. But finding the track fast in the Blossom, she galloped to victory, having a margin of three lengths. She met five other 3-year-old fillies, and was made the standout favorite.

Durva, a winner at this track, also was well backed, but was an indifferent second, and just saved that, for Anchor Light, meeting interference in the back stretch, came fast and was only a head behind Durva to get third. Durva broke badly and lost ground in the stretch. She moved up later, but the winning circle was safe from the first for Morheart, which ran the 5½ furlongs in 1:07 3-5. The winner paid $4.70.

There was a record crowd out. Bowie can not complain of the attendance since the weather turned warm and the track improved. The meeting closes today with the $5,000 Prince Georges Handicap as the feature.

Lahor Is Easy Winner.

The fifth race hung up the most money and was won by Lahor, a good horse when owned by the Rancocas Stable, but which has become less dependable. F. Madely had the mount on Lahor, which now races for Thomas McVicker, and it seemed he unnecessarily rushed the son of Lucullite, for he won by eight lengths. Thistle Fern was the place horse, beating Berber a nose. Berber, which goes in the big closing day stake, was as backward in running as Lahor was forward, and made no move until reaching the stretch. The winner paid $4.70, and ran a mile and one-sixteenth in 1:48.

The Palm Wood Stable's Lampoon led all the way in the first race, for 2-year-olds, easily withstanding the challenge in the stretch from the Glen Riddle Stable's Brushup, and C. V. Whitney's colt Wingover was third and Bill Nora fourth. E. Watters had the mount on Lampoon and was away flying and ran the half mile in 0:48 flat. Brushup showed gameness through the stretch and was the outsider in the field of eleven. The race was the fastest of the meeting for a half mile, and Lampoon won by two lengths, and Brushup was five lengths in front of Wingover.

Negodale won his fourth race of the meeting for Miss Blanche Watson, his owner, when he scored in the third event by a half length, with D. Meade up. This is a record that no other horse racing here can equal, with only one more day of the meeting. Keith was second and Allenah, early pacemaker, third. Cockrell, which got away last, closed fast to finish fourth. Negodale won by a half length and Keith beat Allanah three lengths for place. The winner paid $11.20, while Keith was $21.90 for place and Allanah $12.50 to show.

A. Robertson scored in the seventh race with Sea Scamp, J. Boseley's horse. This placed Robertson one winning race behind Remillard in their race for supremacy—ten to eleven. Robertson may tie or beat Remillard on closing day as Remillard was suspended yesterday for rough riding. Lady Bienville was second in the race and By Product third. The winner paid $12.20.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—LAMPOON, $5.20, $3.60, $2.70; BRUSHUP, $24.70, $11.00; WINGOVER, $4.00.

LAMPOON outbroke his field. He was steadied in front while rounding the turn and opened up a safe lead when straightened out in the stretch to win in hand. BRUSHUP, a forward contender and saving ground the entire trip, held on with good courage in the final drive. WINGOVER broke greenly. He gradually improved his position and was closing fast through stretch when he stumbled. That cost him a few lengths but he continued gamely to outlast BILL NORA in the final drive. BILL NORA, prominent the early stages, saved ground entering the stretch, finished stoutly. CATTY raced greenly. WHITE TOES and ESCOSTAR were crowded back when the break came.

SECOND RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from stalls. Won easily; place driving. Went to post at 3:01½. Off at 3:06. Two-dollar mutuels paid—CHLO BOY, $25.60, $10.90, $7.60; PRINCETON, $4.40, $3.20; SIR BYRON, $6.00.

CHLO BOY, going in improved form, followed the early pace under slight restraint. He bore out on the stretch turn but closed with a rush under a hand ride and wearing PRINCETON down in the final 50 yards, went away rapidly in the closing strides. PRINCETON hustled into the lead and saving ground all the way, weakened under punishment in the stretch run. SIR BYRON slipped through next to the inner rail the entire journey, held on stoutly in the final drive. WICKER broke slowly. She closed a big gap the first half mile but was carried wide entering the stretch and then weakened from her early effort. COGWHEEL finished resolutely. YOUR FLAG was pinched back on the stretch turn. EXTREME and PADDOCK showed a flash of early speed.

THIRD RACE—Seven furlongs. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start poor from stalls. Won driving; place same. Went to post at 3:36. Off at 3:38½. Winner, Miss B. Two-dollar mutuels paid—NEGODALE, $11.20, $6.40, $4.80; KEITH, $21.90, $17.10; ALLANAH, $12.50.

NEGODALE, off forwardly, was taken under restraint the early stages. He disposed of the leaders rapidly when called upon and drew out, but was hard urged to withstand KEITH'S challenge in the stretch run. The latter responded gamely under punishment through the stretch, but then faltered in the final strides. ALLANAH broke cleanly and drew clear in the early stages while saving ground, but then tired suddenly the last furlong, but held COCKRILL safe. The latter, off poorly, closed a big gap the first furlong but was carried extremely wide entering the stretch and was not persevered the last furlong. TEWSENELDA was in close quarters for almost the entire trip. THE DOCTOR, forced to race wide all the way, was eased up in the stretch run. CRASHER and GOLD BET retired the final quarter mile.

FOURTH RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse, $1,200. The Blossom. For 3-year-old fillies. Start good from stalls. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:11½. Off at 4:13. Two-dollar mutuels paid—MORHEART, $4.70, $3.00, $2.60; DURVA, $3.00, $2.50; ANCHOR LIGHT, $3.60.

MORHEART, running to her best form, took command at once and opened up a winning lead the first three furlongs. She was steadied in front thereafter and saving ground, was never menaced. DURVA broke alertly but was forced to pull up when PEACE DOVE crossed in front of her leaving the backstretch. She gained steadily when clear and made a game effort but then weakened in the final strides. ANCHOR LIGHT, shuffled back the first furlong and an early trailer, closed a big gap on the outside the last quarter mile and would have been second in another stride. PEACH BASKET saved much ground entering the stretch but could never get up. PEACE DOVE and POLYLITH retired in the stretch run after displaying early speed.

FIFTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,400. The Highway. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good from stalls. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:41. Off at 4:41½. Winner, T. F. Two-dollar mutuels paid—LAHOR, $4.70, $2.70, $2.20; THISTLE FYRN, $3.60, $2.40; BERBER, $2.40.

LAHOR broke slowly and was carried extremely wide rounding the first turn. He was waited with on the outside of the leaders until midway around the last turn, where he assumed command with a rush and opened up a commanding lead and was going easily in the final strides. THISTLE FYRN, used up racing BUD CARLTON into submission, saved ground entering the stretch, tired in the stretch and just lasted long enough to stall off BERBER'S bid. The latter, a distant trailer the early running, closed with a belated rush the last quarter mile and would have been second in another stride. BUD CARLTON, quickest to get going and saving ground, displayed the most speed for six furlongs, but then tired. BLIMP retired after entering the stretch.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 3-year-olds. Start good from stalls. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 5:16½. Off at 5:25. Winner, F. F. Brant's br. g. 3, by Santorb—Hey Presto. Trained by F. F. Brant. Value to winner, $850; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:24 3-5, 0:50 2-5, 1:16 3-5, 1:43, 1:49 4-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—SAN PRESTO, $7.70, $3.50, $2.90; KEN KLING, $4.20, $3.10; TALENTED PRINCE, $3.20.

SAN PRESTO, well handled, followed the pace under restraint until the stretch turn, where he assumed command at his leisure and had something in reserve at the end. KEN KLING broke slowly and was crowded back going to the first pole. He gradually improved his position on the outside rounding the lower turn, but saving ground entering the stretch responded gamely under punishment, wore TALENTED PRINCE down the last stride. TALENTED PRINCE clipped through on the inside the early running and raced in closest pursuit of the leader. He moved up stoutly entering the stretch but then weakened as if short. NOBLE SIR and AIRLINER raced evenly. CUPIDITY stopped badly after going six furlongs. PETABIT had no excuses.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good from stalls. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 5:58½; off at 5:59. Winner, J. Two-dollar mutuels paid—SEA SCAMP, $12.20, $7.70, $5.70; LADY BIENVILLE, $6.10, $4.40; BY PRODUCT, $4.50.

SEA SCAMP, away forwardly, was placed under restraint in closest attendance to pace maker. Moved up on outside entering stretch to subdue BY PRODUCT, but was under drive to the end. LADY BIENVILLE, in close quarters after start, improved position steadily and made courageous bid to reach winner in last three sixteenths. BY PRODUCT set all early pace but tired under pressure in last quarter of a mile. THYMON raced evenly and had no excuses. DADDY NELSON broke sluggishly and closed great gap on outside. ISOSTASY turned in a dull effort but had no excuses.

Baltimore Owner of Juvenile Refuses Large Offer.

BOWIE, Md., April 10.—Charlie Reilly, who trains Portam, 2-year-old chestnut son of The Porter—Amaryllis, winner of the Bowie Kindergarten yesterday, stated today that Owner Charles J. (Buck) Eisenhardt, of Baltimore, had turned down an offer of $25,000 for his undefeated colt.

The offer was made to the Baltimore sportsman by former Jockey Clarence Turner, who operates a breeding farm just outside Baltimore, and who was acting for an Eastern sportsman.

Syriac, 4-year-old bay gelded son of Flying Ebony—Lexicon, who races for Mayor Frank Hayes of Waterbury, Conn., and Mrs. William Shea's Sandy Ford, 5-year-old bay gelded son of Sand Mole—Inquiry, both suffered cuts in their last race here that will keep them from the $5,000 Prince George (Spring) Handicap, tomorrow's mile and one-sixteenth feature.

Sandy Ford's both hind legs were filled this morning, while Syriac was unable to leave his stall. The injuries were received when the horses collided right after they broke from the stall gates.

Sandy Ford will be shipped back to New York tomorrow along with eleven others that Trainer Willie Shea had quartered in this State.

We would like to know why trainers insist on riding apprentices, who are unable to do 2-year-olds justice, when such good 2-year-old rider, as Johnny McTaggart is available. The Baltimore boy always could ride 2-year-olds and he has lost none of his form on the babies, as his races on Portam, winner of the Bowie Kindergarten will attest.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

"FOUR-MINUTE" LAKE was created in June, 1925, when an entire section of Sheep Mountain, above the Gros Ventre Valley, gave way and hurled itself into the valley below, crushing and sweeping along everything in its path. Within four minutes the Gros Ventre River, which flowed through the valley, was blocked by a natural dam of rock and debris 400 feet high. The water rose 3½ feet an hour, but as it spread over the bottom land the rise decreased. Three weeks after the devastating landslide, the lake reached a depth of 220 feet at the dam, a maximum width of a mile, and was approximately 4½ miles long.

Shanganagh, the Irish wolfhound, weighs a little more than 200 pounds, but falls short of a record in this respect as Maurprat, a huge St. Bernard, weighed 255 pounds. However, the Bernard only measured 8 feet in length.

The expensive Fleur de Lys pattern stockings are perfect in every detail, and there are less than a dozen pairs in the world. Before they are put on the market they are handled by scores of skilled craftsmen, and are put to a microscopic examination to be sure they are without a flaw.

PURPLE NINE WINNER AT SWAVELY

Special to The Washington Post.

MANASSAS, Va., April 10.—Gonzaga High School, of Washington, D. C., brought a team of slugging stickmen and fielding experts to Manassas today and swamped the Swavely Nine, 20 to 6, in a game featured by a Gonzaga rally in the fourth inning which netted the Purple 11 runs.

Cleary, Gonzaga pitcher, stole most of the individual spotlight with his good work on the mound and at the plate. He struck out eight Cadets and held the opposition to five safeties. He connected with three clean hits himself, one of which was a home run, and another a triple.

Another feature of the game was the work of Grace, Gonzaga shortstop, who hit safely in all five times at bat. It was Grace's first high school game.

Morsel Selected to Win $5,000 Bowie Stake Today

By J. B. SNODGRASS.

BOWIE will lower the curtain today on its spring meeting with a fine card, featuring the Prince Georges Handicap, $5,000 added, which is run in the spring and the fall, a mile and a sixteenth, for 3-year-olds and up. Other features are the Benning, for 2-year-olds, and the Mount Vernon for older horses.

MORSEL, the LeMar Stock Farm's entry for the Prince Georges Handicap, is selected to win with top weight, notwithstanding his two failures at this track in the mud. The track will be fast today, if there is no rain before post time. MORSEL was beaten in the Inaugural by THISTLE ANN, and she is in this race, but she takes on weight and the LeMar candidate takes it off. MORSEL met his second defeat by Pegg's Pride, an upset. This stable is going to Lexington, and this is its last chance at a stake here.

FIRST RACE—This is for maiden 3-year-olds and has an unwieldly field. EGAD was favorite at Saratoga to beat Ormesby and ran second. Hhe should have enough class to win over these. EIGHTY TWENTY is said to be a good one and may be the contender. BEDFORD BOY was third to Royal Guinea the other day and looks like the show horse.

SECOND RACE—DOCTOR HAPPY is the selection in the Bennings, for 2-year-olds. He beat Proteus in the South. JALPUR seems to be strictly the contender and won his last start at Bowie. C. V. Whitney's DUSTEMOFF was off badly in his only start and is tabbed for third.

THIRD RACE—LADY CAPULET should win the Mount Vernon. She was third to Protractor at this meeting, and has beaten Pennant Lass. SUPREME SWEET may give her an argument, and should hold the others safe. The Zeigler Stable's LEVANTE has been working well and may be third.

FIFTH RACE—LITTLE GYP ran well behind Toney Joe and probably is best. SUN PERSIAN likes the distance if Little Gyp should fail. BATTLING ON will not have to improve much to get the third money.

SIXTH RACE—SPECTACULAR, a Florida winner and a speedy mare, is best in the sixth race. She was scratched the other day for this engagement. FOUNDATION STONE should get the place. He is working well. He cost Ralph Pulitzer $25,000, but has long since quit the stake division and is running in cheap claiming affairs.

SEVENTH RACE—SPANFLOW, on New Orleans form, is picked in the curtain event and the last race of the meeting. PETER PETER has not turned in his best race yet, and may be the contender. PANDA has been a big disappointment at this meeting, but is believed best of the others.

three walks and Jordan's single netted another in the ninth.

It was a hard game on the Nat catchers, as Cliff Bolton was forced to retire in the fourth because of a minor spike wound on one of his shins, while "Pinky" Hargrave had to finish the game with a badly bruised finger, the result of being hit by a foul off Hauser's bat in the seventh.

TRACK MEET IS LOST BY EASTERN

By BOB CONSIDINE.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., April 10.—A well-trained covey of track and field performers wearing the colors of Episcopal High stopped the dual-meet winning streak of Eastern High, which has extended to three years, here this afternoon by combining to hand the District scholastic champions a 68-59 licking. It was a meet of the nippest and tuckest variety, with the scales balancing each way until Episcopal's mile relay team smothered Eastern's quartet as the sun was about to come in contact with the celebrated Virginia horizon.

What might well foreshadow the immediate future of the Eastern team was on distinct view today, as not one Lincoln Parker came home ahead in the flat races. Eastern's points were won by three men, Slye and Everett, Mike Kelley's pet hurdlers—Slye, for instance, working to such an extent that he broke his own two District high school records—and Hutchinson, the able-bodied Easterner, who was the class of the field events.

Slye Breaks Two of Own Hurdle Marks.

Slye nipped the frills off his mark of 0:16.1 for the 120 high hurdles by covering the distance in 16 seconds flat. He came back in the 220 low hurdles, with Everett at his shoulders, to clip a fifth of a second off his mark of 0:24.2. He had to break the record to win this race, so stern was the competition from Cary, the lithe little Virginian, who set a ruinous pace from the start and led until he went off stride on the next to last obstacle.

Records were not seriously infringed upon in the other events. Episcopal showed it had the superior runners from the start, and Eastern settled down to its field events to keep abreast. The two teams raced neck and neck in pointage, so much so, indeed, that the mile relay found Eastern leading by the margin of 59-58.

It was easily the feature of the day, although it was run eight seconds slower than the meet record established by Eastern's great relay squad last year. The race converged the spread-out fans for the first time and sent the Episcopal rooters into a blast of disorganized cheering as Cary led Hutchinson home by 30 yards.

exhibition series today with a 10-to-6 victory over the Kansas City Blues of the American Association.

The contest was a slugging match, with the Blues gaining an early lead, only to lose it when the National Leaguers staged a seven-inning drive reminiscent of 1929. Bob Smith and Charlie Root pitched for the Cubs, yielding twelve hits, while Tom Sheehan and Sanders, a recruit, gave up fifteen to Cub bats among them a homer by Manager Rogers Hornsby.

HITTING the HEAD PIN

MEYER DAVIS won their match with Rendezvous last night on the Lucky Strike alleys, but Rendezvous won the District League championship by virtue of their lone victory, which oddly enough came in the first game.

According to prescribed form for winning a pennant, especially after one of the gamest up-hill battles to find its way into the records in years, the Rendezvous lads should have waited until the third tilt before pulling the match out of the fire. Led by collegiate Jack Whalen, however, the eventual winners upset pin after pin to pile up a total of 641, winning by 112 pins.

The new champs "tired badly" after finding themselves "in," and the Meyer Davis bowlers, with Moore in the driver's seat, won the last two handily.

After a neck and neck battle which has extended back over the last few weeks, Fuller Stone No. 1 took a commanding lead of three games over their archrivals, Standard Art Marble, by putting the skids under C. H. Tompkins for all three games. The Marble lads were losing to the Fuller No. 2 team by a 2-1 score. In the other Building Contractors League matches rolled on the Arcadia alleys, Lake Stone downed Hudson & Dougherty by three games, while Southern Asbestos was taking James Baird by one game. D. C. Butcher lost to P. T. McDermott, John P. Evans won from Columbia Sand, and A. W. Lee beat Rudolph & West, all by scores of 2-1.

The John Blick Midgets, who have romped through to eighteen consecutive victories over some of the leading men's as well as boys' combinations in the South Atlantic section, will step up into the fastest company they have ever attempted to compete with when an all-star combination of lady pin tipplers opposes them on the Arcadia Alleys tonight. The match will begin promptly at 7:45 p. m.

Knocking 'em down for the all-stars will be five of the best known bowlers in the ranks of the fairer sex. They are Billie Butler, Katherine Quigley, Helen Sullivan, Rena Levy and Lorraine Gulli. The Blick proteges will go into action with their regular line-up composed of Bob Chalfonte, Jackie Simmons, Ray Sisler, Bill Sisler, Al Baer and Ouncie Harrison toeing the mark.

Duehring, of Goldsmith, missed high set for the present Jewelers' League season when he toppled 371 of the maples, just two shy of the record, as his team downed Castleburg's five by one game. In the other league games rolled on the Columbia alleys, R. Harris took two from Von Steinner & Baum, Gault No. 1, won the odd game from Bluestein, Jewel Shop won over Gault No. 2 by the same score, while Oppenheimer & Shah was failing to register as single win in their meeting with Shaw & Brown. Deslo finished one up on Limon, while Heller Plating bowed by one game to Pearson & Crain.

School Nines Play Three Games Today

Gonzaga, Business and St. Alban's make up the local high school baseball day today, with the first two teams being scheduled to clash on the Monument Grounds at 11 o'clock this morning. St. Alban's will play host to Forrest Park, of Baltimore, at St. Alban's at 3 o'clock.

Gonzaga, fresh from an overwhelming victory yesterday at Swavely Prep, is an odds-on favorite to take the Business outfit into camp this morning. Gonzaga is in practically midseason form, having practiced much of late, while the Stenographers have been out but once this year.

St. Alban's will be playing its first game of the season against the Baltimoreans.

DUNLAP AND PARKS IN FINALS

Medalist Advances by Easy Triumph Over Ryerson.

PINEHURST, N. C., April 10 (A.P.).—George T. Dunlap, jr., New York golfer and intercollegiate champion, and S. M. Parks, Pittsburgh linksman, won their semifinal matches today to enter the finals of the thirty-first annual North and South amateur tournament tomorrow.

Dunlap, the medalist, a Princeton star, advanced handily at the expense of J. B. Byerson, Cooperstown, N. Y., who annexed a series of titles in the Florida tournament season. The score was 4 and 3.

T. Suffern Tailer, Newport, R. I., gave Parks more trouble in their semifinal contest, but the Pennsylvanian played the steadier game on the back nine to win, 2 and 1.

Dunlap and Parks will go the 36-hole route in the final match.

Parks and Tailer All Square.

Parks and Tailer were all square at the turn, each with a 39. Parks took three putts on the third and was trapped on the sixth to lose both. Tailer was trapped and lost the fifth, but won the sixth with a birdie and the seventh with a par 3. Parks won the eighth and ninth.

Both shot birdies on the tenth, and they reached the twelfth even. Tailer won that hole with a birdie 3, but he lost to Parks' par 4 on the thirteenth and again on the fourteenth. Parks' birdie 4 won the sixteenth after halving the fifteenth in par.

Tailer was two feet from the cup for a win on the seventeenth when Parks laid him a stymie, to gain a half in 4, and end the match, 2 and 1.

DRILLS FOR LIONELS.

The Lionel Insects and Peewees will practice today on the West Elipse at 1 o'clock. Former members and new candidates are asked to report.

Virginia Frosh Nine Defeats Central, 5-4

Charlottesville, Va., April 10.—Virginia's freshman nine opened its season here today by defeating Central High School, of Washington, 5-4, in a light-hitting contest.

The Yearlings, outhit and outfielded, put over the winning tally in the eight when Babcock walked and counted on Hobbs double. Their first three runs were made without a hit. Fishburne's shoestring catch of Heflin's drive in the first frame and Neal's one-hand stab of White's long fly proved the fielding features.

FLICKERING TAPERS LEAD UNIQUE GREEK CHURCH PROCESSION

GREEK MINISTER JOINS SERVICES AND MARCH

As hundreds of spectators, their numbers enhanced by the balmy weather, lined streets and looked on with mingled sentiments of awe, respect and admiration, members of the Greek Orthodox Church last night held their annual observance of Good Friday with a colorful procession from the church at Sixth and C streets southwest to the Capitol Grounds and back again to the church.

Among more than 200 adherents who participated in the services, which were held before the march began and the procession itself, were Minister Simopoulos, of Greece; Emile Vriesakis, first secretary, and other members of the legation staff.

Leading the picturesque procession, whose flickering tapers, white robes and chanted hymns created a unique picture beneath the spreading trees of Capitol Hill, was the Boys Independent Band. Then came Gus M. Bassis, World War veteran, who was decorated by Belgium for heroism. He was in uniform.

Choir Boys Carry Candles.

Next in order were two choir boys, wearing white robes and carrying lighted candles. They were followed by three choir boys who carried golden scepters which were brought from Greece. Behind them walked a group of 25 girls, also dressed in white and carrying tapers.

The Rev. Father Thomas Danile, wearing a golden robe, was next, followed by members of the Greek-American Progressive Association, a select few of which bore a casket which contained, by symbolism, the remains of Christ. The casket was profusely covered with roses and carnations.

Rites End Sunday Morning.

The ritual and ceremonies, beginning with last night's services at the church and ending with rites which will be held at the church early tomorrow morning, commemorate the funeral and resurrection of Christ. The Sixth Street Congregation, of which George M. Montcouris is president, holds the procession each year, a feature which is not encompassed by all Greek Orthodox congregations.

Concluding services will start at 11:30 o'clock tonight and last until the early hours tomorrow morning.

The route of the procession was from the church, at Sixth and C streets southwest, west on C street to Maryland avenue, down Maryland avenue to the Capitol Grounds, through to Pennsylvania avenue and Peace Monument, up Pennsylvania avenue to Sixth street and down Sixth street to the church.

Washington Is Warmer Than 3 Cities in South

Washington yesterday was warmer than New Orleans, Tampa or Atlanta. In fact, Los Angeles was the only one of the 20 cities, usually reported by the Weather Bureau, which had a higher temperature than Washington, and it was only two degrees higher.

The mercury reached 82 degrees here. It was 84 in Los Angeles. The high temperature assures that the cherry blossoms, already out, will be seen in their full glory by tomorrow.

Couple Overcome By Gas Is Rescued

Pipe Leak Thought Cause of Near Tragedy as Pair Recover.

They were found by the Fire Rescue Squad, which was summoned by Mrs. Marie Tracey, manager of the apartment. J. B. Snead, a resident of the building, smelled gas as he passed the apartment. They were revived and brought to Emergency Hospital, where they are recovering.

When the Fire Rescue Squad arrived it broke through the door and found Mr. Boaz on the floor of the living room. Mrs. Boaz was on the bathroom floor. No jets were turned on and it is believed that there was a leak in a pipe.

BOLLING FIELD, NAVAL AIRPLANES ADD COLOR

Fifty Entrants Represent All of Types, Colors and Sizes.

Hundreds of boys and girls in Washington yesterday attended the annual kite contest conducted by the District Model Aircraft League and by the Community Center department of the public schools, when more than 50 kites were entered in the contest representing all types, colors and sizes.

The weather was ideal for the outing, with warm sunshine and just wind enough to make kite flying easy. The contest was held in Anacostia Park, where long "runways" were convenient for the fliers, although many of the kites got a "ducking" in the Anacostia River, when they came swirling down through air pockets and cross-currents. Airplanes from Bolling Field and the Naval Air Station added atmosphere to the scene as many of them flew around on higher levels than the kites.

Luther Schmidt was declared winner of the meet, when his kite took first prize in performance, workmanship and decoration, the three qualifications. He flew as a "junior," in the class under 16 years old.

Meet Winners Are Listed.

Other winners in different classes were: Subjuniors, under 12 years, Jack Collins, performance and workmanship, and Brooks Fry, performance and decoration; juniors under 16, Samuel Bacasse, performance and decoration; Frank Salisbury, workmanship and decoration; David Fish, performance; Adelbert, Selden, performance.

The seniors, over 16 years, included as winners James Carpenter, performance and decoration; L. Pumphrey, performance, and Fremont Davis, workmanship. The fourth class was designated "father and son class," and the winner was Leon Litsis, for workmanship and decoration.

High Officials Witness Meet.

The meet was witnessed by a group of prominent District officials headed by Commissioner Luther H. Reichelderfer, H. Barrett Learned, president of the local Board of Education; Dr. George C. Havenner, president of the Federation of Citizens Associations; Gen. Mason M. Patrick, chairman of the Public Utilities Commission, and Col. U. S. Grant 3d. All of these officials released balloons with cards attached, which were to be mailed back to officials of the air league.

Judges at the meet included Hugo Inden, Fine Arts Club; Bertis Baker, Corcoran Art Gallery; Dr. H. L. Dryden, Bureau of Standards; S. T. Ferguson, Weather Bureau; Paul Edward Garber, Smithsonian Institute, and F. A. Woodward, principal of the Gordon Junior High School. The committee in charge was headed by Gertrude Driscoll, as chairman; H. H. Cleary, Helen Collier, E. L. Cooney, W. S. Griest, H. S. Harbour, Elsie Hawkins, Mrs. Ruth Melroy, O. B. Porter, Edith Robinson, John H. Williams, Esther Scott, Otto Scheidel, Virginia Schmucker and Mrs. Mabel Weidemann.

THE ONCE OVER

ELMER TWITCHELL ON BETTER LETTER WRITING.

DEAR Editor: I see where Gov. Pinchot of Pennsylvania has come out for scrapping useless phrases in letter writing. Things like "yours of even date," "contents noted," "in re," "beg to remain" and all that stuff. This strikes me as a whale of an idea, only the governor does not go far enough. I am not only for a Nation-wide movement for the elimination of letter-writers' guff but for a constitutional amendment prohibiting certain forms and phrases.

* * * *

I would bar anything like "Your name has been suggested to us by a mutual friend," because it is all part of a racket to get you to join a new athletic club or buy shares in a picture house or something, and I would taboo those other come-ons like "Our Mr. Balmsley has reserved 50 shares of stock in your name," "It is our privilege to afford you an unusual opportunity" and "We are making this offering to a selected group." These are plain poison in any communication.

* * * *

"To whom it may concern" is another one I don't like. I know the minute I open a letter and see that salutation that I am to be asked to give a job to somebody the writer discharged, or contribute money to help the bearer complete a coast-to-coast trip on a pogo stick or something. "Dear friend" always makes me suspicious, also, as no dear friend ever calls you that, and I think there should be capital punishment provided for the person who opens a letter with "Dear sir or madam," which is little more than an insult to either sex.

* * * *

Then there is the phrase, "I hate to impose on a casual friendship, but * * *." You don't have to read any further to know that it is going to be a touch for $10 or a request that you subscribe to four magazines and help the writer go through college.

* * * *

"SOME years ago I had the extreme pleasure of meeting you at a banquet" is another bad starter. It always means that the writer never saw you in his life but is working on a sucker list.

* * * *

"Would you be interested in a proposition by which you could collect $100,000 in five short years?" is an opener, which always means that some insurance man is on your trail, and "A bunch of the boys have held a meeting" is just leading up to a request that you buy a $5 ticket to a testimonial dinner to old Joe Gunch, the well-known Elk.

* * * *

But there is one phrase I hope is barred definitely and for all time, as it causes more anguish than any other group of words, and that is the phrase, "Kindly favor us with a check at your earliest convenience." I know of nothing I hate to see in a letter more than that, unless it is the statement, "We have turned your account with us over to our lawyer."

* * * *

You see, once you start a drive to eliminate annoying phrases from letters you have a big job ahead. I make these few suggestions merely by way of helping the good work.

ELMER TWITCHELL.

P. S.—You notice I did not waste any space by saying "Yours very truly," or anything like that.

CHICAGO ELECTION RESULT.

MR. ANTON J. CERMAK, elected Mayor of Chicago over Big Bill Thompson, was once a coal miner. The result may be an indication that after a study of the heating problem Chicago has decided to turn from gas to coal.

Miss Belle Livingstone complains of the food she was served in jail. But it is difficult to see where she has any justifiable kick as long as she wasn't asked to eat one of those night club sandwiches.

Michel, the former boy King of Roumania, is being taught to repair automobiles. Possibly with the notion that he will ultimately own a service station and make a royal income seem picayune.

ONE of the things that puts fear into the heart of a Chicago youth these days is that if he goes in for crime in a big way he will be arrested and tried on a charge of vagrancy.

The Soviet government has bought 5,000,000 phonograph records, none of which has any jazz selections. This makes the five-year plan seem like a definite drive against Paul Whiteman, Vincent Lopez and the Pennsylvanians.

HOSPITAL FOR CARE OF CONTAGIOUS ILLS SUBJECT OF STUDY

SIZE OF STRUCTURE NOT YET DETERMINED

Construction of a municipal hospital for contagious diseases, which has long been the dream of Health Officer William C. Fowler, appeared as a likely prospect yesterday with the announcement by the District Commissioners that a delegation would be sent to Philadelphia and New York next week to study the structure and maintenance of such institutions.

Dr. Fowler will be accompanied on the tour by Dr. Edgar A. Bocock, superintendent of Gallinger Hospital, and Merrel A. Coe, of the municipal architect's office.

Gallinger Grounds Picked.

An appropriation for the hospital will in all probability be asked from Congress in next year's budget, though as yet District officials have no definite idea as to how much the hospital will cost.

A location on the Gallinger Hospital grounds has been chosen tentatively for the institution. Dr. Fowler estimated that a building large enough to accommodate 200 beds would be needed, and that this would meet the needs of the city for some years to come.

The health officer said he would like to see a hospital available for persons of moderate means at a small fee as well as for charity patients.

Hospitals Would Change.

Only two hospitals in Washington now take patients with contagious diseases and these are partly supported by congressional appropriations. Both Garfield and Providence have annexes which they restrict to contagious diseases. Garfield receives an annual appropriation of $17,000, and Providence gets $10,000 from Congress to aid in their maintenance.

While there has been no official announcement, it is understood that officials of these institutions have expressed a desire to cease treating contagious diseases. This desire is understood to have promoted the Commissioners to take immediate action on the proposal of Dr. Fowler.

Rare Disease of Blood Fatal to Virginia Child

The findings of an autopsy held at Georgetown Hospital yesterday on the body of Frederic Marino Moreira confirmed the theory that the 9-year-old farm boy from McLean, Va., died of leukemia, rare disease of the blood.

Taken ill last August, the child remained at his home until his condition became so alarming that he was removed to Georgetown Hospital Sunday. Little is known of the malady's cause and still less of its cure. In nearly every case it is fatal, doctors declared.

Girl, 4, Injured in Fall.

Betty Brubaker, 4 years old, was in Emergency Hospital last night with a possible skull fracture, the result of a fall down the basement steps at her home in Takoma Park, Md. Her condition was said to be undetermined.

CITIZENS CONDEMN PHONE-CHANGE FEE

A resolution opposing the present practice of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. in making an additional charge of 25 cents for changing from party line to unlimited line was adopted at a meeting of the Brightwood Citizens Association, which was held in the Paul Junior High School last night.

A resolution was also passed asking the District Commissioners to name the new high school, which is being erected in Manor Park, the William V. Cox School, in memory of the man who was interested in civic affairs in Washington for many years, as well as a member of the Board of Education.

Superseding action taken at an earlier meeting, the members again passed a resolution instructing their delegates to the Federation of Citizens Associations not to cast ballots for matters which concerned the citizens advisory council, this action being taken as one means of expressing the disapproval of the association for it.

Court Fines Boy $500 For Possessing Rum

Alfred Perkins, Negro boy, was given the option of paying a $500 fine or serving 180 days in jail yesterday, when he was found guilty of possession of liquor, in Judge Isaac R. Hitt's court.

Perkins' story, as he told it in court, was that he had two jars of liquor tucked in his trousers front when a detective saw him. In his eagerness to escape he fell off the bicycle and spilled the liquor jars into the street. They did not break, however, and he was arrested and charged with possession.

Police Hold Two Men On Prohibition Charge

Two persons were arrested on liquor charges and 12 quarts of scotch, 42 quarts of rye, and 250 bottles of beer seized by police vice squad raiders yesterday at a house on New Hampshire avenue northwest near M street.

Eugene Blaevoet, 54 years old, and Jaene Blaevoet, 38 years old, were charged with possession of the contraband. The police, who were led by Sergt. N. O. Holmes, said they found the liquor in a vault in the cellar.

Child Is Hurt in Fall From Upper Window

Edgar Richardson, colored, 15, of 1336 W street northwest, was in a critical condition at Freedmen's Hospital last night as result of a fall from a rear second-story window at the W street address.

The sound of the impact of the boy's body was heard by his parents shortly after 9 o'clock last night and investigating they found him unconscious in the rear yard. He was rushed to the hospital, where it was said he had a possible fractured skull and internal injuries.

Eggs' Softness Blamed For Cutting of Cook

Ernest Lee, Negro, takes his eggs seriously. And when he wants them just so, he wants them that way. Such was the gist of testimony in police court yesterday when he appeared as the defendant in an assault case, with a man named Joseph Short, who appeared both as the evidence and the complainant, and who did not cook some eggs hard enough to satisfy Lee's taste.

Someone cut Short sufficiently to require eight stitches and Lee was thought to be the culprit. This he denied, telling Judge Schuldt that he had learned a lesson some time ago, when he got 300 days for cutting a man, and that he would never do it again. The case was continued to allow other witnesses to appear.

Steps by District To Condemn Lands

Anacostia and Community Center Sites Are Involved.

Extensive condemnation proceedings were instituted by the District government in three widely separated sections yesterday. The construction of several important outlets in the rapidly growing Anacostia sector, the widening of Wisconsin avenue and the purchase of sites for the proposed Community Center were included in the actions.

Nine streets are to be extended in the Anacostia-Congress Heights district. They are Twentieth, Twenty-first, Twenty-second, Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth, and Irving and Jasper streets, together with Alabama avenue.

Wisconsin avenue, at its juncture with Thirty-seventh street, opposite Mount Alto Hospital, will be widened, and Elliott place and Brewer place will be cut through. Land between Third and Fourth, on both sides of C street northwest, is to be taken over for the Community Center. The Concord Club and the Y. W. C. A. home are among the properties to be condemned.

Union of Federal Employes Elects

Joseph Stansfield Is Made President and Nolda Secretary.

Members of the Federal Employes Union, No. 2, last night elected officers, with Joseph Stansfield, of the Interstate Commerce Commission, being made president.

Others chosen to fill various posts include Harlow Bacon, of the Coast and Geodetic Survey of the Commerce Department, as first vice president; Mrs. Sophie J. Bergner, of the Tariff Commission, second vice president; J. Ernest Brault, of the General Accounting Office, third vice president.

O. B. Bowman, also from the General Accounting Office, was made fourth vice president; E. I. Snyder, in the judge advocate general's office in the Navy Department, fifth vice president; Henry G. Nolda, from the veterans administration office, secretary and treasurer; Albert M. Reisling, recorder, and Elmer Thompson, from the Bureau of Information in the Department of Agriculture, guardian.

PROPERTY BOUGHT FOR MARKET SITE

District to Pay $145,500 for Area Bounded by E, F, 10th and 11th Streets.

The District Commissioners yesterday agreed to purchase all of the property bounded by E and F and Tenth and Eleventh streets southwest, for $145,500 as part of the site of the proposed Farmers' Market. Eight separate purchases are involved.

Condemnation proceedings are under way to obtain the remainder of the property between F and G streets, bounded by Tenth and Eleventh streets. An appropriation of $300,000 was made to acquire the property and establish a market in the 1931 District bill.

Purchase of the one block will enable the District engineering department to permit some development work, Maj. H. L. Robb, Assistant Engineer Commissioner, said. The Fine Arts Commission has previously proposed that some sort of sheds be built for the farmers prior to acquirement of the entire site.

The farmers who now maintain a market on B street northwest, adjacent to the old Center Market site, will have to hunt new quarters within a few months, because of the Federal triangle development. Some sort of temporary sheds may consequently be erected by the District government to accommodate them until the farmers' market proper is constructed.

$30,000 in Suits Filed in Crash.

Suits aggregating $30,000 were filed yesterday against Michael Tretick, New York avenue, near Tenth street northwest, by John McVickers and his wife, Mrs. H. D. McVickers, of Thirteenth street, near Fairmont street northwest. The suits grew out of an automobile accident in which Mrs. McVickers allegedly was seriously injured December 8.

Features in Tomorrow's Post

Speaker Longworth's death has cast a pall over the Capital. But wherever men and women gather in the future they will discuss his picturesque career in politics. Other speakers have been in the public eye, as well, and in an interesting and timely article David Rankin Barbee tells some of the background connected with the Speakership, together with many sidelights on the men who have held the position.

"Luck, 'Barney,' on Your Third Try" is the title of the first magazine baseball story of the season, a yarn which will appeal to every fan and particularly to the host of followers of Walter Johnson.

The fiftieth anniversary of Tuskegee Institute and the birthday of Booker T. Washington will be observed April 14. A magazine story reveals many facts and figures regarding this remarkable school in Alabama.

Two fiction stories, Edith Johnson's advice, "Helen and Warren," and a score of other features make up a splendid magazine, while The Post will also offer the latest in news features and sports, together with a fine rotogravure section and eight pages of comics.

VIRGINIA HUNT FAILS TO UNCOVER SLAYER

Baker, Capital Wife-Killer, Sought Without Success Near Fredericksburg.

A search for Albert C. Baker, wanted here in connection with the killing of his wife last week, on country roads in Caroline County, Va., proved unavailing yesterday, as thorough investigation by Washington and Fredericksburg police failed to yield any trace of the suspect.

Two unidentified men, who described themselves as friends of Baker, told Town Sergt. J. C. Chichester, in Fredericksburg, that they had encountered the fugitive walking along the road near Goodlow, which is about 18 miles from Fredericksburg. Chichester notified the Caroline County sheriff, who in turn communicated with Inspector William S. Shelby.

While two headquarters detectives were on their way to the scene, Fredericksburg police and Caroline County authorities scoured the vicinity and, on learning that the home of Herman Baker, Albert's brother, is near the spot where the latter was reported seen, went to the house.

Neither of the brothers was home. Mrs. Herman Baker who answered the door, told the searchers. Asked if her brother-in-law had appeared at the house, she responded that he had not and, according to the police, added that she would not allow him to enter if he did present himself.

The mother of Albert Baker's four children was shot and killed April 2, following an argument with her husband. On the morning after the tragedy, police were informed that Baker would surrender that day. He failed to show up.

Service Men Honor Gen. Anton Stephan

Gen. Anton Stephan was made honorary president of the Military Service Legion of the District of Columbia at a meeting last night in the National Guard Armory, formerly the National Hotel. Capt. Sheridan Ferree was elected commander of the legion.

Other officers chosen at the regular election were Capt. M. J. Hole, first vice commander; Capt. T. B. Huyck, second vice commander, and Capt. Clarence H. Green, secretary. The following were elected members of the advisory council: Capt. E. W. Zea, Maj. Eugene Edwards, Col. Leroy Herron, Lieut. Howard S. Fisk and Col. J. Miller Kenyon.

A feature of the meeting was exhibition of contents of the cornerstone of the old armory of the Washington Light Infantry Corps, which was recently torn down. Among articles were copies of the Washington Critic, local newspaper; several coins of that day, photographs of the officers and a city directory of Washington for 1884.

ARCHITECT ENGAGED ON NEW SANITARIUM

A special architect was employed yesterday by the District Commissioners to direct the preparation of plans for the proposed Children's Sanitarium on Defense highway. The action followed protests by the Washington Tuberculosis Association against the delay and the declaration of Maj. John C. Gotwals, Engineer Commissioner, that the structure would have to await its turn, which would follow the first unit of the Municipal Center and the school projects.

Thomas B. Kidner, of New York City, is the consultant. He will be paid $50 a day and traveling expenses. His employment was recommended by Maj. H. L. Robb, Assistant Engineer Commissioner, who pointed out in his communication to the Commissioners that $250,000 is available for the sanitarium, with a contract authorization up to $508,000.

A separate unit will be set up in the municipal architect's office to develop the plans, Maj. Robb said, just as has been done for the Municipal Center.

There has been a great deal of controversy over the design of the proposed sanitarium, and it will be the job of the consulting architect to evolve a "usable and economical unit," Maj. Robb said.
